ROOSEVELT TAKES IOWANS BY STORM

Colonel Makes Eight Speeches in Hawkeye State and Is Welcomed by Big and Cheering Crowds.

HE TALKS ON THE TARIFF

Booms Carroll and Grilk and Earns $2,000 by Near Sermon Delivered to the Teachers.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Des Moines, Ia., Nov. 4.—[Special.]—"Who said Theodore Roosevelt is losing his popularity?"

The question was upon thousands of lips today, prompted by the enormous crowds that greeted the colonel as he swept through Iowa in an eleventh hour effort to cinch the state for the Republicans.

The versatility of the man was tested by the mixture of political speeches and sermons he was called upon to deliver. There were eight speeches altogether, varying in length from an hour to a few moments. Five were purely political, and three were nonpartisan and educational. All were Rooseveltian, enunciatory of his principles, his beliefs, and his moral creed.

In all Col. Roosevelt addressed fully 25,000 persons today. Five thousand more had merely the opportunity of seeing him from the rear platform of his special car as it swirled through the villages in the snow.

The eight Iowa speeches with their topics and audiences were: Davenport (political), 4,000; West Liberty (political), 500; Iowa City (political), 500; Marengo (political), 500. Des Moines, University Place Christian church (educational), 800; Des Moines Commercial club banquet (nonpartisan), 500; Des Moines, Iowa teachers' convention, 10,000; Des Moines, Auditorium (political), 3,000.

Gets $2,000 for His Speech.

The real object of his trip to this state was to deliver the speech before the Iowa teachers' convention, which had been promised by him immediately after he reached civilization after he came out of the African jungle. It was a talk on "American Ideals." It was educational, or, one might also say, a sermon on good citizenship. For giving it he received $2,000.

The political campaign in the western part of the state was undertaken to help Charles Grilk, an insurgent candidate for congress, who is having a hard fight, and for whom Col. Roosevelt spoke in most enthusiastic praise.

The Des Moines political meeting was in the interest of Gov. B. F. Carroll, who is seeking reelection. Here the colonel appeared on the same platform with Senator Cummins and the governor.

Col. Roosevelt's entry into Davenport was as quiet as one could wish for. His private car was switched from the Chicago train at 2:30 a. m. and the colonel was allowed to sleep until nearly 8 o'clock, when he was ready to pay a long promised visit to the residence of Miss Alice French, whose pen name, Octave Thanet, is known throughout the land.

Breakfasts with Authoress.

Miss French is an old friend of Col. Roosevelt, but he was permitted by the exactions of his schedule to spend only two hours at breakfast with her and the members of her family and later to meet some of her most intimate friends.

Promptly at 10:30 o'clock the colonel appeared at the band pavilion in Central park and looked out over a sea of faces of men and women and children.

When Col. Roosevelt stepped to the front, he was greeted with a cheer, which he said reminded him that the football season was on.

"I have got to speak for Mr. Grilk, because if we get in congress sufficient men of his

END ALL SCALPING OR STOP SHOWS

Council License Committee Threatens Sunday Closing for Every Amusement Place.

ALDERMEN ARE VICTIMS.

Relate Holdup Experiences in Buying Eighteenth Row Seats at Advanced Prices.

Every place of amusement in Chicago—the big downtown theaters, the 500 nickel and dime shows, summer amusement parks, and baseball parks—all will be closed on Sunday if action threatened by the license committee yesterday is upheld by the city council.

The purpose of the aldermen is not to deprive the public of Sunday amusements under any "blue law" theory but is instead a determined attempt to crush out ticket scalping.

Convinced that nearly every downtown theater management is in silent partnership with the speculators, the aldermen have decided to compel them to make a choice of closing their houses on the first day of the week or drive every ticket speculator out of business.

Expect Public's Support.

"We can stop and will stop them," asserted members of the council committee on license. "They beat us in the Supreme court when we forbid them from doing business with the scalpers, but we've got a club that will make them be good. They'll give up their share of the scalping profits or we'll take that much off their receipts by cutting off the Sunday performance.

"The public will be with us. All those who go to the theater will back us in the fight against the scalpers, and those who don't go to the theater will be in favor of shutting down the playhouses on Sunday. We'll win. They'll have to be good."

That is a summary of a general discussion in committee which preceded the passage of a motion by Ald. Theodore K. Long requesting Howard W. Hayes, assistant corporation counsel, to prepare the ordinance shutting the theaters on the Sabbath.

Britten Relates His Experience.

The most indignant tale of experience with the scalpers was told by Ald. Fred A. Britten.

"Let me tell you what happened to me when I tried to get seats for tomorrow night's performance of 'The Mikado' at the Lyric on the day the seats were put on sale," he said. "Half an hour after the sale was opened I called up the box office and asked them to reserve the four best seats they had until I could send a clerk over with the money. They told me the best they had was in the eighteenth row. I told the fellow that was false, as the sale had been on only half an hour, and that I'd 'get' them if there was any way it could be done. I told them that unless they quit turning over all the good seats to the scalpers I'd go to the building department and find out if they weren't violating the building ordinances.

Gets Eighteenth Row Seats.

"In a few minutes a man who said he was Herbert Duce, the manager, called me up and told me that if I was so anxious for seats I should have called him; that he would fix it up. A little later I sent the clerk over with $10 for four seats, and he came back with seats in the eighteenth row.

"I was so hot I told him to take them back and leave the money there and say that I wanted good seats and expected to have them. That was all I did, but in the morning mail there were four seats in an envelope from Harry Waterfall, the official scalper for a number of the big theaters."

Other aldermen reminded their associates that when the subject of increasing theater licenses was before the committee all but two of the managers present admitted that they did business with the scalpers, that it had been admitted that they split the 50 cent profit with the "brokers," and that an estimate that each theater netted between $2,500 and $3,000 a week from this business had been presented to the committee.

The vote in favor of asking Assistant Corporation Counsel Hayes to prepare the Sunday closing ordinance was unanimous.

ASYLUM BURNS; MANY INJURED.

Blaze at Brandon, Manitoba, Drives 600 Insane Patients Out Into Cold and Snowstorm.

Brandon, Man., Nov. 4.—The insane asylum of the Manitoba government was destroyed by fire this afternoon, causing a loss of $250,000, but all of the inmates were rescued. One of the women patients, playing with matches, was responsible for the fire.

There were 600 patients in the asylum at the time, and great difficulty was experienced in getting them out.

A number were injured and others badly chilled in the cold, as a snow storm was raging and they were without shelter.

The pitiable crowd stood around in the snow, their scant garments blow around their bodies by the cold wind. The hospital staff, assisted by the military and citizens of the town, finally found shelter for them in stables, outhouses, and other buildings.

Arrangements were at once made to fit up the armory and winter fair buildings for temporary quarters, but the problem of looking after the patients during the winter is a serious one, as the asylum at Selkirk is filled.

The asylum here was a mile and a half from the city and the fire was beyond control before the department arrived.

DYNAMITE WAGON ASTRAY.

Horse Ambles Driverless Through West Side Streets with Load of Explosives.

For two hours last night an express wagon laden with dynamite and nitro-glycerin rumbled driverless through the west side streets and boulevards, being finally halted in front of Engine company No. 5's house, Van Buren and Jefferson streets. The horse and wagon disappeared while William Waite, the driver, was in the Fort Wayne freight depot, Van Buren and Canal streets, shortly after 6 o'clock. Calling to a policeman on his return, Waite gasped that he "had lost enough dynamite to blow up the west side," and started on a wild run west in the roadway. Alleys and dimly lighted streets were covered in a few minutes, and a short time later he was joined in the search by many detectives, who swarmed through the district. The conveyance is owned by the Clarence R. White Teaming company, 35 North May street, and the explosives were to be forwarded to an out-of-town point.

WHAT THE EDITORS WILL SAY

If Dix Wins in New York:	If Stimson Wins in New York:

Rabid Anti-Roosevelt Editor.

The defeat of Stimson can mean but one thing—the waning of Theodore Roosevelt's power and influence. He has passed the crest of the wave and is now coasting downward. The dreams of empire of this Sir Daniel Dravot are shattered. The people, resentful of his domination, have risen and declared in no uncertain terms that they will not tolerate the unbridled sway of this creature of passion and egotism. His political knell has rung. At last he is eliminated as a potent influence in the destinies of American government. Sic semper tyrannis! Back to Oyster Bay.

Rabid Anti-Roosevelt Editor.

The election of Stimson marks a dark day in the history of the nation. It means the triumph of Rooseveltism and the knell of popular government. Soon we shall behold the spectacle of a free people prostrate before the chariot of this modern Cæsar and about their heads will swing the big stick, an angry scepter in the clenched fist of a tyrant. Capital will shrink in its hole and the thunder of commerce will be replaced by the thunder of a Voice in Washington.

Bow your heads, O fellow peons! Prostrate yourselves, O serfs, for Theodore the First is soon to reign.

Administration Editor.

The election of Dix and the downfall of Stimson can mean only the intense desire of New York Republicans to openly repudiate Mr. Roosevelt, even if by so doing they administer an apparent defeat to the administration. It is now likely that the elimination of Roosevelt will bring back into the fold those Republicans who naturally wish to support and approve of the Taft administration. It means that the thought of Roosevelt as a candidate in 1912 is quite out of the question, and that henceforth the party will be unfettered and free to follow its natural inclination to support Mr. Taft.

Administration Editor.

The election of Stimson is a great triumph for the administration and makes it certain that with this splendid indorsement President Taft cannot avoid being the next Republican standard bearer in 1912. Even the bitter opposition caused by Mr. Roosevelt's activities, which proved an element of weakness rather than strength to the party, was not sufficient to overcome the safe and sane undercurrent of approval of the administration's brilliant record of achievements in Washington.

Pro-Roosevelt Editor.

The defeat of Stimson means one thing, that even the tremendous popularity of Theodore Roosevelt could not save the Republican party in New York from the consequences of the mistakes of the administration. Three months ago New York was overwhelmingly Democratic in sentiment. Under the leadership of the New York machine the Republican party was dashing headlong to suicide. But even the rescue of the party from this selfish guidance was not enough to overcome the widespread disapproval of the tariff bill, and when to this great disaffection was added the attacks of Tammany and the big moneyed interests, no human power could save the day. And so Dix is elected! Hear the ticker and the tiger sing! Wall street and Tammany triumphant, a triumph which cannot fail to make Roosevelt vastly stronger with the country at large.

Pro-Roosevelt Editor.

The election of Stimson is the greatest personal triumph ever achieved by Theodore Roosevelt. In the face of the bitterest opposition by Tammany and Wall street, and embarrassed by the secret opposition of the discredited reactionary Republican bosses, he has succeeded in rescuing the state from what two months ago was certain Democratic victory.

With the prestige of this victory and with all the forces most hated by the American people actively arrayed against him, it is certain that he now stands before the country at large as its dominating figure and one whose voice or whose silence shall determine the next Republican presidential candidate.

BEARS IN WHEAT MAKE A "KILLING"

A. J. Lichtstern and Armour Interests Believed to Have Taken Millions.

FAVORED BY MARKET.

The sharp decline in wheat prices the last few weeks has resulted in a big "killing" on the part of the leading bears.

It is the general belief on the board of trade that A. J. Lichtstern and the Armour interests have made millions on the short side of the market. They have been the big shorts and the decline in prices of 15@20c a bu on big lines gives them paper profits of immense proportions.

While the extent of their lines is not known it is the opinion of well posted traders on the floor that Lichtstern and Armour were short at least 10,000,000 bu of wheat. This estimate is regarded generally as conservative.

A 15c decline on this amount of wheat represents a paper profit of about $1,500,000. Recent operations in the pit indicate that these paper profits are being changed into cold cash.

Heavy Buying by Armour Company.

For the last three days the Armour Grain company has been a big buyer of wheat, both December and May. Wednesday its representatives started in buying on a big scale when the December sold below 90c for the first time. The following day their purchases were placed at about 1,000,000 bu by pit traders, and yesterday they were supposed to have bought in about 2,000,000 bu more.

Commission houses supposed to be acting for Lichtstern were credited with buying several million bu also.

The speculative market has been so weak the last few days that the big shorts were enabled to cover millions of bushels without causing any big rally in prices. The longs have been forced to unload at steadily depreciating values, giving the shorts the opportunity to realise their profits.

Patten Covers a Big Line.

James A. Patten, while he has not been operating heavily in the grain markets recently, has been a bear on wheat, and during the day covered a big line. Other local professionals who are credited with making big killings are John Barrett, Arthur Cutten, and several of the big traders operating through the Bartlett-Frazier house.

Bulls in wheat have suffered the worst trouncing they have sustained in several years, the changing conditions in the wheat market the world over having caused an immense shrinkage in values.

Bullish theories exploited early in the season have been exploded, with the result that values have melted away until they are now on the cheapest basis in several seasons.

Every Country Well Stocked.

Supplies have piled up all over the world, and after a long period of lean years a season of plenty is indicated in nearly every country.

Several big lines of long wheat are held in this market, and so far it has been impossible to shake the holders out. It is the gossip of the wheat pit that Theodore H. Waterman, the New York speculator who run several successful deals in the Chicago market the last year or so, has a big line of wheat which shows an immense loss.

Mr. Waterman has the reputation of being one of the most stubborn traders in the business, and all efforts to shake out his wheat, if reports are true, have been unsuccessful.

15 OPERA SINGERS GUESTS AT SUPPER COSTING $700.

Clarence H. Mackay Shows Pleasure Over Opening Night's Success with Feast Which Lasts Till 6 O'Clock.

As a token of his pleasure over the successful inauguration of the grand opera season Thursday night, Clarence H. Mackay, president of the Postal Telegraph company and chairman of the board of directors of the opera company, gave a supper to fifteen guests yesterday morning which cost him a trifle more than $700.

The guests, including Philip M. Lydig, Mary Garden, Andreas Dippel, Eleonora de Cisneros, Cleofonte Campanini, and Mario Guardabassi, sat down to a crescent shaped table in the Francis I. room of the Congress hotel at 1 o'clock, and the gathering broke up at 6 o'clock with all present singing "Auld Lang Syne."

The floral decorations alone cost $300, and each of the women present was given a bunch of American beauty roses with stems five feet long and an embossed copy of the opening opera program as a souvenir.

Hand painted cards told the following story:

Gumbo de volaillean en tasse.
Hors d'oeuvres.
Viande de crab en coquilles.
Cotelettes d'Agneau a la Francaise.
Poules de prairie, rotics. Salads.
Glaces fantaisie. Gateaux assortics.
Cafe noir. Liquors.

There was special orchestra music, and everything was on the same elaborate scale. Guards were stationed at the doors to prevent intrusion, and the five waiters who served the guests were each presented with $25.

NICOTINE KING AT ANN ARBOR?

University Man Makes Estimate of the Amount of Cigars and Tobacco Consumed by Students.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 4.—[Special.]—A Michigan university man has computed the amount of tobacco consumed in various forms by students of the university last year. He finds that during the college term students smoked 132,210 cigars, 32,180 boxes of cigarets, 52,000 packages of smoking tobacco, of which 30,000 packages was for cigarets, and bought 6,800 plugs of chewing tobacco and 7,000 packages of cigaret paper. They also purchased 160,000 bars of nut chocolate and 77,440 packages of gum, presumably mostly for girls.

INDICT ERBSTEIN AND PALS IN PLOT AGAINST WAYMAN

Judge Kavanagh Appoints John Barton Payne Special State's Attorney to Prosecute.

GRAND JURY QUICK TO ACT.

SWORN STATEMENTS REVISED?

Attorney Charles E. Erbstein, Arthur McBride, and three others—names not given—were indicted by the Cook county grand jury last night on the charge of conspiracy to defame State's Attorney Wayman and to thwart the ends of justice.

The return was made at 7 p. m. before Judge Marcus Kavanagh, who in the afternoon had appointed John Barton Payne as a special state's attorney for the investigation. This action by the court was asked in a petition filed by the county prosecutor and in which the judge wrote in the name of Mr Payne.

Immediately upon his appointment as Judge Payne took his place with the October grand jury, which was on the eve of adjournment, and assumed charge of the presentation of the evidence showing the conspiracy. Mr. Wayman, being an interested party, refrained from any participation in the action, except as a witness.

Erbstein's and McBride's bonds were fixed at $10,000 each, being the same amount as specified in the other indictment returned against Erbstein last Wednesday on the charge that he had bribed Juror Grant McCutchen to vote for acquittal in the second trial of Lee O'Neil Browne. McBride is in employ in the circulation department of Hearst's Chicago American.

Jury Hears Scheme's Details.

Seven witnesses were heard by the grand jury preceding the voting of the indictment and following the acceptance of the special state's attorneyship by Mr. Payne at 4:30 p. m. In that brief period there were spread before the investigators details of the scheme by which Defendant Erbstein had planned to discredit the prosecutor who had secured the indictment for jury bribery of the lawyer for Legislator Lee O'Neil Browne.

The plan of Erbstein, as hinted at in newspapers to whom the Browne lawyer had offered certain alleged affidavits, was to demand the disbarment of Mr. Wayman as a practicing attorney. To this end he filed with John L. Fogle, attorney for the grievance committee of the Chicago Bar association, a complaint in which was embodied the affidavit of Arthur McBride.

Witnesses Heard in Inquiry.

Here are the names of the witnesses heard by the grand jury:

THOMAS HOGAN, an investigator in the office of Erbstein.

JOHN L. FOGLE, of the Chicago Bar association's grievance committee.

JOHN E. W. WAYMAN, state's attorney.

FRED W. LAWRENCE, city editor of the Chicago Examiner.

M. B. COAN, reporter for the Chicago Examiner.

HENRY L. STARRY, in charge of the Chicago American's circulation.

RAY L. FRASER, reporter for the Inter Ocean.

JAY CAIRNS, reporter for the Inter Ocean.

Wayman Explains Action.

Mr. Wayman made the following statement after the indictment was returned:

"In petitioning his honor, Judge Kavanagh, to appoint a member of the bar as a special state's attorney to investigate the alleged affidavit put out by Charles E. Erbstein, McBride, and others, I took the action I deemed best to expose to public view and public scorn the contemptible efforts being made to besmirch me.

"In performing the duties of this office I am compelled to battle with burglars, robbers, bribers, and conspirators, and I am prepared to meet any attack they wish to make. The prompt return by the grand jury of indictments against Erbstein and McBride, charging them with conspiracy under the criminal code of this state, is a sufficient answer to the scurrilous document given out by Erbstein."

First Affidavit Unsatisfactory.

Two affidavits, it was disclosed by the testimony, had been prepared by McBride under the supervision of Erbstein, the first one not being satisfactory, although it had been given to some newspapers. When its defects were noted there was a meeting in Erbstein's office in the First National Bank building at midnight last night, when it was decided that McBride must make another sworn statement.

When this move was decided on Hogan was directed to find McBride and bring him at once to Erbstein's office. He obtained the aid of another man who found McBride and accompanied him to Erbstein's office. There he found several representatives of the Chicago Examiner.

Just what went on in Erbstein's office it was a little difficult to gather from the testimony of the witnesses. Reporter Coan testified that he had phoned his office several times and had talked with Mr. Lawrence

FOLLOW DIVORCES WITH ELOPEMENT

Clifford Evans and Mrs. Etta D. Beger Go to Crown Point to Marry.

FREE LESS THAN MONTH.

Less than a month after both of them had been divorced Clifford L. Evans, 4739 Kenmore avenue, and Mrs. Etta Dorothy Beger, 908 Lafayette parkway, eloped to Crown Point, Ind., yesterday and were married. Beyond the confines of Illinois and where the state law against the remarriage of divorced persons within a year does not obtain, they were joined in wedlock by the Rev. E. R. Norton, pastor of the Presbyterian church of the town.

Mrs. Beger received her divorce decree on Oct. 10 and Mr. Evans' first wife obtained her freedom on Oct. 28.

The couple spent a few hours at the Brevoort hotel last evening while waiting for a train to carry them to Washington on their honeymoon.

They aimed for secrecy, but were observed motoring away from the bride's residence, and when confronted after the marriage admitted the suspicions of the neighbors were justified. Upon their return they will reside temporarily at the bride's house, but later will move into a house to be erected in Sheridan road, in North Edgewater.

Proud of Their Achievement.

"We are married and legally married at that, but don't desire any publicity, so please let us alone," pleaded the bridegroom, who was with his bride at the hotel.

"I don't see why we should be bothered," observed the bride. "We haven't done anything that we are ashamed of. In fact, I have reason to feel proud of getting such a nice man."

"Aren't you afraid of running afoul of the statute prohibiting your marriage within a year? Remember what happened to Willis Counselman," observed the reporter.

"Well, I am not trying to break into jail, but if the worst comes to the worst I won't show a yellow streak," said Evans.

"O, we had advice, and know they cannot do anything with us. There must be at least 400 Chicago couples in the same boat. There are eight or nine of them intimate friends of ours," said the bride.

"How long have you known each other?" asked the reporter.

"That is not a fair question and we beg leave to be excused," answered the groom. "Suffice to say we are extremely happy and look forward to one continual honeymoon."

Spite Spree Brought Divorce.

An interesting story is told in connection with Evans' divorce. It is asserted his former wife and the wife of another real estate man had declared their intention of applying for divorce if their husbands ever came home intoxicated, and that the men went out on a spree together to spite their wives and the women made good their word.

The above figures are net paid after deducting copies returned to or remaining in the office; excess printed and spoiled; allowances for unsold copies, late arrivals and non-deliveries; copies for employees, advertisers, files and exchanges; samples and free copies of every description.

THE AUDIT COMPANY OF NEW YORK.

Dated October 31 1910

Mr. Lawrence was asked about these conversations.

It developed that the newspaper representatives desired a photograph of Mr. McBride. He refused to stand for a photograph. The Examiner office was called up and told of his position. He declined again to stand and then Mr. Starky, manager of the circulation department of the American, his (McBride's) immediate superior, was called on the telephone and it is understood told McBride to sit for his picture.

Thereupon a flashlight photograph was taken and it was the noise of this explosion that was the direct cause of the explosion in the state's attorney's office and in the grand jury yesterday afternoon.

McBride then signed the substitute affidavit and also a statement that it was a true copy of the one made earlier in the week.

Substance of the Affidavit.

The McBride affidavit, which is the foundation for the present conspiracy indictments, has to do with a criminal case against George Butterworth, George Katz, and Frank Buchrim, who were charged with robbing a stockman of $1,900. Erbstein was the attorney for Butterworth; Mr. Wayman, then a lawyer in general practice, defended Katz, and D. B. Carmichael was counsel for Buchrim. The affidavit made by McBride contains this story in substance:

On the night of March 6, 1908, the evening of the day the case was called for trial in the Criminal court, McBride, Mr. Wayman, and two other men left the Criminal Court building after the adjournment of court, and, according to the affidavit, went into a North Clark street saloon, between West Michigan and West Kinzie streets.

Wayman, the affidavit states, looked across the street and saw a group of men, among them one of the jurors who had been sworn in that day.

McBride swears that Wayman pointed out the juror to him and told him to go and get the man and fix the case up with him.

"What shall I offer him?" McBride says he asked.

"The earth, offer him the earth," he quotes Mr. Wayman as saying.

McBride said Wayman practically pushed him into the street; that he did approach the man, and made a deal with him whereby the juror promised to vote for acquittal and hang the jury, and the self-named "fixer" declares he offered the man $200 to turn the trick.

Said Defendants Would Testify.

McBride claims he was to get $20 for his share of the alleged fixing, but was never paid by Mr. Wayman.

Erbstein, in addition to the affidavit, is reported to have said that he would have as further evidence the story of the defendants, who would testify, the statutes of limitations now having run, that they were guilty of the crime charged and were acquitted through the alleged fixing of the juror.

The juror who is claimed by Erbstein to have been bribed has been in Seattle, Wash., and it has been reported from sources close to Erbstein that he was on his way to Chicago to testify to the truth of the statements made by McBride. It was learned last night that he in reality is in Florida.

In the copy of the affidavit filed with the charges laid before the Bar association the names of the witnesses to Mr. Wayman's conversation with McBride in the North Clark street saloon are left blank, and friends of the prosecutor say the names are absent for a good reason.

Mr. Wayman denies the charges in the McBride affidavit in toto. He declares that he not only never was in a saloon with McBride, but that he never walked on the street with the man.

"I was in that case," he said, "but there was no community of interest in the defense whatever. I defended my client alone and the other attorneys took care of their men who were accused individually. There isn't one grain of truth in any of the recited circumstances."

Wayman Asks Special Prosecutor.

The circumstances that led up to yesterday afternoon's grand jury investigation, with the cooperation of Special State's Attorney Payne, put the Criminal court building in a whirl of excitement. It started in the afternoon, when a reporter for a morning newspaper went to Mr. Wayman's office with one of the McBride affidavits and asked for an answer to its charges. Mr. Wayman took the document and said he would prepare his reply.

On reading the affidavit the prosecutor called Assistants Marshall, Arnold, Day, and Crowe into consultation and it was decided immediately to ask for a grand jury inquiry, to be conducted by a special state's attorney to be selected by the court. Thereupon the following petition was prepared and presented to Judge Kavanagh:

"Now comes John E. W. Wayman, state's attorney of Cook county, Ill., and shows the court that on Nov. 2, 1910, the grand jury of Cook county returned an indictment charging one Charles E. Erbstein with having bribed a juror in a case recently tried in the Criminal court of Cook county—namely: the people of the state vs. Lee O'Neil Browne; that subsequent to the returning of said indictment the said Erbstein on Nov. 4, 1910, filed with the Chicago Bar association a false affidavit signed by one McBride in which charges are made against your petitioner, John E. W. Wayman, said affidavit purporting to state that your said petitioner had at some time in the year of 1908 corruptly bribed a juror in a case then pending in the Criminal court of Cook county in which your petitioner was attorney for the defendant.

Tells of Untruths in Affidavit.

"Your petitioner further shows to the court that subpoenas have been issued out of the office of the clerk of the Criminal court for the forthwith appearance before the grand jury of witnesses who, it is believed, will be able to disclose the falsity and corruption of said affidavit, and which witnesses will be able to show that Charles E. Erbstein and the said McBride and certain others, on or about Nov. 8, 1910, entered into a conspiracy to do an illegal act injurious to the administration of public justice—namely: to procure the filing of said false affidavit with the bar association and did in other respects unlawfully conspire.

"And your petitioner further shows that in the investigation of such conspiracy against Charles E. Erbstein, McBride, and others the petitioner, the state's attorney of Cook county, will be a material and necessary witness; that the proceeding now pending is one in which the state's attorney of Cook county is interested, and therefore

"Your petitioner prays your honor to enter an order of record in the Criminal court of Cook county appointing some attorney at the bar as an officer of this court to present any and all such matters to the grand jury of Cook county which is now in session."

Grants Plea; Names Payne.

On reading this petition Judge Kavanagh said he would grant the plea and named as the special state's attorney Mr. Payne, who was informed of his selection, and at once went to the Criminal Court building.

After a brief conference with Mr. Wayman and Mr. Marshall, ex-Judge Payne went before Judge Kavanagh, took the oath of office, and then proceeded directly to the grand jury room on the sixth floor.

Examination of witnesses started at once. Thomas Hogan, an Erbstein investigator, being the first one questioned. He was asked regarding his part in the midnight conference in Erbstein's office, where the second McBride affidavit had been prepared, after he had located McBride through a third person and had brought him to Erbstein's office.

After he had been questioned Hogan was conducted to a rear room, where he remained during the subsequent examination of witnesses, several of whom were asked to identify him as a man they had seen in the Erbstein-McBride conference. After each such identification he was returned to the anteroom.

Erbstein Lawyer Seeks Hogan.

Meanwhile, in the corridor outside the jury room, Attorney Harry J. Ganey, who, with James T. Brady, represents Erbstein in the McCutchen jury bribing case, was anxiously inquiring for Hogan, whom he hurried out of the building when at last the witness was allowed to go.

Attorney Fogle of the bar association was the second witness, and also was recalled twice because of his refusal to surrender to the grand jury the documents filed with him earlier in the day by Erbstein. After his first appearance he telephoned to the office of President Joseph H. De Frees of the bar association, where at that moment was meeting the grievance committee of the association, consisting of Chairman J. S. Handy, George E. Chapman, Ralph Crews, Henry G. Miller, and Crawford Ross.

Before he handed over the desired documents Fogle and another witness had declined to answer except by order of court. The other witness who thus refused was Reporter Ray F. Fraser of the Inter Ocean.

Refuses to Name Witnesses.

Fraser said he had seen a copy of the original McBride affidavit, but refused to tell the grand jury the names of the witnesses to McBride's alleged conversation with Mr. Wayman. The names, he said, were in the copy of the affidavit he had seen.

"I got the information in confidence," he said in response to a question from Mr. Payne, "and I can't give it to the grand jury."

Mr. Fogle also having refused to deliver the affidavit to the foreman of the jury after he had been summoned to bring them under a subpœna duces tecum, a call was sent for Judge Kavanagh and the two witnesses were taken into court, where Mr. Payne asked that they be instructed by the judge to follow the wishes of the special state's attorney.

Mr. Fogle said he desired a court order before he delivered the Bar association documents, as he considered them of a confidential nature, similar to evidence introduced before a grand jury.

Says Documents Are Material.

"It seems to me these documents are material evidence in the case," the court said, "and it is my opinion they should be placed in the hands of the grand jury."

"Bodily do you mean, or copies of the charges and the affidavit," Mr. Fogle asked.

"I should say you could deliver them bodily," the judge said. "They will be taken care of and can be obtained again if you need them."

Then turning to Fraser the judge asked him if he was a clergyman or a physician, saying they were the only professional men who were exempt from being questioned about confidential information which was competent evidence in a grand jury investigation. Fraser said his information was only given in confidence to him as a reporter.

"You may name the men whose names were in the affidavit as witnesses," the judge said, and excused the jury.

The two witnesses were taken again to the grand jury room and obeyed the instructions of Judge Kavanagh.

State's Attorney Wayman testified next, declaring that all the statements made in the McBride affidavit and by Erbstein in connection with the Katz case were absolutely false. He related his connection as attorney with the Katz case and said his conduct therein was without warrant for such an attack as had been made on him by Erbstein.

Phone Conversation the Cause.

Cairns, the Inter Ocean reporter, the last witness, was served with a subpœna and was compelled to testify as the result of a careless telephone conversation which Fraser indulged in while in the criminal court building. An aid of the state's attorney who was on the extension telephone in the building heard Mr. Fraser tell Cairns, who was at the Inter Ocean office, to hide the copy of the affidavit of McBride.

In ten minutes a detective was on the way to the Inter Ocean office and got immediate service on Mr. Cairns. Mr. Cairns was confronted with the stenographic copy of the telephone conversation and admitted its correctness. He said that men in his office had seen the copy of the affidavit and testified as to its contents.

Indictment Voted Unanimously.

After Witnesses Fogle and Fraser, under court orders, had answered the questions to which they had objected, the jury returned to its own quarters and in a half hour Assistant State's Attorney Marshall had prepared the indictment, which charged conspiracy under the common law count "to do an illegal act," and also in violation of the statute. The indictment was voted unanimously.

First intimation that an indictment had been voted was conveyed to the group waiting outside, when loud hand clapping was heard. At that moment Capt. William Knoch, who for years has been clerk of the grand jury, hurried from the jury room and for a moment it was supposed that some act of his had elicited the applause. This idea was corrected immediately when the jury filed out and went to Judge Kavanagh's room, where the news of the indictment was spread, although the document had not been prepared for return.

Three Unidentified Defendants.

The three unidentified defendants, along with "divers other persons unknown," were named in the indictment as "John Doe," "Richard Roe," and "John Roe," they being supposedly the persons whom the McBride affidavit, as filed with the Bar association, mentioned as witnesses, although blanks were left where their names should appear.

Ten counts compose the indictment drafted by Assistant State's Attorney Marshall, covering the legal variations required to cover both the common law and statutory charge. In the main the accusation set forth is as follows:

"That the defendants did unlawfully, feloniously, and maliciously conspire, combine, confederate, and agree together, falsely to charge and accuse one John E. W. Wayman with having feloniously corrupted a juror, the name of said juror being to said grand jurors unknown, by having offered, promised, and given to said juror, whose name is unknown to the said grand jurors, a certain gift and gratuity, with intent to bias the opinion and influence the decision of the said juror, in relation to a matter pending in the Criminal court of Cook county, contrary to the statutes and against the peace and dignity of the people of the state of Illinois."

Charge Fraudulent Agreement.

Several of the counts differ from the foregoing in making the charge a conspiracy to disbar the state's attorney, using the following language:

"Did conspire, combine, confederate, and agree together with each other with the fraudulent intent wrongfully and wickedly to injure the administration of public justice by then and there wrongfully, unlawfully, willfully, falsely, and fraudulently attempting to disbar one John E. W. Wayman, an attorney at law, duly licensed to practice law in the state of Illinois, and then and there state's attorney of and for the county of Cook, contrary to," etc.

Other counts refer in more elaborate language to the alleged conspiracy to prepare and file a false affidavit with the Bar association for the purpose of doing an illegal act injurious to the administration of public justice and "to the end that the name of John E. W. Wayman be wrongfully and maliciously stricken from the rolls of attorneys of the Supreme court of the state of Illinois."

A separate count charges the defendants with conspiring "to then and there prepare, write, and publish a certain false and malicious libel and malicious defamation tending to injure the honesty, integrity, virtue, and reputation of one John E. W. Wayman."

Erbstein Hears of Indictment.

Erbstein did not learn of the indictment until sometime after its return. When word reached his office in the First National Bank building of the grand jury's action Investigator Hogan immediately tried to reach the indicted lawyer over the telephone at a downtown restaurant. He failed to get into communication with him and Hogan rushed out of the building to find him. Erbstein returned to his office in a few minutes. He declared that he was ready to give bond at once, but was informed that capiases would not be issued until this morning.

Attorney Brady came to his client's office with Erbstein and until late at night the two men were in conference with McBride and a half dozen other persons who were rushed to the First National Bank building in Erbstein's automobile.

Erbstein Wants Immediate Trial.

Erbstein said later in the evening that he would demand an immediate trial on the latest indictment returned against him.

"I will go to the Criminal court tomorrow, give my bonds, and demand a trial at once," the indicted attorney said. "This is a serious charge and, if I am under indictment, I am a member of the Chicago bar and I should have an immediate hearing. I will be ready tomorrow."

Former Judge Payne said that he thought the state could accommodate the desires of Mr. Erbstein in the way of an early trial.

"I think that we are ready to try the case at once," Mr. Payne said.

Erbstein was not ready for trial before Judge Ben M. Smith in the morning under his indictment on a charge of bribing Juror McCutchen. On his behalf Attorney James T. Brady filed a motion to quash, argument on which will be heard Nov. 12. The case was ordered off the day's call by Judge Smith without the arraignment of the defendant. Assistant State's Attorneys Day and Crowe declared their readiness to go ahead.

A motion that he be allowed to interview Juror McCutchen was made by Attorney Brady, but was overruled by Judge Smith. The lawyer then renewed his motion and said he would reduce it to writing today, when arguments thereon will be heard.

The meeting was under the auspices of the Gresham Improvement association, which is fighting for a 5 cent fare on the road from the district south of Seventy-ninth street to the city limits.

GIVE PROMINENCE FOR A $100 FEE

New York Pair Separate Chicagoans from Cash on "Biography" Scheme.

SAY NEWSPAPERS BUY.

Name of "The Tribune" Used Without Warrant in Soliciting Subscribers.

"They want it."

This simple sentence was used last night by W. C. Holmes, vice president of the Writers' Press association, an organization of uncertain qualifications, to explain why he and W. J. Hartford, treasurer and managing editor of the concern, were separating Chicagoans from sections of their cash.

Messrs. Holmes and Hartford came to Chicago from New York a couple of months ago. They sought to manufacture "prominence" for $50 or $100, depending on the generosity of "subscribers," and legitimate newspaper reporters have been blamed with sharing in the spoils.

Steger Is Stumbling Block.

The eastern gentlemen got along swimmingly until they told C. G. Steger, treasurer of the Steger Piano Manufacturing company, THE TRIBUNE was to a certain extent interested in their scheme, and since then they have been vainly trying to induce Mr. Steger to give them $100 in real money.

They deal in biographies and claim to furnish their service to "300 leading dailies." Holmes and Hartford are invariably together when they explain in detail how the newspapers use these records when the subscriber makes a big business deal, runs for office, or dies, and lay stress on the fact that "the only way to have it correct is to write it yourself." The subscriber, on coming across with the $100 or $50, if he fixes that limit, is given a professional card on a photograph studio for a complimentary sitting.

Showed "Autobiography" of Shedd.

They interested Mr. Steger by showing him what purported to be the biography of John G. Shedd, president of Marshall Field & Co. They said Mr. Shedd wrote it himself, showed what purported to be Mr. Shedd's signature, and declared Mr. Shedd had paid the $100 fee. The alleged biography was hand written on the letterhead of "the Writers' Press association," which is indicated as furnishing "advance press service" and which is alleged to have been established in 1899. It is explained that the association is "purveyor to the leading newspapers of the world of up to date biography."

The following offices are given: 5 Beekman street, New York; Evening Post building, Chicago; 102 St. Clair avenue, Cleveland; 127 Ellis street, San Francisco.

The officers named are: Thomas W. Pittman, president; W. C. Holmes, vice president and associate editor; L. E. Isaacs, secretary; W. J. Hartford, treasurer and managing editor.

"They came here and requested the biography of my father, John Valentine Steger, the founder of this firm," said Mr. Steger.

Never Paid Any Money.

"I signed their autograph book, but didn't attach my signature to any contract, explaining I would first investigate the scheme and see if THE TRIBUNE was really interested as they described. I have never paid the money. Hartford has sent some pretty impertinent messages regarding a check, but he isn't going to get it.

"They wouldn't leave me a copy of the contract. I am sure they told me THE TRIBUNE and all other leading papers used the service and paid for it, and that whenever the papers wanted anything about prominent men they came to the Writers' Press association for it."

"It's an absolute lie from start to finish," said Mr. Shedd. "I never wrote my biography for them or anybody else, refused to even give them any data about me and never attached my signature in their autograph album or anything else they offered, and never paid them the fraction of a penny. It's a lie from start to finish."

Holmes Denies He's an Official.

All of those interested in the scheme are said to be New Yorkers. Hartford could not be located, but Holmes was found at the Lexington hotel.

"I am with THE TRIBUNE and desire to learn why you folks are using our name in connection with the scheme," said a reporter.

"Well, what are you, a writer or just a reporter?" fired back Holmes. "You'll have to see Mr. Hartford. I am only an employé."

"The office stationery shows you to be the vice president."

"Well, there are lots of vice presidents. I tell you I am a mere employé."

"But you were with Hartford when Mr. Steger was told that the $100 fee demanded was merely for preliminary expenses, for registration fees and the like, and you indicated an obituary notice in THE TRIBUNE as one furnished by your concern, and you folks also explained you expected to make the money out of the venture by making the newspapers pay for the book supposed to be published."

Contradicts Mr. Steger.

"You are mixed in your dates. Nothing of the kind was said to Mr. Steger."

"What are the advantages of subscribing to your scheme?"

"Well, the newspapers have this stuff in their 'morgues,' and they have pictures of the men."

"But it's nothing the newspapers don't go after themselves when they want it."

"That's true, but it's absolutely correct when the subscribers prepare it themselves and they want it. For instance, if a Chicagoan dies here, what are the New York papers going to do? They run about a stick."

"They get it from their correspondents."

"May be, they get good accounts, but the people want it. We have worked Chicago off and on for some years, and have been here about two months on this last trip. We didn't promise to get out a book. We do publish a magazine called Successful Americans every six months, and if the subscriber desires he can have advertising space in it gratis. It's a quick and rapid service and they want it. No false promises are held out and the subscribers go into the thing with their eyes open. We have a professional rate of $50, but the ordinary subscriber pays $100. Mr. Steger paid us three weeks ago and there is no trouble. You are mixed in your dates."

New Story of Shedd.

"You folks have exhibited what purports to be the biography of John G. Shedd, written by himself."

"No, sir, he furnished the data and it was written up in our New York office. I am not at liberty to give you the list of our subscribers. See Alfred L. Baker, head of the brokerage firm which bears his name. They know what the service is."

"I am willing to lose my money, but won't stand for them using my name to work others," said Mr. Baker.

Thought He Aided Newspaper Men.

J. C. Stubbs, traffic director of the Southern Pacific railroad, said he had given Holmes and Hartford a check for $50 to get rid of them. He said he had refused to give them any details of his life, and had subscribed because he was led to believe he was helping a new association of newspaper reporters.

Joseph H. DeFrees was one who refused to go into the scheme. Charles G. Dawes, president of the Central Trust company, whose name was used by them, denied having anything to do with the plan.

Rail Official Guest at Luncheon.

A. C. Shaw, for several years general agent of the Canadian Pacific railway in Chicago, who has been appointed assistant general passenger agent with headquarters in Winnipeg, was guest of honor at a luncheon in the Auditorium hotel yesterday afternoon given by officials of the road and friends in Chicago's railway world.

Christian Love.

(By the Rev. J. Wilbur Chapman.)

IT is love that has made our home memories beautiful.

It has given a charm to every recollection of our devoted mothers and has made the past worth while as we have considered the faithfulness and genuineness of our fathers.

That one word is a condensed history of God's treatment of a sinful world. It was this compelling power that brought a Savior to all mankind. It is the heart of all sacrificial effort in behalf of the unfortunate. It is the motive back of every humanitarian effort that is worth while. It is the one thing that breaks down indifference, compels a stubborn will to yield, and breaks the stony heart. The practice of it would make all living beautiful, and the effect of it would be to take the sting out of most of our sorrows and trials. We may love people to do right when we cannot drive them.

Love is patient and kind. Love knows neither envy nor jealousy. Love is not forward and self-assertive, nor boastful and conceited. She does not behave unbecomingly nor seek to aggrandize herself, nor blaze out in passionate anger, nor brood over wrongs. She finds no pleasure in injustice done to others, but joyfully sides with the truth. She knows how to be silent; she is full of trust, full of hope, full of patient endurance.

Love never fails.

600 HEED CALL OF CHAPMAN

Crowd of Men Bows Before Evangelist in Special Consecration.

SUNDAY TO HELP TONIGHT.

Will Be a Speaker at Wilson Avenue Tabernacle Services.

North side ministers of the gospel were given an opportunity last night to reconsecrate themselves to the service of God. Dr. Chapman, at the conclusion of his sermon, repeated a move which two weeks ago in the White City meetings created a profound impression in the minds of the audience. He called church pastors and church officers to gather about him and pledge wholehearted service.

The audience in the tarebnacle reached the record. There were 6,000 in the seats and many stood at the rear and near the windows outside.

Six hundred men answered the call to special consecration. They stood close about the praying evangelist with bowed heads. Then Chapman started the old hymn which pleads for an outpouring of the holy spirit.

Come, Holy Spirit, heavenly dove,
With all thy quickening power.

At the close of the service 300 personal workers remained at the tabernacle for a brief conference relative to the work of the coming week. The corps of personal workers will be enlarged and addition will be made also to the staff of ushers.

Sunday a Leader Tonight.

Tonight the meeting at the Wilson Avenue tabernacle will take on a new character. It is to be under the direction of three evangelists who have not been associated with the Chapman-Alexander forces before. "Billy" Sunday, former ball player; Harry Monroe, and Melvin Trotter are to speak.

Dr. Chapman declared that powerful preaching could not be done save by a man whose entire life was consecrated to service.

"None of us can accomplish much for the master before we first cleanse our hearts and give them entirely to him.

"I wonder right now how many of you would be willing to stand up and confess that Christ was your saviour if you thought that by doing so you would suffer persecution within a week if you thought that you would be socially ostracised?

"I never have held meetings where there seemed such power as is manifested in this series of meetings. I look for a great outpouring of God's blessing and I never felt so confident for the success of a mission as now."

New Series of Group Meetings.

The second series of group meetings in connection with the Chapman-Alexander simultaneous evangelistic campaign will open in the groups of churches, principally on the south side, tomorrow evening. As in the first series, which is now closing, the meetings will be held for three weeks in one central church of each group, closing Nov. 26.

On the south side there are eighteen groups. Five groups on the west side, which could not arrange to participate in the first series of group meetings, will be in the second series; and there are two suburban groups, one at Clyde and the other at Hinsdale, making twenty-five in all.

All but five of the evangelists who have been preaching during the last three weeks in this city are assigned to groups of the second series.

Several new men are coming in to take the places of those who are leaving the city, and the new men include the Rev. Stanley B. Roberts, D. D., of Minneapolis, Minn.; the Rev. Frank W. Swift of Dayton, O.; the Rev. Milton S. Rees of Rochester, N. Y.; the Rev. L. L. Seiber, D. D., of Gettysburg, Pa.; the Rev. Charles Cullen Smith of Chicago; the Rev. Henry Faulconer of Philadelphia, Pa.; the Rev. William A. Bodell of Hoopeston, Ill.; the Rev. Wentworth F. Stewart of Minneapolis, Minn.

URGE NEIGHBORS TO GET IN LINE

Here's a Tip to Home Seekers: Get Busy with Those Who Reside Near You.

IT'S EASY TO LAND VOTES.

Race Now at Its Height and Contestants Are Busy with Many Plans.

The other morning when you opened the mail box to receive the postman's offering didn't you also find a card or letter or circular from some of the business houses in your neighborhood? You probably did, for few days go by which some firm doesn't send out such advertisements. You probably glanced at it and tossed it aside, or if you saw something that you wanted to buy put it in your pocket for future reference.

Are you a contestant in THE TRIBUNE'S great house and lot contest? If so, that advertisement might have given you an idea. There may be a dozen or two dozen families in the same apartment building in which you live. Why not write an attractive personal letter to your neighbors—if you haven't called on them to the purpose—setting forth that you are working for one of THE TRIBUNE'S homes, asking their cooperation and promising a personal call? Then put it in the mail box, observe the time of its disappearance, and govern your call accordingly. It will pay you. Try it!

Campaign at Its Height.

Right now is the time when your campaign should be at its height. If you were one of the first entries you have been working a month and have another month before you. You should have tried out several plans and have arrived at the best line of effort to attain success. But if you did not enter the contest at the start, don't be discouraged. The ever growing interest in THE TRIBUNE'S novel project is to your advantage. The announcement of the contest aroused widespread interest, but like everything, the daily stories, the news and features of the contestants' work, have greatly increased general interest. Make the fullest use of this publicity and interest. You will not have to do as much explaining as the first contestants did and you will be able to devote your energies to widening your circle of acquaintances and enlisting your friends in your campaign.

Nearly five weeks until the close of the contest—and only a day or two less than five weeks! Take it either way. You have over a month for hard, earnest work, work which may win you a real home and make you financially independent. You have only five weeks in which to realise one of the greatest opportunities of your life. You must grasp it in that length of time, or perhaps give up for years to come the hope of having a home. Work! Hustle! Hurry! Do it now! Every maxim you ever read which preached industry is applicable.

Will Duplicate Prizes.

Don't forget that you have every chance in the world. THE TRIBUNE has announced a number of prizes, but remember that THE TRIBUNE may be called on to duplicate several, for it has announced that in case of a tie among any of the winning contestants both will receive identically the same prizes.

And remember the rules and dates of the contest. All nominations must be in by Nov. 10, next Thursday. That is your last chance to become a contestant. The contest will close at midnight Dec. 10. Your votes and subscriptions must be in by that time. It is your last chance of winning a home. Watch the dates on the voting coupons. All coupons must be in by the date printed on them, the present series being good until Nov. 10 and being marked clearly "not good" after that date. Watch THE TRIBUNE tomorrow for news of the contest and contestants—and work!

TRAITORS PERIL G.O.P. IN NEW YORK

Leaders Defeated by Roosevelt Are Believed to Be Knifing Stimson.

DEMOCRATS ARE UNITED.

Sherman Cannot Forgive Taft and Colonel for His Recent Humiliation.

BY JOHN CALLAN O'LAUGHLIN.

New York, Nov. 4.—[Special.]—Republican treachery, as much as anything else, is responsible for the way in which Henry W. Stimson is running behind in the race with John A. Dix for the governorship of New York. On the other hand, it is Democratic unity, the concentration of all the party's forces under the leadership of Charles F. Murphy, the Tammany chieftain, which is causing Dix's candidacy to make such a tremendous headway.

One does not realize the state of the Republican disorganization until he sizes up the situation under a microscope. Nor are its national as well as state consequences realized throughout the country.

For example, Vice President Sherman has not forgotten nor apparently forgiven the way in which President Taft deserted him and supported Theodore Roosevelt for the temporary chairmanship of the Republican state convention at Saratoga.

Implacable Toward Roosevelt.

It is safe to assume from his attitude he never will forgive Col. Roosevelt for humiliating him in such a public way in his own state and before the entire country. Mr. Sherman may know perfectly well that neither Roosevelt nor Taft wanted him for vice president. He was forced upon them in Chicago by a combination formed by Speaker Cannon, "Jim" Tawney, and Lucius N. Littauer, former congressman and glove manufacturer of this state.

Mr. Sherman endeavored to pay his debt to Littauer by urging the president and members of the senate to retain in the Aldrich tariff bill an increased duty on gloves which had been authorized by the house. The determined campaign made by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, however, created such a storm of protest throughout the country that congress at the last moment preferred to disappoint Littauer rather than carry the additional burden which the high duty on woman's and children's gloves would have constituted.

Mr. Sherman overlooked the opposition to his nomination and, while irritated over the attitude of the president with reference to the glove schedule, he did not permit either of these incidents to interfere with his relations with the White House.

Would Have Worked with Colonel.

Col. Roosevelt's preference for another man for the vice presidency Mr. Sherman was inclined to pass over, especially in view of the fact that he won the prize, and he was perfectly willing to work with the former president in case it was to the advantage of the Republican party and his particular brand of it so to do.

But the way in which the vice president was treated in connection with the office of temporary chairman of the state convention does not permit him, according to his friends, further to humiliate himself by kissing the hands of the men who have kicked him.

Ezra P. Prentice, as head of the Republican state committee, has made a special effort to induce the vice president to let bygones be bygones and take part in the campaign. He made overtures to President Taft's understudy with a view of obtaining his assistance in electing Stimson.

When Mr. Sherman was in New York some days ago Mr. Prentice called at his hotel and left a card, expecting the vice president to return the visit or at least communicate with him.

The vice president did nothing of the kind. He went to Washington, but while there neglected to call at the White House, a breach of official courtesy which has been the subject of much comment. He has proved perfectly willing to join his other friends among the "old guard" in working for the election of the other candidates on the ticket with Stimson, this being essential for the preservation of the personal organizations which they control. But further than this he will not go.

Taft and Sherman Apart.

It would surprise no one should the relations between the president and vice president himself become like those which existed between Cleveland and Stevenson.

Mr. Sherman's attitude is precisely that of Ward in Westchester county, Barnes in Albany, Aldridge in Rochester, and others, including "Little Tim" Woodruff, whose vagaries attract the same degree of attention in this vicinity that J. Ham Lewis' whiskers do in Chicago.

Ostensibly all these men are for Stimson. They are Republicans. They are prepared to swallow any further doses that may be administered to them even by Murphy. But where they made wry faces at Saratoga when their mouths were forced open by Col. Roosevelt, they will wear a smile of beatific content if their physician on next Tuesday be Tammany and if the pill be Dix.

In a word, these men want a Republican defeat. It is essential to their political careers. If Stimson is elected without them then their power disappears like mist in the morning. If, on the other hand, Dix is elected, they will be able to say to the Republicans of the state: "You were beaten because you discarded men who have worked in and out of season for Republican success. Only by trusting these men again can you hope for victory in 1912."

Barnes Case as Example.

It is stated at Republican headquarters that so far as the evidence goes none of the Republican politicians named is working against Stimson. It is admitted, however, that not a single one of them is turning a hand for his success.

And no one believes for an instant they will do anything else than knife Stimson at the polls and use their influence with their friends to the same end. What is true of Barnes is true of Woodruff. The latter has been active in Brooklyn and every one believes he is secretly insisting the votes of his supporters be cast for Dix.

GRISCOM GIVES OUT FIGURES.

Concedes Dix 40,000 Plurality in New York County and About 70,000 in Greater City.

New York, Nov. 4.—Republican County Chairman Griscom announced tonight his estimate of what the vote here would be at the coming state election.

Mr. Griscom believes the plurality of John A. Dix, Democratic candidate for governor, in New York county will not be more than 40,000. Although Mr. Griscom's political jurisdiction does not embrace all of the greater city, he said he thought Dix's plurality in the five boroughs would not be over 70,000, giving him the most liberal figures.

Republican leaders declared the vote upstate will be forced to elect Stimson as it did Hughes in 1908.

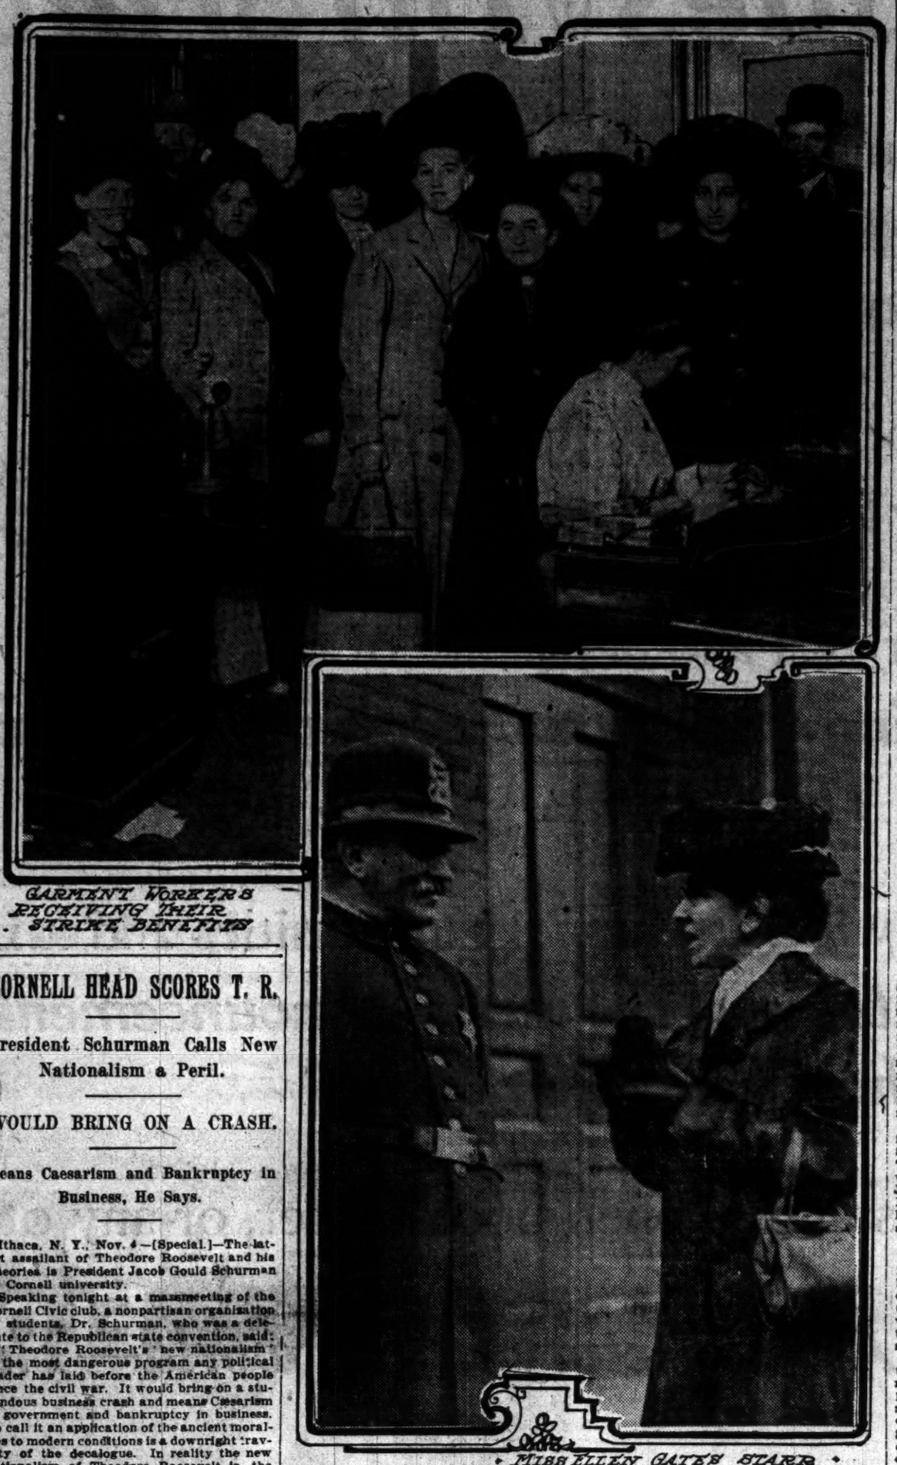

DIX IN AUTOMOBILE CRASH.

New York Candidate Badly Shaken Up When Machine Goes Into Trench at Watervliet.

Troy, N. Y., Nov. 4.—John A. Dix, Democratic candidate for governor, while en route from Albany to Troy tonight, figured in an automobile accident. His machine ran into a street excavation at Watervliet and was badly damaged. Mr. Dix and his companions escaped with a severe shaking up. Mr. Dix arrived here in time, however, to appeal to the Trojans to "help to put an end to the infamous system of overtaxation, which has become a burden through the existence of the Payne-Aldrich bill, and to the extravagance of the national and state governments."

CORNELL HEAD SCORES T. R.

President Schurman Calls New Nationalism a Peril.

WOULD BRING ON A CRASH.

Means Caesarism and Bankruptcy in Business, He Says.

Ithaca, N. Y., Nov. 4.—[Special.]—The latest assailant of Theodore Roosevelt and his theories is President Jacob Gould Schurman of Cornell university.

Speaking tonight at a mass meeting of the Cornell Civic club, a nonpartisan organization of students, Dr. Schurman, who was a delegate to the Republican state convention, said:

"Theodore Roosevelt's 'new nationalism' is the most dangerous program any political leader has laid before the American people since the civil war. It would bring on a stupendous business crash and means Caesarism in government and bankruptcy in business. To call it an application of the ancient moralities to modern conditions is a downright travesty of the decalogue. In reality the new nationalism of Theodore Roosevelt is the world old despotism of one man power.

Points Peril to Republic.

"Like all advocates of despotism, Mr. Roosevelt finds the cure of most human ills in an omnipotent, arbitrary, and meddlesome executive. The founders of this republic, wisely instructed by the political history of mankind, narrowly limited the powers of the federal government. Mr. Roosevelt would indefinitely enlarge those powers to the detriment alike of home rule and state sovereignty.

"And in his highly centralized national government the congress and the courts are to be subordinated to the president.

"This new nationalism," he declares, "regards the executive power as the steward of the public welfare.

"No longer the three coördinate powers of our government. This Caesarian president is to bring about a more equal distribution of property. It is not explained how the poor man is to get higher wages than a solvent business man can afford to pay.

"Yet Mr. Roosevelt constantly suggests that if only we had a highly centralized government and a Caesarian president the masses of the people would be much better off. His mind is dominated by the fallacy that it is the duty of the government to support the individual, whereas, of course, it is the individual who supports the government.

Destructive and Meddlesome.

"But if it fails in constructive results the new nationalism does its perfect work in destructive, meddlesome, and useless interference with business. That stern old moralist, Dr. Samuel Johnson, used to say: 'There are few things in which a man can be more innocently employed that in making money.' Not so the apostle of the new nationalism. He would allow no man to make money, however, honestly, unless it could be proved (of course to well salaried government inspectors) that this man's prosperity was a benefit to other people."

URGES LODGE TO QUIT RACE AND SAVE BAY STATE PARTY.

Ames Says Senator Will Bring Republican Defeat Unless He Refuses to Seek Office.

Lowell, Mass., Nov. 4.—In an open letter addressed to Senator Lodge, Congressman Butler Ames of Lowell, Republican representative from the Fifth Massachusetts district, tonight called upon the senator to pledge himself not to be a candidate for reelection, in the interest of the Republican state ticket.

The letter of Congressman Ames, who is a candidate to succeed Senator Lodge, says:

"The reelection, not only of our governor, but of the whole state ticket, is in great jeopardy owing to opposition of the voters generally to your reelection to the United States senate, and to your continuous control of the party's machinery. . . .

"And in order that our governor and all the state ticket may be saved from impending defeat, I suggest that, in a spirit of unselfishness and with the remembrance of twenty-four years of public service to your party, you remove this issue by publicly pledging that you will not be a candidate for reelection."

Foss Sees Victory Sure.

Worcester, Mass., Nov. 4.—That the battle is over and victory in the hands of the Democrats was the assertion of Representative Eugene N. Foss, the Democratic candidate for governor tonight. He declared that, not only was his party sure of electing the head of the ticket, but that they would elect a Democratic legislature and a majority of the congressional candidates.

type, the problems of legislation will be met with as they should be," he began. "After all the turmoil, we in the Republican party are coming together on a program which combines progress with sanity. The rank and file of the Democratic party may be progressive, but if they are, their only chance of success is in standing with our party.

"The Republican party is unanimous in its belief in a protective tariff, high enough to cover the difference between the cost of production here and abroad and high enough to cover the difference in the standard of living between the working men of America and those abroad. That is all right in principle, but the methods which have obtained in the national congress for the last two or three generations are unsuited for the achievement of that principle. The methods have been wrong.

Tariff Experts Essential.

"The Republican party now with unanimity has adopted the view that the changes in the tariff shall be made in pursuance of recommendations made by tariff experts with power to investigate on their own initiative the differences of the cost of production in this country and other countries and who will not take the say so of the beneficiaries of the tariff or the business men who are most interested in keeping prices up.

"I believe that in addition it should be made the business of some government official or body of officials to investigate the workings of the tariff so as to make sure the workers of this country are getting all that they should receive under a protective tariff."

Col. Roosevelt could not withstand the temptation to bring New York politics into his speech. Coming fresh from the hardest campaign he ever has fought in New York state, he declared:

"The Democrats of New York are under the domination of Tammany and Wall street, as wicked a combination of crooked politics and business as can be seen in the country.

Would Curb Corporations.

"I believe in curbing corporations and making every man who is possessed of colossal wealth which he uses in business understand that he is the servant of the people. A man can't be straight if he is crooked on one side."

The colonel read to his audience a circular sent out by Tammany to Wall street men asking for funds to beat his policies.

"My wild doctrines, they call it, and these are my wild doctrines, that archaic doctrine, 'Thou shalt not steal,' he declared. "We have the right to appeal to the progressive Democrats and the progressive independents to help us, for our opponents are sending out a nonpartisan appeal to men who are getting what they are not entitled to.

"I don't think they can win this year, but if they can we will beat them next year. We are in this fight to the finish and don't care if we do have temporary checks."

Col. Roosevelt declared himself for state rights where it could be shown that state laws were ample to remedy evils, and for national rights where it required national laws to supply the check to the dishonest and avaricious.

Soldiers Ready as Escort.

At Des Moines, when the special train conveying Mr. Roosevelt and his party arrived, a troop of the Sixth United States cavalry was drawn up as an escort, and many prominent citizens were on the platform to receive him.

The storm abated a trifle, and, rather than disappoint the people, the colonel rode in an open car at the head of an automobile parade through the streets to the University Place Christian church, where he was to address the congregated high school students of the city.

To the school children Col. Roosevelt preached a sermon, drawing lessons from his own life, and declared again his oft repeated criterion by which he measures the desirable citizen: "He is the man—or woman—who combines with strength and forcefulness a certain sweetness of character, strength first and sweetness afterward. They are those who make good husbands and good wives, good fathers and good mothers; those who put love into their work. All such persons, barring accidents, have an equal chance in the world."

Talks to Commercial Men.

The colonel begged for and was allowed a few moments rest at the Grant club before he went to the banquet given him by the Commercial Men's club. It was an informal dinner, and the short speech delivered by the former president was strictly nonpartisan and on the subject of "Business Ideals."

At the real occasion for his coming to Iowa the colonel faced 10,000 persons at the Coliseum, most of whom were members of the Iowa Teachers' federation.

The enthusiasm at the Coliseum was, if anything, more pronounced than at any of the previous meetings. Men and women rose in their seats and waved handkerchiefs and hats, and for fully five minutes the noise would have put bedlam to shame.

Col. Roosevelt confined himself to a straight out and out talk on good citizenship.

The political meeting at the Auditorium came as the close of a busy day. Col. Roosevelt was still in excellent voice and his sentences rang clear. Speakers preceding him were Senator Cummins, Gov. Carroll, and Harvey Ingham, editor of the Register and Leader.

The colonel won his way into the hearts of the Des Moines Republicans at the outset of his speech by expressing the deepest sympathy with the people of the state over the loss of Senator Dolliver.

"NO MAN'S MAN," SAYS STIMSON.

New York Gubernatorial Candidate Explains His Attitude as to Roosevelt.

New York, Nov. 4.—The Republican candidate for governor, Henry L. Stimson, covered Westchester county in an automobile tonight and spoke at New Rochelle, Mount Vernon, and Yonkers.

Mr. Stimson reiterated his declaration that if elected he will be no man's governor, but will administer the office according to his oath and the dictates of his consciences.

"My opponents continually assert," he said, "that I am a Roosevelt man. If they mean by that that I am an admirer of the integrity of Col. Roosevelt I am free to say that I am a Roosevelt man. But if they mean to insinuate that in the event of my election I should administer the office of governor under the dictation of Col. Roosevelt or any other man I say as forcibly as I can that not only am I not Col. Roosevelt's man but that I am not any man's man."

EMPLOYERS MEET STRIKERS' LEADER

First Conference Is Distinct Step Toward Settlement of Garment Workers' Fight.

DAY'S OUTBREAKS FEW.

Workers Receive Money from Headquarters and Food Depots Are Opened.

Satisfactory progress toward a peaceable solution of the garment workers' strike was made yesterday. Efforts of Miss Jane Addams and others interested women and men resulted in a conference between officials of Hart, Schaffner & Marx and President Thomas A. Rickert of the United Garment Workers of America.

While no agreement was reached, the preliminary step taken was regarded as paving the way for additional conferences today. It is likely the peace conference will be extended into next week. All persons having a direct interest in the movement for an amicable adjustment of the disturbances were reluctant to make known the basis of the discussion.

Deny Plea for Closed Shop.

It is understood, however, that the employers are willing to grant concessions in the way of a restoration of wages and improved shop conditions under which the employés work, but under no circumstances will a demand for a closed shop and recognition of the union be acceded to. Officers of the union, it was said, may be induced to waive the closed shop demand on condition that the employers agree to recognize shop committees to be elected by the employés in the settlement of possible future grievances.

The citizens' investigating committee held an evening meeting at Hull house and discussed the various phases of the strike as reported by a subcommittee. Both the employers' and strikers' sides of the trouble were taken up by the members and a report was formulated covering the entire situation. It is understood the report will point out the necessity of an organization of some sort among the employés in the clothing industry and that certain grievances alleged to exist can be eliminated only by means of an organization.

Say Union Virtually Indorsed.

In addition to recommending what virtually amounts to a labor union of clothing employés, the subcommittee, it is said, practically indorsed the strike and stamped as unwarranted reports to the effect that "the strike was precipitated by agitators for selfish purposes."

The members of the committee declined to give out the report and it was not adopted, it is said, but only "received" by the committee of the whole. At the close of the meeting, which lasted more than two hours, members stated that the report will be formulated into a "statement to the public," which may be given out this evening. Fear that the report might injure the progress of peace negotiations, it is understood, is the underlying reason for withholding the committee's findings.

Dr. Emil G. Hirsch presided at the meeting, which was attended by Rabbi Joseph Stolz, Judge Julian W. Mack, Prof. Graham Taylor, Prof. George H. Mead of the University of Chicago, Miss Jane Addams, Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen, Mrs. Charles Henrotin, Miss Anna Nicholes, and a score of other leading men and women interested in the strike.

Strikers Are Given Pay.

One of the factors contributing to the diminution of the riot fever was the "strike benefit" paid by the union. It was "pay day" at strike headquarters. Between $18,000 and $20,000 was paid out to men and women strikers. Special attention was paid to cases of destitution and strikers who were sick were given medical assistance.

From early in the morning until late in the evening a steady stream of strikers, many of them gaunt and with starved expressions, filed through the office of the district council and cashed their checks received from the offices of their local unions. Several time during the day the line of strikers extended double column through the halls of the building. It was estimated that 4,000 strikers were paid off during the day. Their checks ranged in amounts from $4 to $9 each.

Strong precautionary methods of the police prevented a riot in front of the shop of H. Carlson & Co., 445 Hein place. As the mob, blocking the narrow street for 300 feet, advanced toward the building shouting "Down with the snakes," a call was sent in to the Hudson avenue and East Chicago avenue stations.

The foremost of the mob was advancing up the stairs when the police arrived. Yells and howls of derision greeted the police, who swooped down on the marchers with upraised clubs. Awed by the clubs, the mob moved toward Clybourn avenue. The police, fearing an outbreak, followed close in the wake of the crowd. Seeing they were watched closely the leaders guided the throng into Division street and across the bridge to the west side, where the marchers dispersed.

Finds Brick in Girl's Muff.

At a disturbance in front of the Royal Tailors' shop at Fifth avenue and Harrison street Sarah Ruskin, 21 years old, 1245 West Taylor street, and James Ross, 20 years old, 908 West Taylor street, were arrested on a charge of disorderly conduct. The two, it was said, refused to obey the orders of the police to "move on." Policeman C. H. Lenville of the Cottage Grove avenue station said he found a piece of brick in the Ruskin girl's muff and that Ross had stones in his pockets.

Members of the Women's Trade Union league confined their efforts during the day largely to making speeches at various mass meetings, though several women sallied forth on the "picket line." The pickets sent out were Miss Emma Steghagen, secretary of the league; Miss Ellen Gates Starr of Hull house; Miss Mary O'Reilly, a school teacher, and Mrs. Anna Wilmarth Thompson, who took up a position in front of the Hart, Schaffner & Marx shop at Milwaukee avenue and Robey street.

Two centers for distributing food and other supplies to needy strikers and their families were opened by the league. They are at the Northwestern University settlement, Noble and Augusta streets, and at Twelfth and Halsted streets. Beginning today coffee and rolls will be served to the strikers at those places.

POINTS OUT "LIGHTING PLOT"

Jones Says Sullivan Would Ruin the Sanitary District.

CALLS SMYTH HIS MAN.

Cheap Gas and Electricity Due to R. R. McCormick.

That Roger Sullivan is bent on destroying the sanitary district electric plant as a factor in keeping down the price of electricity and gas in this county was charged in set terms by State Senator W. C. Jones last night.

"Sullivan is the undisputed boss of the Democratic party in Illinois," said Senator Jones. "His power is absolute. If his nominee, Thomas Smyth, were elected to head the sanitary district Sullivan would control the district. Sullivan is president of the Cosmopolitan Electric company. He is president of the Ogden Gas company. If his man were made president of the sanitary district the electric power plant that has reduced the cost of electric service one-quarter would be allowed to run down until its service would be no good.

"The sanitary district plant at Lockport is the regulating factor that has compelled the former electric monopoly to reduce its price. If Sullivan once controlled the situation the sanitary district electric plant would soon cease to be a factor in competition."

Duty of Citizens Pointed Out.

Senator Jones declared that the sanitary district board would take care of more than one-third of the state's entire budget if its program were not interfered with. He asserted that it is the duty of every citizen to make sure of the heritage of the people's rights to the profits of the sanitary district by continuing the work of the board under Robert R. McCormick as president.

"The people of this state have spent $60,000,000 in developing the drainage canal," he said. "The Desplaines riven that formerly would not float a child's toy boat is now a powerful stream. Those water rights belong to all the people. The Republican program would conserve them for the people forever. Under the rule of the Democrats the water rights would be apportioned among private interests.

"Roger Sullivan and Lee O'Neil Browne have been fighting, as Sullivan admits, but when it comes to fighting a water bill they are together every time. The sanitary district electric plant regulates the price of electricity in Chicago. In the same way freight rates will be regulated by the creation of a practical waterway.

Gives Credit to McCormick.

"The work of the sanitary district has been led by a man whose energy and singleness of purpose have marked him out as one to be backed by every good citizen. It was Robert R. McCormick's force and determination that brought the district's electric power into Chicago. Under his direction the work of the board will go forward step by step without a check. Every step will mean millions saved to Chicago, not only for your use, but for the inheritance of coming generations. He is building for the future and doing the greatest work that now is being done for this city.

"You now have in that position of great power and responsibility a man that can be trusted. Robert R. McCormick has served you well. He has developed this district and has turned it over to you. It is your privilege, it is your duty, and it is your wisdom to keep McCormick where he is."

Seantor Jones was the principal speaker at a meeting at Fifty-fifth street and Woodlawn avenue. Thomas J. Healy, candidate for county treasurer; Congressman James R. Mann, Municipal Judge Newcomer, and Joseph R. Burres also spoke.

BLANK SHOTS CAUSE SCARE IN QUAKER CITY ALL EXCITED.

Crazy Man Frightens Official by Firing Harmless Revolver After Applying for Permit.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 4.—Harry Clark, a demented man, aged 55, caused much excitement in the city hall this afternoon when he drew a hammerless revolver of the smallest caliber and fired two shots while conversing with Director of Public Safety Clay.

Attachés of the director's office, believing their chief had been shot, rushed upon the man and overpowered him.

A hurried examination revealed the fact that the weapon contained blank cartridges and that the director had escaped with a case of fright.

Rumors of the "attempted assassination" spread throughout the city and it was some time before Clay's friends were assured that the shooting was more of a joke than a tragedy.

Clark, who lives in the same ward as the director, had called to ask permission to sell a novelty on the streets. Mr. Clay told him to make application in the usual way. This seemed to excite the visitor and he drew the revolver and fired.

Clark was sent to the Philadelphia hospital for the insane.

OFFICIALS TO MAKE PLEA TO VOTERS FOR BOND ISSUE.

Controller Wilson and Ald. Foell to Issue Statements Explaining What It Means to City.

As a finale of the explanations to the voters of the real meaning of the $3,500,000 city hall bond issue, statements will be issued today by Ald. Charles M. Foell, chairman of the council finance committee, and Controller Wilson, and it is hoped that Mayor Busse will issue a statement on the subject.

Ald. Foell will discuss the history of the new municipal structure, the manner in which its erection was authorized by the council without consideration of party lines, and the way in which the present aldermen approved the bond issue by making the payments for the building dependent upon its passage.

Controller Wilson, it is expected, besides urging the adoption of the bond issue, will make the public an analysis of the city's revenues and expenditures, together with a showing of the improvement of the city's credit during the present administration.

POLAND WRECKED BY DISSENSION

Its Downfall and Partition Predicted Long Before Catastrophe Came.

ONCE A VAST TERRITORY.

Turbulent Nobles Distracted by Cabals and Divided Into Factions.

BY GEORGE A. DORSEY, PH. D., LL. D.

CRACOW, Galicia, Austria, Sept. 27.—Enter Sweden into the history of Poland. Sigismund, a Swedish prince, was elected king of Poland. He was won over to Romanism and tried to start a counter reformation in Sweden. The Swedes deposed him.

Later John Casimir, 1648-1668, asserted a claim to the throne of Sweden. Charles Gustavus invaded Poland, was greatly aided by Polish treachery, and got as far as Lemberg. He is said to have considered seriously cutting up Poland and offering pieces of it to his friends. Even John Casimir told the Poles that dismemberment was inevitable unless they ceased their dissensions. He even prophesied that the Russians would take Lithuania, the Prussians Poland, the Austrians Galicia.

John Casimir resigned in 1668, and so ended the line of the Jagellos.

John Sobieski, a Pole born in Cracow, king of Poland 1674-1696, delivered Vienna from the Turks in 1683, and before and after was completely under the dominion of his jealous French wife. That is glory enough for any man. But he could have done more for his country had it not been for his countrymen. He realised the condition of his age.

Fears for Poles' Future.

"Do you suppose," he said on his deathbed to a bishop, "that any good can come out of this age, when vice has increased to such an enormous degree as almost to exclude all hope of forgiveness from the mercy of the Deity. Do you not see how great is the public iniquity, tumult, violence? The morals of my subjects are perverted; can you restore them? Where corruption universally prevails, judgment is obtained by money, the voice of conscience is not heard, and reason and equity are no more."

Compare this deathbed speech with Colquhoun, writing in 1907:

"Lack of political instinct, of power of organisation, and of stability is an omission from the makeup of the Slav which cannot fail to strike any student of history. The history of Poland is perhaps the most striking illustration. We may remember that the gods help those who help themselves. The shortsighted and selfish attitude of the Polish nobility, which was the ruin of their country in the days of Poland's prosperity, continues to be the curse of Galicia."

French Abbe Describes Poland.

Poland was really great under Bathory; she was still powerful under Sobieski. She still had a chance. But her peasants were slaves, her middle class parasites, her nobles ignoble. Compare the size of the territory ruled by Bathory in 1580 with that of other European rulers: the cultural state of Poland ruled by Sobieski, a century later, with that of general European culture.

Bathory ruled over Poland, great and little, and Lithuania. Poland extended from the Baltic to the Black sea, from Russia to the Austrian empire and the Danubian principalities. From north to south, Poland was 713 miles; from east to west, 695; an area of about 282,000 square miles, twice the size of Montana, larger than the combined area today of the dual monarchy, larger than the present area of Germany, Belgium, Holland, and Denmark. And today this once Polish land contains about 35,000,000 people.

In Sobieski's time Poland was still great in area and possibilities. But weaker in realities. What would the historian do without the simple chronicles of Chinese monks and French priests? A Frenchman's record of his travels in India, though over a century old, still is our best guide to the Hindu. An unknown French abbe has left a precious record of his journey into Poland in 1688. A few words from his journal will help explain the final hundred years of Poland's history.

Poland's Former Great Extent.

From the Polish Silesian frontier to Warsaw the abbé saw not a single town which, in France, would deserve the name of a village, whether on account of its poverty, dirt, or coarseness. The abbé describes Sobieski's favorite palace at Willanow as a one story, tolerably handsome building; the gardens were poor. There were tame wolves used with dogs on the chase. The houses of Wilanow were poorly built, and there was only a mean looking church.

The abbé speaks deprecatingly of Warsaw. He admired the castle, with its rich tapestries. There was a little theater in the palace for comedies, the actors being Italians. Sobieski's wife, the queen, is described as a handsome woman, virtuous, good, liberal, magnificent. She is charitable to monasteries, hospitals, and the poor. "She is so captivating that when she looks upon any one with favor it is impossible to resist her gaze; when she stands upon her dignity she disconcerts the haughtiest. Her greatest devotions are to the holy sacrament, the holy virgin, and St. Anthony of Padua. She speaks Polish better than the Poles themselves.

"The Polish diet is composed of king, bishops, palatines, senators, castellans, and the nuntii. They sit in arm chairs on each side of the king, according to their rank and dignity; Poles on the right, Lithuanians on the left.

"Roughhouse" in the Diet.

The abbé saw a parliamentary roughhouse. A Lithuanian nuntius, under German court influence, tried to break up the diet. He went so far as to abuse the king, calling him a miser and unfit to rule. A bishop befriended the king, whereupon the nuntius jabbed his elbow in the bishop's stomach, telling him he was fitter to live in an allay than to be senated in an episcopal chair, and drew his saber. The king interfered, calling in the soldiers and guards. Riot. The nuntius declared the diet at an end and escaped. And the diet broke up.

The nobles, says the abbé, had the power of life and death over their serfs. They could put them to death whenever they pleased. He tells some scandalous stories of their treatment of the peasant women on their estates. The nobles were splendid in their dresses. They shaved their heads, except a tuft on the top. "They wear long, thick mustaches. The ladies dress in the French style. If one of them left her house to go to church, or to pay a visit at but twenty paces, she always goes in a carriage drawn by six horses."

The abbé describes the pomp of weddings and funerals. At the funeral of a prince three cavaliers entered the church on horseback. One carried the deceased's saber, another his javelin, the third his lance. Riding at full speed, they broke their weapons against the side of the bier. The last rider then let himself fall from his horse, as if he were dead. Priests seized the horse and he was obliged to redeem it. Money was thrown to the ground. Confusion reigned; in the scramble bishops, priests, and noblemen were thrown to the ground. At the end of the ceremony the ecclesiastics had a great feast, at which Hungarian wine flowed copiously.

NOTES FROM FOREIGN LANDS.

MONTREAL, Que.—The defeat of the government candidate for member of parliament at the Drummond, Que., by-election is regarded as one of the hardest checks given to the Laurier government since it came into power in 1896. The district, normally Liberal by over 1,000, elected Gilbert, the Nationalist-Conservative candidate, by 300 majority.

MANILA.—The assembly unanimously reflected Manuel Quezon delegate to congress. The assembly refused to elect Benito Legarda, whom the commission had named as the second delegate.

BRITON WINS MARY GARDEN?

Paris Hears Mysterious Pasha Really Is Egyptian Bey.

HOLDER OF HIGH OFFICE.

Father and Mother, as Well as Self, Often Guests of Singer.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

PARIS, Nov. 4.—Circumstantial evidence seems to indicate that if Mary Garden was married before she returned to America, an Englishman of a baronial family in the service of the Egyptian government, and bearing the title of Bey, was probably the husband of her choice.

The concierge of the house in which Miss Garden lives in Avenue Malakoff and the cook whom she left behind her in charge of the apartment, absolutely refused today to talk on the report of her marriage. However, some of her acquaintances were more obliging.

Upon Miss Garden's return from Aix Les Bains, where she spent the last half of the warm season, a complete change seemed to have come over her social dream. Before that Arnold Daly, the American actor, had been a constant guest.

New Admirer on Scene.

In September a new adorer appeared on the scene and it can be said on reliable authority that he also became her constant guest. Not only that, but at the same time two elderly persons, said to have been his father and mother, frequently shared her hospitality.

Both father and son answered to Turkish titles, one being called Pasha, perhaps facetiously, and the other Bey, but with a greater show of seriousness.

Many letters have come to Miss Garden's apartment since her departure addressed to James Bey. There is only one person with the family name of James who possesses the right to annex this Turkish title to it. This person is well known in many Paris hotels, the last one at which he stayed being the Princess in Rue Presburg near Arc de Triomphe.

High Official in Egypt.

He is said to be an Englishman of high birth who is or has been an important officer in the Egyptian government. He gave proof of his authority in Miss Garden's affairs while staying in the apartment by causing her to dismiss her favorite chauffeur. Furthermore, he always spoke of her as madame, and not as mademoiselle.

Miss Garden sailed for America on Oct. 26, and on that day James Bey also left Paris, giving no hint at the Hotel Princess of his destination. He has not yet returned. A friends of Miss Garden who gave most of this information, while emphasizing the fact that close intimacy existed between the singer and James Bey, expressed positive belief that they were not married.

U. S. GUNBOAT CLEARS DECKS TO AVENGE HONDURAN INSULT.

American Guns Trained on Palace Following Action of Gen. Valladares, Leader of Revolutionary Forces.

New Orleans, La., Nov. 4.—The United States gunboat Princeton, at anchor off Amapala, Honduras, is cleared for action, and its guns are trained upon the governor's residence, now occupied by Gen. Jose Valladares, leader of the revolt against the Davila government, according to a special cable from San Salvador.

The dispatch states that Valladares yesterday insulted the American consular agent at Amapala, George Schmuck, and threatened to shoot up his residence. Immediately upon being notified of this, Commander Hayes of the Princeton prepared his ship for action and sent word to the revolutionist that if foreigners were molested he would shoot the governor's palace full of holes.

The dispatch adds that chaos reigns throughout the western portion of Honduras and that inflammatory manifestos are being circulated by Valladares and his followers.

RULERS AT GREAT BANQUET.

Nicholas and Wilhelm Are Figures in Event in New Palace at Potsdam.

POTSDAM, Nov. 4.—The meeting of the Emperors Nicholas and Wilhelm today was followed by a banquet in the new palace tonight, in which prominent personages from both Russia and Germany participated.

There were no speeches, as the visit of Emperor Nicholas is regarded as nonpolitical.

A number of Socialist demonstrations held tonight in protest against the visit of the Russian ruler passed off without incident.

LONDON, Nov. 5, 2 a. m.—The Copenhagen correspondent of the Daily News says the ship which took Knud Rasmussen, the Danish explorer, to Cape York last summer, has returned. The captain brings a secret report to a friend of Rasmussen concerning Dr. Cook's Eskimos whom Rasmussen interviewed.

The captain says this will explain the whole Cook affair.

CHINA TO GET PARLIAMENT: WILL BE CONVOKED IN 1913.

Demands of New Senate Result in Date of Reform Being Moved Forward Two Years.

PEKING, Nov. 4.—An official decree was issued today announcing that an imperial parliament, the first in the history of China, would be convoked in 1913.

This is a concession to the demands of the recently constituted senate and delegations of the provincial assemblies which recently memorialised the government in behalf of the early constitution of a general representative legislative body.

The program fixed by the late empress dowager provided for the assembling of an imperial parliament in 1915, but until recently the throne had refused to entertain petitions praying that the date be advanced.

Today's decree set forth that the parliament would be convened in three years. The police went from house to house informing the occupants of the edict. Presently the dragon banner and paper lanterns appeared above every door. Beyond this there was no public manifestation.

PROTEST IN BEHALF OF JEWS.

Episcopal Resolutions Against Their Expulsion from Russia Made Public at New York.

New York, Nov. 4.—The text of resolutions protesting against the oppression of the Jews in Russia adopted by the house of deputies at the recent general convention of the Episcopal church was made public today, as follows:

"Resolved, first, That we protest against the unfair and inhuman treatment of the Jews.

"Resolved, second, That this is not in any sense a desire to enter the realm of politics or to interfere in governmental affairs, but a solemn protest and expression of our deep sympathy for our suffering brethren."

CRISIS TODAY IN SPANISH STRIKE

Weyler Offered 15,000 More Troops to Prevent March Upon Barcelona.

FEARS FLAME OF REVOLT.

Senate Passes "Padlock Bill," Which Contains Blow at Catholic Church.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

MADRID, Nov. 4.—Gen. Weyler, captain general of Catalonia province, has been ordered to use any means necessary to prevent the Sabadell strikers from marching into Barcelona tomorrow, as they voted today to do. The government offered 15,000 more troops, but Weyler says the large garrison he already has can handle the situation.

The government defends its stringent orders by the claim that revolutionary leaders are inflaming the workmen. Anarchistic literature, urging a revolution, is being distributed throughout Barcelona province, and there were many inflammatory speeches made at the Sabadell meeting today.

The officials fear that if the strikers enter Barcelona and fight with the police, there would be declared a general strike in Barcelona, and possibly in Catalonia. The temper of the strikers is shown in the fact that union strikers in Barcelona fired upon nonunion workers as the latter were leaving a factory last evening and wounded three.

Senate Passes "Padlock Bill."

The senate, by a vote of 149 to 58, tonight passed the "padlock bill," which prohibits the creation of further religious establishments in Spain until the revision of the concordat with the vatican has been completed.

The conciliatory attitude of Premier Canalejas toward (the ecclesiastical) senators during the debate in the senate today led to the impression in official circles that a way would be found to resume the negotiations between the government and the vatican for a revision of the concordat when the bill was passed.

The revision of the concordat of 1851 long has been the cause for diplomatic negotiations between Liberal governments in Spain and the vatican. The modifications sought affect chiefly the clauses relating to liberty of conscience and education and the limitation of religious orders.

Premier Takes Strong Stand.

With the advent in February of the present ministry Premier Canalejas announced that the negotiations begun by his predecessors would be continued, but this program, which called for the abridgement of the influences of the Catholic churches and the inauguration of a broad system of public education, would be proceeded with regardless of the wishes of Rome.

Much opposition on the part of the Clericals has been brought to bear against Canalejas' program and especially the "padlock bill," which prohibits the creation of further religious orders until the question of the revision of the concordat has been settled. The vatican made frequent vigorous protests against the bill.

The debate in the senate on the measure was heated and on Oct. 28 Canalejas declared that if it were not passed he would resign.

BRITISH SECRETARY OF WAR MAKES TRIP IN AN AIRSHIP.

First Experience of Minister in Flying Is Twenty Minute Flight in Aerial Craft Aldershot.

LONDON, Nov. 4.—Richard Burden Haldane, British secretary of war, today made a twenty-minute trip in the army airship Aldershot. It was Mr. Haldane's first experience in flying.

Starts on London to Paris Flight.

LONDON, Nov. 4.—Willows, the young Welshman who recently made a flight of 100 miles at night in a small dirigible airship, built by himself, and established a British record, ascended in his dirigible at Wormwood Scrubbs at 3:25 this afternoon and headed for Paris. Willows was seen near the Kentish coast at 6 o'clock this evening, but since then no news has been received of the flight.

Cabinet Will Propose Law Making It Illegal for Public Service Employes to Walk Out.

PARIS, Nov. 4.—It is understood that the new cabinet, although it does not oppose the principle of trades unionism, will propose a law for enactment declaring strikes by employés in the public service and by state employés to be illegal.

Divergent Opera Bill for Today.

TWO offerings widely divergent in character are scheduled by the management of the Chicago Grand Opera company for the opera loving public today. A performance of Debussy's lyric drama in five acts, "Pélléas et Mélisande," will be given this afternoon, and at night the first performance at popular prices, the opera chosen being Verdi's "Il Trovatore."

The combination Andreas Dippel, general manager, counts upon to prevent any diminution of the interest manifested over the inaugural performance. The French work is regarded as one of the operatic sensations of the season, and Mary Garden, who created the part, will sing the leading rôle of Mélisande. For the popular performance of the Italian opera the prices are to be cut in two, the best seats selling for $2.50. In the cast of "Il Trovatore" will be Nicola Zerola, tenor, singing the rôle of Manrico, Alfredo Costa as Count di Luna, Constantin Nicolay as Ferrando, and Korolewicz and De Cisneros, who appeared in the leading rôles Thursday night, as Leonora and Azucena. The seat sale for both performances has been large.

Peculiar interest centers about the production of "Pélléas et Mélisande." It is the most representative work of the modern French operatic school. Debussy has given a musical setting to the Maeterlinck drama, which has its enthusiastic admirers and its rabid villifiers. Friends of the opera say Debussy has achieved what Maeterlinck failed to accomplish. In this as well as other works it has been pointed out that the dramatist brings his characters through the progress of his story to a crisis and then attempts to study the soul of his creations in the light of situations of great stress. Debussy enthusiasts claim that the music of the French composer attains the end aimed at by the dramatist, that the unusual orchestral effects serve to lay bare the souls of the characters of the play. Traducers of the Frenchman are not loath to assert that Debussy's music is simply a cacophony of sound, an unintelligible jangle of tone.

The story begins with Golaud, grandson of King Arkel of Allemonde, being lost in a forest. He comes upon Mélisande, an unknown princess. He persuades her to go off with him and become his bride, though knowing nothing of her antecedents.

The next scene shows the gloomy castle of King Arkel. Queen Genevieve, the mother of Golaud, is reading a letter from her son in which the latter wishes to return with his bride provided King Arkel will receive them. This is agreed and Golaud and Mélisande arrive. Mélisand: meets Pélléas, a younger brother of Golaud.

In the next scene Mélisande and Pélléas are seen near together at the Fountain of the Blind. She toys with her wedding ring, it drops from her hand, and is lost. Pélléas tells Mélisande that he must leave the following day to visit a dying friend. Mélisande begs him not to go.

In the third act Mélisande is seen combing her long hair at a tower window. Pélléas climbs to her, and while they are in each other's embrace they are discovered by Golaud. He upbraids them gently and says: "Do not play in the darkness, you pair of children."

In the following scene Golaud takes his brother to the castle vaults and bids him smell the death odor of its stagnant pool. Pélléas is struck with horror. Golaud warns Pélléas not to repeat the "child's play of last night."

Golaud questions Yniold, a little child, about Pélléas and Mélisande.

"Yes, they kiss each other sometimes," the child says.

The lovers meet in the Fountain park. They kiss and embrace with utter abandon. Golaud discovers them and slays his brother. Mélisande flees, her husband rushing after her.

In the last act Mélisande is dying. She asks for Golaud. He pleads for forgiveness.

"What shall I forgive?" is her reply. Yes, she loved Mélisande.

"With a forbidden love," persists Golaud.

"No, our love was not a guilty love," she replies.

The curtain falls with Golaud sobbing bitterly.

The management has made the unusual request that there be no applause between the acts.

Pianist Makes American Debut.

BY GLENN DILLARD GUNN.

ADOLPHE BORCHARD, who was accorded the distinction of beginning his American tour with an appearance as soloist at the Thomas matinée, yesterday afternoon, made a record in the matter of "first performances" at these concerts. That is something rather difficult to do, since the orchestra itself has long held the record for first American productions of new or long neglected compositions. Also he made a sensation. He played as an encore after the Schumann A minor concerto, the little C major sonata of Mozart, the one that the children all have to stymble through, and he made it such a charming study in simplicity that the audience recalled him ten times.

It is a pleasure to be in the position of indorsing the opinion of the public, because that is the only thing that really matters. Therefore one is tempted to dwell upon Mr. Borchard's performance of Mozart, for his playing of the Schumann A minor concerto was not one that compels unqualified indorsement. It had to recommend it the same delicate feeling for tone values and shadings that made the Mozart delightful. But refinement may be carried to a point that borders on affectation, and there were several moments in the first movement that might justly be characterised as indicating a striving after mere sensational effect.

As every one knows, a sensation may be made in either direction. Mr. Borchard, while not averse to the climax, rather prefers its antithesis, and a series of anti-climaxes has little relation to the spirit of Schumann's music as his fellow Germans have taught us to understand it. In any event, a French Schumann is quite unthinkable, and Mr. Borchard's piano playing is typically French. He has that facility which seems to overcome the laws of nature by producing a frequently astonishing effect without adequate cause, which makes a passage "sound" yet leaves out half the notes. One might define it as a facility of accents, and certainly it is to be recommended to the pianists as affording a great saving of labor.

The technical shortcomings here hinted at detracted but little from the musical qualities of Mr. Borchard's interpretation. One may disagree with his understanding of the Schumann concerto the more easily because he has the facility to set forth his intentions clearly and with characteristic force and eloquence that won him the hearty expressions of approval that are doubtless his very sufficient reward.

The program opened with a performance of the Bach B minor suite that was as fine an example of the art of chamber music as we have ever enjoyed, even from those organizations like the Kneisel quartet, where we expect the absolute and impersonal quality of beauty that is and must remain the musician's highest ideal of interpretative art. Mr. Stock can ask no higher testimonial to the quality of the ensemble that at present characterizes the work of the orchestra.

After the intermission came the fifth symphony. If Mr. Stock's motive in delaying the performance of a great classic symphony until the season was safely started was to assure himself of the absolute finish and precision of the string section of his orchestra one may freely commend his conservatism. For the same qualities of refinement and restrained emotion that made the Bach suite delightful brought to the first three movements of the symphony an atmosphere of reverence that was as rare as it was welcome.

The second movement was distinguished among many significant interpretations that it has enjoyed by its unusual lyric eloquence. Mr. Stock made it a study in the beautifully shaded presentation of flowing melody. Also he made it a simple and beautiful song of human hope and joy. The precision of the dynamic contrasts obtained in the scherzo while calling for acknowledgment as a technical achievement, was but the means that realized its evanescent mood of rushing, whispering mystery. In the finale Mr. Stock returned to his older manner and it became a fine example of orchestral bravure.

Sothern and Marlowe in Macbeth.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 4.—[Special.]—E. H. Sothern and Julia Marlowe's "Macbeth" received its premiere tonight at the Hyperion theater. The production is elaborate and is the result of two years' study of the subject by Mr. Sothern and Miss Marlowe, and the expenditure of a large sum of money.

There are twenty scenes of poetic beauty and color. The music selected by Sir Arthur Sullivan and played by an orchestra of grand opera size accentuated the supernatural and warlike moments of the play and the anguish of the two leading characters.

Miss Marlowe makes Lady Macbeth intensely human, achieving a triumph in the sleep walking scene. Sothern was given a demonstration after the spectacular last act showing the storming of the castle and the fight with Macduff. In the opinion of many both stars have struck the highest note of their careers.

"There was a fire near my hotel one night," he said, in the course of his lecture today, "and how many fire engines do you suppose appeared to fight it?" One man suggested four, possibly. "FOURTEEN," Mr. Bowen replied. "The Chicago people talk very wisely about the west side and the east side, but I can jump across the creek which divides the town into two parts. There are no old men in Chicago. What do they do with a man in Chicago when he becomes old?" Some one suggested that the old men in Chicago are in Europe, thus giving the young blood a chance. "When Chicago people are not talking baseball," Mr. Bowen asked his audience, "what do you suppose they talk about?" Everybody gave it up. "Carrie Nation," Mr. Bowen said. "They still think Carrie Nation is an issue in Kansas."

Woman and Her Interests.

Sweethearts Who Quarrel.

BY LAURA JEAN LIBBEY.

EVERY man likes a spirited girl, one who has an opinion of her own. But there is such a thing as carrying an opinion so far that it wedges itself into a quarrel.

This is especially to be deplored when it is between lovers. They have pledged themselves to walk life's rose strewn path together. It is not best to find the thorns too soon.

The engaged girl should be a diplomat in love. She should turn off with a merry little quip or a laugh and not take too seriously a hastily uttered remark that brings the stab of resentment to her heart.

There are no true lovers alike. Each needs to be handled in a different way. Each has his own peculiarities, with which the girl he is engaged should familiarize herself. Don't enter into heated arguments, my dears; constant bickerings will cool the greatest love that ever burned in a wooer's breast.

No girl would be unwise enough, it is to be hoped, to give him his own way in every matter. There is a happy medium which should be attained. Foolish girls, and headstrong ones, are the ones most wont to lose a lover. For instance, rash is the maid who insists that her lover, who is making not more than $15 a week or less, shall take her to expensive places of amusement six days of the week, winding up with a supper at an inexpensive restaurant. The man who is madly in love may stand it a while; he will be glad that she does not know of the sacrifice which he has to make because of the money foolishly expended upon her. But it means dry bread and cheese to him, and often recourse to a free lunch counter on a back street. Is it strange that such a lover's patience comes to an end at last and he balks when she mentions this place or that which he must take her to? Nine men out of ten are too proud to admit that their cash won't stretch out that far. They resort to the subterfuge of getting up a quarrel, which will give them the opportunity of staying away for a few days to catch up in money matters.

Then, again, there is the foolish maid who quarrels with her lover because of the cut of his clothes, laughing at their cheapness, and of the color of his necktie, utterly regardless of the fact that he spends enough on her, recklessly, extravagantly, to dress handsomely.

There are evenings when a sweetheart calls when he is in no mood for jests and flippant conversation. The right kind of a girl will sit down quietly and talk with him, drawing his thoughts away by her genial subtle power into a pleasant mood. She will even make him forget his sorrows altogether.

If you cannot agree with a man as his sweetheart you will never agree with him as his wife. Don't make the mistake of marrying him. It takes the utmost tact to keep a man after you have wed him. The want of it is to be deplored in any woman. The woman at whose feet men have bowed since time began never quarreled with him. They had a pretty way which won their point, taking care to avoid bickerings.

A pretty girl loses all her beauty in a man's eyes if she is quarrelsome. A lovely girl grows beautiful in his sight if she has a sweet, tender disposition.

The sarcastic girl seems brilliant to a man at the outset, but the would-be lover soon tires of her. The too talkative girl wearies a man. She is too wearing in his opinion as a life companion. He does not want a wife who can outtalk him upon every subject. He knows that the talkative girl degenerates into the quarrelsome wife, and he will break with her, if the opportunity presents, if he values his future peace of mind.

It is not to be denied that lovers do have their little tiffs, once in a while, but then the course of true love never did run smooth. Yet quarrels too often indulged in lead at last to a break that can never be bridged over.

How many lives have been ruined by a lover's quarrel? If sweethearts could but look carefully through lenses into each other's hearts they would find the warning written there, beware of bickerings and quarrels. Better be slow to anger than to have a long lifetime to repent afterward. It is not so easy to find some one who is congenial, whom you love, and who will love you as the one whom you are just parting from. You quarrel with your lover, then wonder why he seeks other company.

Girls who read this will say, "I guess all that is so; there's a good deal of truth in what she says."

But, will they profit by my warning?

Too Young to Decide.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am a young girl 18 years old and am desperately if not madly in love with a man 20 years my senior, he having been married and divorced. While he is attentive, I do not believe that he loves me as much as I do him. I have been going with him two years and he has never spoken of marriage. Would you advise me to let him be as attentive as he has been in the past? LILLIE."

I know of no law or organized movement for the protection of young hearts from the selfish cruelty of men who would take all and give nothing. I think the best thing you can do is to leave the man alone and get interested in some one nearer your own age. You are too young to think much about love. But, above all, don't waste your time with such a thoughtless monopolizer as this man appears to be.

A Fickle Girl.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am fickle at heart and do not know whether I know my mind or not, but would like to. I am 20 years of age and have been keeping company with a young man for about one year and broke off about two months ago. Since that time I have been going with three or four different fellows, who have been taking me about to parties and places of amusement, and of course, talk foolish, like all the fellows will do. I want to know, and it is why I write to find out, if I am doing right to go around with so many at once and if I will lose my chance in life. I met this young man that I had been keeping steady company with and he wants to call. Should I let him? Because I know I would not be happy with steady company again, as I have had a taste of freedom which a girl has when she does not keep steady company. I will be waiting for your answer in the paper, for I know that you know what will be best for a girl so fickle at heart.

"CONFUSED."

You apparently do not know your own mind. You had better wait quite a bit before you think seriously of marriage. The love of a good man is the best thing in the world. Make yourself understand this. For no woman seems capable of understanding this until she has been so foolish as to throw away the love of a good man for the pleasure of gratifying her vanity with the admiration of other men. Think it over.

Chicago Housewives Compete with Cooks.

Chicago women competed with their cooks in the housekeepers' exhibit which was closed last night at the School of Domestic Arts and Science, and a few of them were victors.

Mrs. Seymour J. Thurber, wife of the Chicago artist, was awarded two first prizes. Her chili sauce was awarded the blue ribbon. There were fifty entries, more than in any other class. Chestnuts and prunes, an odd sauce, also received a first.

"This sauce is a favorite in Berlin," said Mrs. Thurber. "My mother was born there and I got the recipe from her. It is a peculiar combination, but it really makes a most delightful dish."

Mrs. Thomas S. Martin, 1437 Lunt avenue, received first in the fancy cake class with a marvelous contribution covered with natural looking roses and daisies. The flowers were made of colored icing. Asked how they were made, Mrs. Martin said:

"I squeeze the soft icing out of a paper tube just like you spread paste on a toothbrush."

The life of a chef is a hard one, especially when he is called upon to be a judge at a cooking exhibit. Five kitchen monarchs from downtown clubs and hotels won through the ordeal of testing fifty-seven varieties of desserts.

There was pie galore and pie à la mode, and the judges began on pie. Each chef took a large bite of several kinds and then turned his attention to puddings. Each took a generous helping of a dozen kinds of gelatin, then turned his attention to the gelatins. None of them "hit" the pudding so hard.

Charles Merkle, Union League club chef, cast a doubting eye over the twenty kinds of assorted and original desserts still untasted. So did the others.

The amount of pudding each sampled dwindled surprisingly. The spoonful shrank to a taste. Before they were half through these the chefs were willing to judge the remaining dishes by their appearance only. But there was a crowd of interested exhibiters in front of the table demanding that they continue.

Sylvain Bofte of the Blackstone dug into a pudding for a raisin and put it to his lips.

"Must a man make an ostrich of himself?" groaned Frank Girard of the Chicago club.

"O for a castiron stomach!" sighed Felix Doerner of the C. A. A.

"Never again," hoarsely muttered Charles Merkle as he forced down a grain of rice from dessert 57.

Francisco Alvarez is believed to hold the record for long service as cook in a Chicago family. Forty-five years she has been with Mrs. Warren Ewen, Lee street and Hinman avenue, Evanston. She is a Mexican and began cooking for the Ewens at the close of the civil war.

Mary Gleason has been thirty-seven years with Mrs. M. M. Scovil, 1914 Sheridan road. Both cooks will receive gold medals as a reward of their faithfulness.

As Ed Howe Sees Women.

[From the Atchison Globe.]

An Atchison man's wife is ten years older than he is, and she calls him FATHER!

A woman who seldom comes down town walks on the street the way a bride walks to the altar—looking straight ahead, with a set expression, as though she imagined every one is looking at her.

Did a woman ever have company for dinner without worrying over the possibility of there not being enough to go around?

The Simplest Salad.

THE appetizer on a Roman table at the beginning of the meal was a salad of lettuce and egg. The Romans did not always eat wisely, but in this matter their wisdom has never been exceeded. Yet they were not the originators of "bitter herb" wisdom. It was a famous Greek physician who called the lettuce the wise man's herb. Many a wise man and woman of today, without ever having heard of old Galen, count lettuce eating as a part of their dietetic wisdom.

The lettuce stands at the head of all salad plants, and lettuce salad stands as the simplest of all the salads, yet so variously may it be dressed that it is possible to secure great variety in using it, though undoubtedly the French dressing is that most universally favored. But the epicure knows that there are French dressings and French dressings. The salad epicure is most likely to be a man who would as soon allow any one to mix his salad dressing for him as to make his coffee. Both these operations are with him sacred rites. He would be filled with horror should some one suggest putting sugar in the French dressing, although quite reputable French people do add this ingredient, and with a certain kind of lettuce it is good.

Lettuce and Egg Salad.—Shred lettuce, put it into a dish and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Pour over this a cream mustard dressing. Mix, put on serving plates, and cut one-half of a hard boiled egg on each. Dressing: One egg, two tablespoons of sugar, one-fourth pint of sour cream, small piece of butter. Put one teaspoon of mustard in a cup, add two tablespoons of vinegar, and mix. Then add four more tablespoons of vinegar and stir all ingredients together. Cook in double boiler, stirring all the time until it is thickened.—Mrs. C. A. Torrey, South Bend, Ind.

Wilted Lettuce I.—One tablespoon of bacon drippings, two tablespoons of vinegar, a dash of salt and pepper. Let this come to a boil and pour over shredded lettuce, to which a bit of onion has been added.—P. M. Freeman, 4303 South Park avenue.

Wilted Lettuce II.—Quarter a good sized head of lettuce, wash carefully, and put in a double boiler with enough milk to cover it. Let the steam until lettuce is tender, add pepper, salt, and butter, let it stand until butter is melted, turn into dish, and serve immediately.—Mrs. J. Holland, 6147 Woodlawn avenue.

Lettuce Salad I.—Heat one cupful of milk. Stir together two tablespoons of sugar and the yolk of an egg, and add a little hot milk to this before putting it into the whole, in the double boiler, otherwise the egg will cook stringy. Add a little salt and a teaspoon of butter, then two teaspoons of flour moistened in milk, with half a teaspoon of ground mustard added. Strain this through a wire strainer into the milk, stirring constantly. Next add half a cupful of vinegar.—Mrs. J. E. Buck, 5467 Madison avenue.

Lettuce Salad II.—Heat one-third of a cup of vinegar and when hot add the yolks of two eggs beaten with a little water, a pinch of sugar, mustard, salt, pepper, and a small piece of butter.—L. W.

Boiled Salad Dressing.—One egg, one-half teacup of vinegar, one teaspoon of sugar, one-fourth of a teaspoon of dry mustard, one-fourth of a teaspoon of flour, one-fourth of a teaspoon of made mustard, one-half a teaspoon of butter, a little salt and pepper. Stir everything except the butter together and bring slowly to a boil, stirring frequently. When it boils add the butter and beat until this melts, then remove from fire.—Mrs. A. W. Reuter, 1906 Bradley place.

Lettuce Salad with French Dressing.—Wash one head of lettuce and dry by patting gently with a clean towel and set away in a cool place until ready to serve. Make a French dressing from one saltspoon of salt, one-half saltspoon of pepper, one-half teaspoon of dry mustard, mixed thoroughly, to which add three tablespoons of olive oil and one of vinegar.—Jennie C. Sheehy, 5442 Wayne avenue.

French Dressing.—Two tablespoons of salad oil and two smaller tablespoons of cider or wine vinegar, a little salt and pepper, and a piece of onion cut very fine.—Mrs. Louise Chenot Staten, Elgin, Ill.

Health and Beauty.

BY MARIAN MARTINEAU.

MRS. McD.: If you had taken good care to protect the new skin after using the bleach the brown spots would not have returned. Try binding slices of raw cucumbers, cut thick with the peel left on, at night, over those spots; also use the French bleach again, applying cucumber cold cream after the lotion to soothe the roughening of the skin. You will have to keep the neck covered while treating it, as both sun and wind will spot the tender new skin forming underneath. Write for recipe for cucumber cold cream; it is excellent for whitening and softening the skin.

DISCOURAGED: Even if the hands are not beautiful a great deal can be accomplished in making them so by proper care and attention. Every night before retiring bathe them carefully in hot, soapy water, using a small, stiff brush to scrub them. Rinse and dry softly with an old napkin or towel, and when thoroughly dry rub in some good, soothing glove paste. I shall be glad to send a recipe for an excellent and inexpensive paste for this purpose. Before retiring draw on a pair of loose kid gloves and continue wearing them every night until the hands are soft and white.

LENA: Sometimes flushing of the face is due to indigestion, sometimes to nervous disturbance. A cold sponge bath each morning is often helpful. Exercise in the open air. Do you drink enough water every day and are you systematic about it? Three pints between meals daily will not be too much. A wise tonic treatment is necessary when flushing is caused by some disturbance of the nervous system. I am glad to hear that you have been benefited by the use of the dandruff lotion.

ANNA: Your diet has much to do with the oily condition of the skin, and your general health is materially affected by what you eat. Eat only simple nourishing foods, avoid anything that is heavy, rich, or indigestible. Take plenty of exercise, indoors and out. Take a daily bath, adding a little borax to the water. Apply the following lotion several times a day: Four ounces distilled witchhazel, one dram boracic acid. You can easily prepare this at home. Before applying bathe the face with tepid water, then rinse with cold.

LICENSED TO WED JUST ON A CHANCE

Chorus Girl Says "Perhaps" She Will Marry When He Brings the Permit.

NEVER CAN TELL, HE SAYS

Theatrical Man, Divorced by One Beauty, Seeks Another Who Is "Prettier."

There he waits, marriage license in his hand, Stamped at her command, wrapped in rubber band.

"My chorus beauty's eyes are black, my heart is on the rack,
But I'm much afraid she's going to take her promise back."

They were chaffing—some people call it "joshing."

"Come, now, and let us be married," he said. "Say the word and I'll go right over and get the license."

"Well, I don't know, yet I might," she said. "But you must get a license with a real stamp in the corner."

"Sure. I'll have two stamps put on if that will help any."

"Bring it around when you've got it and then I'll think it over. Perhaps I'll say 'Yes,' and then again perhaps—"

Enough, Off to Get the License.

But the sentence was never finished for the ears of Harry J. Armstrong, who was already rushing over to the marriage clerk's office, where he took out a permit to wed. This is the way he gave the clerk the names Thursday afternoon:

James H. Armstrong, 41 years.
Ruth Della Rue, 21 years.

"How about that James H.?" quizzed the clerk, who knew Mr. Armstrong was in the city directory as "Harry J.," theatrical agent on the second floor of the Schiller building.

"I'm giving you my real name," explained Mr. Armstrong.

Then he remembered his promise to have the license stamped twice, and he turned it back to the window for the extra thump. He had the document in his hand as he started away.

"When is the wedding to be and who is the girl?" he was asked.

"Prettier than First Wife."

"The girl, my boy, is a beauty—yes, prettier than my first wife," he replied. "She was with Adeline Genee in the 'Soul Kiss' last year, but she isn't on the stage now."

"But when is the wedding to be?"

"I wish I knew," said Armstrong, as he twirled the license mournfully. "You never can tell about those chorus girls. It's no use for me to prophesy until I hear the parson say those fateful words, 'I hereby pronounce you man and wife,' and you've handed him the ten or twenty, as you may be most accustomed.

"You see, she says she will—perhaps! It's that little word 'perhaps' that's worrying me. I'm taking out this license on the chance. O, those wedding bells!

Will Take Her as Partner.

"If I beat this, I'm going to write a new song, and take my wife in as a partner in the business, so she can keep an eye on me at the office. I'm off to see if Ruth will stick, now that I've got the license."

Mr. Armstrong's first wife chose March 6 for the date of her first marital experiences. She married him on March 6, 1907; divorced him the same day of 1909, and married George Bullen of Oklahoma City at the La Salle hotel on March 6 last. Since then Mr. and Mrs. Bullen have been living most of the time in this city.

As to where Miss Rue lives, Mr. Armstrong declined to say.

"Keep away," he exclaimed, with a repelling wave of a hand, stage style. "I'll let you know if she agrees to put this marriage license at work, but until then, nothing doing, and don't publish a word. But believe me, she's a pippin."

Head of Chicago University Department of Anthropology Will Also Make Side Journey to Japan and China.

Prof. Frederick Starr, head of the department of anthropology of the University of Chicago, is preparing to make another excursion into foreign lands. The journey will occupy six months, of which time between four and five months will be spent in Corea.

"Only a few weeks ago Corea was annexed to Japan, and the study of types and the outcome of amalgamation with the Japanese ought to prove interesting," said Prof. Starr. He will be accompanied by Manuel Gonsales, who returned with him from a trip through Mexico several years ago. Gonsales will take cameras and also be equipped with a moving picture machine.

Two Arrested in Downtown Department Store with $40 Suit in Their Possession.

Two well dressed women were arrested late yesterday afternoon when they were caught with a suit valued at $40 in their possession by W. S. Brown, private detective, in a downtown department store. It is charged they took the suit from a table in the store.

At the Harrison street station they gave their names as Mrs. Mary Kucick, 42 years old, and Mrs. Belle Olson, 34 years old. Mrs. Kucick said she resided with her husband in Evanston and that Mrs. Olson was stopping at her home on a short visit from Fort Wayne, Ind.

Mrs. Kucick is said to have admitted taking the suit, but declared that Mrs. Olson had nothing to do with the alleged theft.

SAYS EASY TO GIVE; PROVES IT

James A. Patten Starts Y. M. C. A. Fund with $25,000.

OTHERS MUST RAISE $75,000.

Evanston Men Form Committees for Ten Days Campaign.

"It is hard to give away money," declared James A. Patten at a Y. M. C. A. booster meeting, held last night in Evanston.

"A person must acquire the habit," he added. "After that it comes easy."

Then he gave the Evanston association $25,000 with the condition that it raise an additional $75,000 within the next ten days. The meeting opened a campaign for raising an improvement fund of $100,000.

Patten First on List.

Mr. Patten's gift was the first contribution. While he attached a condition to the present, it is understood that the association will get the sum whether or not it is successful in raising the additional amount.

Mr. Patten said that he was opposed to rich men keeping their money all their lives. "They should do something good with it," he said. "It isn't worth anything to them after they are dead. I believe in giving money to a good charitable cause."

President A. W. Harris of Northwestern university and Rev. T. P. Frost of the First Methodist church of Evanston also spoke.

Name Campaign Committees.

The plan of the directors of the campaign is that which proved so successful in Chicago last year. The all-Evanston committee, John E. Wilder, chairman, consisting of ten teams of ten men each, will do the soliciting of subscriptions.

This committee will meet each evening to report the progress of the teams, which will be recorded upon a chart showing the standing of each team and the amount remaining to be raised.

CONFESSES TIMES BOMB PLOT.

Waiter Later Repudiates the Story He Told at Salvation Army Meeting in Phœnix.

Phœnix, Ariz., Nov. 4.—A sensational story of participation in the destruction of the Los Angeles Times building was told by Edward Gilham, a waiter in a Chinese restaurant, at the Salvation army meeting last night. Gilham, who was arrested, today denies the story, saying he was intoxicated last night.

Gilham last night said he was one of seventeen blindfolded men who drew lots at Los Angeles union headquarters and that he was one of three chosen to blow up the building.

He said the plan was to blow up the paper after it went to press, but some employé encountering the wires caused the explosion.

LOSES 40 POUNDS BUT GETS DIVORCE

Mrs. Clara B. Jelke Says Husband's Cruelty Reduced Her Weight.

HAGGLED OVER BILLS.

Petitioner Says That Objections Brought Unhappiness; Broker Named in Another Suit.

Has a wealthy husband a right to quarrel over the purchase of a 50 cent pair of baby's shoes and the payment of a grocery bill of 85 cents?

Mrs. Clara B. Jelke charged that her husband, Ferdinand F. Jelke, president of George P. Braun company, butterine manufacturers, raised strenuous objections to providing money for these and other things, and that quarrels usually resulted in hair pulling frays.

Her demand for a divorce was granted yesterday by Judge Dupuy in the Superior court after hanging in the balance for a year.

Mr. Jelke has pending a $100,000 damage suit against Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Bartholomay, parents of Mrs. Jelke, charging alienation of the affections of his former wife. His father, John F. Jelke, said in the evening that the suit would be prosecuted.

Damage Suit Termed "Bluff."

No provisions for alimony were made in court. Attorney Cummings for Mrs. Jelke said a settlement would be effected later. He termed the suit brought by Jelke as a "bluff."

"My husband struck me more than a dozen times during our married life," Mrs. Jelke told the court. "He quarreled with me on the least provocation, and as a result of his demeanor I lost forty pounds in weight."

Alleged instances of cruelty by Jelke occurred on his farm at Dundee, Ill. Mrs. Jelke testified that her husband pulled her hair following a quarrel at their Chicago residence, 1440 Dearborn avenue.

Jelke did not appear in court.

Sarah Astry and May Dondon, nurses employed by Mrs. Jelke, testified that they saw Jelke strike his wife.

Broker Named in Actor's Suit.

More than a score of love letters between Mrs. Josephine G. Mace, an actress, and J. W. Blalock, said to be a wealthy New York stock broker, will figure in a suit for divorce filed by Fred Mace, an actor, in the Superior court during the day, according to his attorney. Mace, who is leading man in a company now playing in a downtown theater, charges the broker with having been frequently in the company of his wife, and seeks a divorce on the contention of infidelity.

Attorney Edward J. Acer, counsel for Mace, exhibited a bundle of letters which, he declared, was correspondence which passed between Mrs. Mace and Blalock during the last year. He refused to make their contents public.

GREAT STORMS IN THE EAST CAUSE HAVOC ON THE COAST.

Gales, Accompanied by Snow and Rain, Sweep Atlantic Seaboard—Telegraph Wires Down.

New York Nov 4.—[Special.]—A blizzard-like storm which came up the Atlantic coast, bringing sharp gales and heavy falls of snow and rain, today crippled wire communication and traffic all along the seaboard.

Upstate there was a fall of snow which made sleighing possible in the Catskill mountains.

The storm apparently was most severe between Baltimore and Washington, all wires being down between those cities. A soggy, clinging snow spread over Pennsylvania and interfered with the workings of the telegraph lines.

From Philadelphia came reports of one of the worst November storms in years. In the mountain districts of Pennsylvania snow fell to the depth of twelve inches and in some places drifted badly. Railroad and trolley service in these sections is impeded.

The storm was accompanied by a high wind, which played havoc with telegraph and telephone wires.

Part of the anthracite coal regions is snow bound. At Delano, one of the highest points in the region, and at Frackville more than a foot of snow fell and drifted in places to three feet.

GILBERT ALLIS NOW FATHER?

Report Says He Married Amber Lawlor, Actress, Year Ago, and That She Is Mother of Boy.

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 4.—[Special.]—That Gilbert Allis, son of the engine builder who founded the Allis-Chalmers company, married Amber Lawlor, actress, more than a year ago, is the report. To it is added the rumor that Mrs. Allis, now on her husband's ranch in Montana, has just become the mother of Gilbert Allis Jr.

None of the Allis family would say a word about these reports. Gilbert Allis was in Milwaukee yesterday, but his relatives and friends are silent as to his whereabouts now. His first wife was Mrs. Aylward, a widow.

Amber Lawlor announced her marriage to Samuel Willets in 1898. Willet's father offered $1,000,000 for proof of the marriage. A few days ago the younger Willets married Mrs. Lemuel Hastings Arnold, who divorced her husband in Reno last spring.

Forces Payment For Her New Play.

MRS. ROBERT VON MORPURGO

"I Marry my Daughter" is the title of a three act comedy which brought $500 to Mrs. Robert Von Morpurgo, small, smiling, dainty, and pretty, who appeared in Judge Crowe's court in the Municipal court building yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Von Morpurgo wrote the play at her residence, 823 Sheridan road, but was unable to find a market for it. She advertised the sale of the play, and got into communication with Charles Matzdorff, 721 Belden avenue, who says he runs a language school.

Matzdorf and Mrs. Von Morpurgo met in the Palmer house May 24 and effected the sale of the comedy. Matzdorff was to take over the play and produce it as his own. He was going to put Mrs. Von Morpurgo on as the leading lady, and he promised to pay her a large salary. For the play he was to pay her $500.

Matzdorff wrote a check for $500, but the young woman claims she was unable to cash it.

The jury remained out less than five minutes, then returned the verdict in favor of Mrs. Von Morpurgo.

Mrs. von Morpurgo was born in Vienna and came to the United States with her husband, Robert Von Morpurgo, who is a consulting engineer with offices in the Heyworth building, five years ago.

RICHARDSON WINS A DIVORCE

Reno Decree Separates Him from Evelyn Nesbit's Friend.

SEQUEL TO ELOPEMENT.

Edna McClure, Plaintiff, Witness in Trial of Harry Thaw.

Reno, Nev., Nov. 4.—[Special.]—The final chapter in the story of the hasty marriage and brief marital experience of Edna McClure, the actress, intimate friend of Evelyn Nesbit, and a witness in the Thaw case, but not called upon to testify, was closed here today by the granting of a divorce to John G. Richardson, her husband, upon the ground of desertion.

Her husband, whom she had only met but a month before their marriage, which was practically an elopement, wherein the justice of the peace of Jersey City officiated on Dec. 1, 1908, is a son of J. Herbert Richardson, a capitalist of Brooklyn, now living in Belmont, Mass.

Richardson has for several years been interested in mining operations in Tonopah as a partner of E. H. Huff, member of the New York stock exchange, in their properties at Atwood, Nev. In his complaint he alleged that his wife deserted him in August, 1909, although she refused to come west again with him after being in Tonopah twice in two years. Upon this charge alone, with a stipulation that he shall pay her permanent alimony of $50 a month, was the decree granted.

It is known, however, that he declares that his wife was quarrelsome and faultfinding, and swore at him until he was compelled to leave the house; that she insisted that he support her mother, sister, and brother, which he could not afford to do, whereupon she declared she wished she had never married him.

Bridgetender Is Drowned.

Katherine Clemmons Drives Mules Ten Miles in 65 Minutes for Doctor.

HE FINDS NO POISON.

Divorcee Accuses Virginia Cook; Third Attempt on Life, She Alleges.

Lynchburg, Va., Nov. 4.—[Special.]—Mrs. Katherine Clemmons Gould, divorced wife of Howard Gould, early today arrived here from her country home at Blue Gap, after driving a team of mules the ten miles in sixty-five minutes. She said she had been poisoned by her negro cook yesterday. She got here about 1 o'clock this morning and went at once to a hotel and had a physician summoned.

Dr. E. A. Vaughn was soon at her bedside. After an examination the physician said he could find no evidence of poisoning and gave her no medicine, saying she required none.

Says It Was Third Attempt on Life.

Persons who were present state that Mrs. Gould said a man was trying to have her murdered and that this was the third attempt upon her life within the last two months.

Mrs. Gould yesterday afternoon was visited at her estate by Bishop A. Van Devier of the Catholic diocese of Richmond and Father Hannage of Richmond. According to the negro who brought Mrs. Gould here she received the guests and showed them over the estate, but this morning she claimed she had no recollection of this visit and had not seen them.

Awoke in Stupor in Night.

Mrs. Gould says she awoke about 11:30 o'clock last night in her room. She said she had been in a stupor from a drug she thinks administered to her by her cook about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. She found herself lying on the floor with a chair across her when she awoke, she said.

She then inspected the house, she said, and could find no trace of her guests or their baggage.

Mrs. Gould is alleged by those who heard her talk to have said that her husband would not hesitate to pay $1,000,000 to have her put out of the way.

Cancellation Also Means Breaking Off of Relations Between the Two Schools.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 4.—[Special.]—Michigan today formally canceled tomorrow's game with Notre Dame, and as a result all athletic relations between Michigan and the Hoosier college are at an end.

The action of the Michigan board followed close on the heels of the refusal of the Notre Dame officials to withdraw Philbrook and Dimmick, who had been declared ineligible by the conference investigating committee.

Late this afternoon an unofficial report reached local athletic headquarters that the Notre Dame eleven had started for Ann Arbor despite the Michigan board's decision, and that not only were the Catholics bringing their ineligible players but were coming prepared to file protests with the board in control expressing doubt as to the truth of the report. The game has been called off, and there is no chance that further negotiations will mend matters.

Would Be Futile Trip.

"I scarcely can believe that Notre Dame is sending its team here," said Prof. Holbrook, "for by our conversation over the long distance phone this afternoon the matter was settled finally. Both of us understood that the game was off, and as at that time the Notre Dame team had not started it seems unlikely that the school would send the players on a bootless mission."

"What if they should agree at the last minute to play without the services of Philbrook and Dimmick? Would Michigan then reconsider its action canceling the game?"

"Certainly not. We would not play unless Philbrook and Dimmick were withdrawn. This they refused to do and the game was canceled, as we considered it a breach of contract. They had agreed to play the game under our eligibility rules and those men are ineligible under our rules."

"How about future relations with Notre Dame?" he was asked.

"There will be none," he replied. "We had intended to drop them from our schedules after this game, win or lose, but now the severance of relations gives more publicity than it otherwise would have been. But now we're through."

As a result of the cancellation Michigan is without a game for tomorrow, although Director Bartelme decided tonight to put on a free game between the varsity and the reserves. As soon as he learned of the final decision not to play the game Coach Yost boarded a fast train for Philadelphia to watch his old teammates from Lafayette play Pennsylvania. Yost had little to say about the outcome of the squabble except to declare that he was glad of the opportunity to see Penn in action just a week before the Michigan-Penn game.

NOTRE DAME STATES ITS CASE.

Notre Dame, Ind., Nov. 4.—[Special.]—Following the receipt of the official notification from the college conference committee that Philbrook and Dimmick had been found ineligible by Prof. Waldo of the conference, the Notre Dame faculty board today issued a statement setting forth at length its position.

Notre Dame takes the same stand that it has maintained all through the controversy, which began shortly following the football season last year, when newspaper stories emanating from Ann Arbor questioned the eligibility of Philbrook and Dimmick and later at the time of the conference meet at Urbana, when the same question was reviewed.

The contention is that Philbrook and Dimmick competed as preparatory students with Tualatin academy and Pearson's academy, the preparatory departments of Pacific university and Whitman college, respectively, and that inasmuch as these schools were not included in the conference list of colleges until 1908 they should be regarded as preparatory schools and not as "colleges" as defined by conference rulings when Michigan began negotiations last July with Notre Dame for a game.

Manager Goes to Ann Arbor.

The Notre Dame manager made a special trip to Ann Arbor to consult with Mr. Bartelme as to the probability of a protest against Philbrook and Dimmick, and Mr. Bartelme expressed no doubt whatever regarding Notre Dame's right to play these men.

The action of Michigan now in protesting Philbrook and Dimmick is looked upon as a breach of faith, as Notre Dame was not playing Michigan under conference rules, and the action of Mr. Waldo had no bearing on the Notre Dame-Michigan discussion. After outlining the position of Notre Dame somewhat as stated above, the statement given out at Notre Dame continues as follows:

"In the meeting of the board of directors Oct. 17 Notre Dame maintained the position explained in the foregoing extracts from the letters of Mr. Allen and every one present, including Professors Waldo and Smith, agreed that we had a perfect right to question the fact as to whether or not Whitman college was a college for conference purposes in 1908.

"Now, if this is admittedly a debatable question between Notre Dame and the conference, it is a debatable question between Notre Dame and Michigan. What Prof. Waldo says is a thing apart. Neither Notre Dame nor Michigan is a conference college, and they did not contract to play under conference rules.

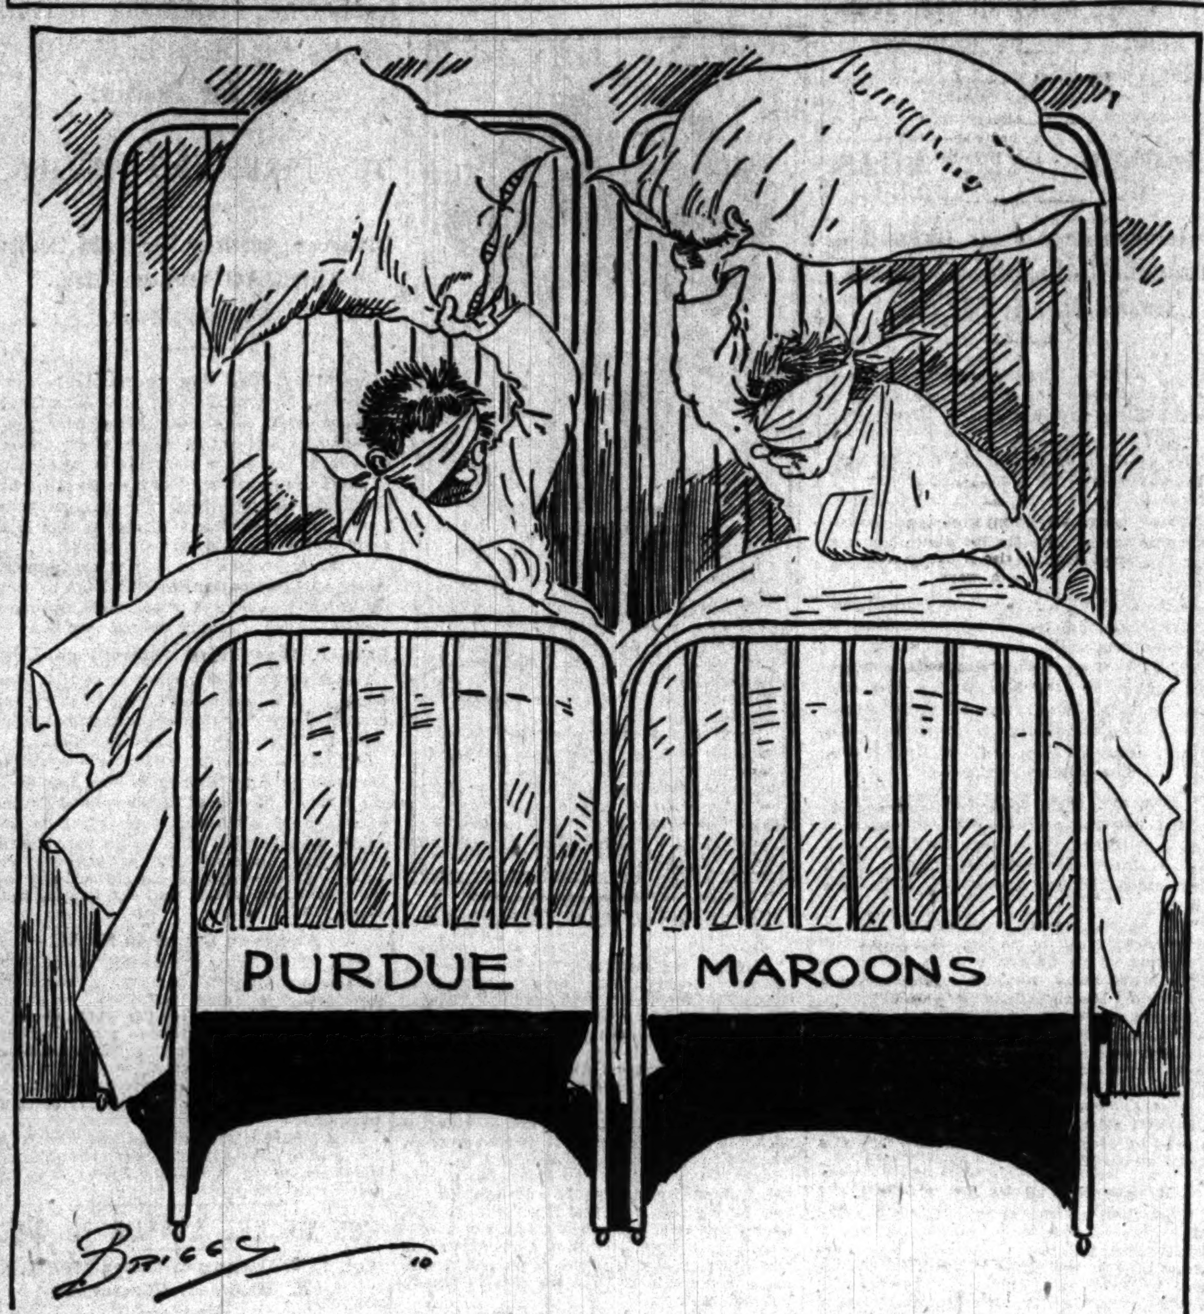

Gives Out Holbrook Letter.

"In Prof. Holbrook's letter of protest there was the statement that 'this interpretation (making the three year rule retroactive), was one of the causes which led Michigan to withdraw from the conference,' but might we not also question the right of the conference committee to wait until 1908 before putting Whitman on their 'approved list' and then a palpably retroactive motion declaring that Whitman for conference purposes practically has always been a college.

"In our letter to Michigan yesterday we maintained at length the position which is set down in this statement. In a long distance conversation this morning Prof. Holbrook said that he had not submitted to his faculty Notre Dame's reply to Michigan's protest. We asked if such a single handed method of deciding the case did not seem unjust. He replied that all the points contained in our letter had been anticipated in a discussion held last night at Ann Arbor. When pressed to declare whether our contention that Mr. Waldo's opinion and the conference board of directors' decision had nothing to do with our discussion and that we would appeal our case, he admitted that our point was not taken up in their meeting just in the way we presented it. It seems, therefore, that Prof. Holbrook took upon himself the responsibility of canceling the game.

"A new light is thrown over the whole matter in a telegram received from Prof. Holbrook this morning. He says: 'Our decision expressed in last night's telegram [referring to canceling of game] is final, particularly since conference ruling of yesterday. Cole and Clark are perhaps ineligible under strict interpretation of contract, and we will not play them if you comply with contract.'"

BY FORWARD PASS.

The Purdue football team arrived in Chicago at 6 o'clock last night, ready to meet the Maroons at Marshall Field this afternoon. Coach Horr said his team was in good condition, but neither he nor Capt. Fletcher would venture any prediction as to the result of the game. Coach Stagg admitted that the Maroons "might" win today, though he was not making any prophecy about the score.

The Purdue rooters, several hundred strong, will arrive this morning at 8:30. Their success in holding the Illinois to 11 points last Saturday has emboldened them to think they may be able to take a game from Chicago, something they have not accomplished for sixteen years.

Of the fifteen contests between the two universities, Purdue won the first three and tied with Chicago in 1901, 5 to 5, but lost all the others. Last year the Boilermakers were snowed under, 40 to 0. The Midway rooters are confident of winning by three touchdowns. Capt. Crawley said last night that he expected to win "comfortably."

Maroon Backfield Improves.

Coach Stagg is pleased with the improvement of his backfield.

"The offense is stronger than it has been at any previous time this year," said the coach last night. "The men have been taking hold of the new plays and really learning them so that they can execute them with some precision."

Coach Horr said last night at the Del Prado hotel, where his team is quartered:

"I'd rather not make any predictions. We have not had the best of luck this season, but we played a good game against Illinois last Saturday and we have been working hard ever since to perfect our formations. We lost one of our best line men in Dunwiddie, who played left guard, but otherwise the team is in excellent condition."

The Maroons were given a stiff signal drill last night, but no scrimmage. The new plays went off satisfactorily and the team was confident after the practice.

"I guess they are ready for a stiff game," Coach Stagg said. "And they will get a stiff game, too," he added.

Maroons Average Eight Pounds More.

The Boilermakers will be outweighed by the Maroons about eight pounds to the man. The chief difference is in the line, where Purdue averages 164 pounds and Chicago 174 3-7.

The game this afternoon will be prefaced by a meeting between the soccer teams of Illinois and Chicago and an aeroplane flight by Frank Abernathy of Chicago. The soccer game will be called at 1 o'clock.

Coach Stagg has decided to put Sauer back at end and to use "Bunny" Rogers at left half. Menual will be kept out the game in order to give his knee a rest unless he has to go in for some one else. Sawyer also will be given a rest. Paine will go back to his place at end and Kassulker will appear at tackle.

The lineup and weights of the two teams is as follows:

Purdue.			Chicago.
R. E.	Miles	180	Paine, 153	L. E.

Loyola Plays Doctors Today.

The Loyola university eleven will meet the College of Physicians and Surgeons team at Artesian park this afternoon in the last scheduled game before tackling the fast Marquette university eleven on the local field next Saturday. The Loyola team has shown great improvement both in offensive and defensive work, and Coach Schied, who has reorganized the lineup, is hopeful of victory.

PROTEST WILL BE SQUASHED?

McGovern and Johnson Said to Be Carrying Full Work.

GOPHERS DRILL FOR BADGERS

Confident of Victory but Strenuous Work Still Continues.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 4.—[Special.]—Advices received here from Minnesota today indicate that Wisconsin's protest of Johnson and McGovern will die a natural death, as both men are reported by the faculty eligibility committee of the former school to be carrying the required number of hours.

The night law work has been recognized as sufficient for years under the conference rules, and while the Wisconsin protest possibly will result in some legislation in regard to this during the coming winter, it is doubtful if either of the night law football stars can be disqualified this season.

Signal practice and some work blocking kicks made up the practice on Randall field this afternoon. Hoeffel, the snappy little end, from the present outlook is out of the game for good, with a twisted knee that refuses to yield to treatment.

Tomorrow afternoon the freshman-sophomore game is on the bill at Randall field. Coach Barry and Capt. Jimmy Dean left tonight for Chicago to see the Chicago-Purdue game.

No Protest from Wisconsin.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 4.—If any protest has been made by Wisconsin against any Minnesota university football players, nothing official has been received by the football authorities at the university.

Prof. James Page, a member of the conference committee, said today that he had no official knowledge that Wisconsin had protested against any of the Minnesota players. He said:

"If the protest against McGovern and Johnson should be made, I do not think it would be effective, as there is no ground for a protest on these men."

No one realizes better than Coach Williams that it is only by hard and consistent work that he can whip his ponies into shape to defeat Michigan. The second team is using Wolverine formations and has been able to score on the varsity at times, but usually the regular team has things much its own way. The Gophers are not too over confident about winning from Wisconsin, yet it is the general opinion that they will win.

ALL EYES CENTER ON INDIANA GAME

Winner of Illini-Hoosier Battle Today Has Claim on 'Big Eight' Title.

TEAMS ARE ABOUT EQUAL

Kicking Will Be Big Factor in Success of Victorious Eleven, Says Eckersall.

BY WALTER H. ECKERSALL.

Illinois and Indiana will meet at Bloomington today in the most important western football game, while the Harvard-Cornell struggle will attract the most attention in the east. Other games of importance are scheduled in both sections of the country which will have direct bearing on the sectional titles, but the struggles mentioned will be watched with the greatest interest.

The annual clash between Illinois and Indiana, two unbeaten conference elevens, has attracted no end of interest from followers of western football, and the largest crowd that ever saw a gridiron struggle in Bloomington is expected at the game. With every available seat for the contest disposed of and standing room selling at a premium, Bloomington will be host to the largest gathering of out of town persons in its history.

Work Hard for Today's Game.

Since both elevens won their games from Chicago, they have been pointed toward this battle, and nothing has been left undone by the mentors of either team to have their machines coached to the height of football perfection. The players have been taught the intricate duties of their respective positions with unremittent persistency by coaches who have won honor and glory on the chalk lined field in former years.

Each eleven is represented by an equal number of veterans, and, taking every position into consideration, it is hard to figure where one team has any advantage over the other.

Both aggregations have strong and powerful lines, ones that should check successfully any attempts of the other to gain through the line. The forwards of both teams follow the ball with the skill and accuracy which only are accomplished by careful coaching, and it is a certainty that the kicks of both elevens will be well covered by the linemen.

Butzer Is Ideal Leader.

In Capt. Butzer Illinois has an ideal leader, one who knows football and one who plays it all the time. Besides being a power on the defense, he is used a great deal to advance the ball on offense and execute forward passes. In carrying the oval Butzer runs so hard and low that when he strikes an opposition his own momentum carries him forward for gains of two and three yards.

On the defense he is used to back up the line, and it is in this position that his work looms up. He seems to possess football intuition, and he moves to the point of attack with speed and alertness, which generally results in plays being stopped without material gains.

Butzer's offensive and defensive qualities should be offset to a large degree by the work of Tackle Dutter of Indiana, who is without a doubt one of the strongest players in his position in the west. Like Butzer, Dutter is used to advance the ball, and in the games which the Hoosiers have played this year Dutter has given good accounts of himself in carrying the oval from different formations.

Generally speaking, the lines are about equal in weight and strength and the outcome of the contest will depend largely on the playing of the forwards, who will have to hold onside kicks and plays in which delays are necessary for the successful execution of forward passes. As a blocked kick or an intercepted forward pass is liable to mean defeat, it is a certainty the coaches have passed a lot of time in teaching the forwards the different forms of blocking on important plays.

End Men About Equal.

The ends of both elevens have played hard, consistent football all season and they are past masters in the art of smashing and blocking. The wing players of both elevens are used considerably in catching and throwing forward passes and the duel between the ends in this department should be interesting.

From all indications, the team which wins will owe the lion's share of its success to the backs. Davis, Winters, and Gill are an ideal trio of back field players for any team and as they are experienced and heavy Illinois is sure to experience a deal of difficulty in checking them without gain. Bernstein, Roberts, and Dillon the Illinois backs, are nearly the equal of the Hoosier trio, while the quarter backs, Cunningham and Seiler, should give interesting exhibitions of generalship.

There are not a few who believe this contest, which gives every indication of being one of the hardest fought of the year in western football, will be won by the air line route, and it is certain that neither Gill nor Seiler will pass up any chances of making field goals when their respective teams are within range of the goal posts.

These toe artists have demonstrated their worth on more than one occasion this fall and both have had plenty of practice in booting the oval over the bar while kicking behind a line with opponents charging through to block the attempts.

Winner Has Title Claim.

The winner of this battle will be entitled to claims for the conference championship, and as this is the first time in years that either institution has been represented by an eleven which could lay claims to the title, it is certain that all the physical power which those twenty-two players who start the game possess will be used in their untiring efforts to run off the field victors in such an important battle.

Chicago will give battle to Purdue on Marshall field in a game which the Maroons must win if any hopes of making a good showing against Cornell on next Saturday are to be entertained on the Midway. The Boilermakers have shown nothing this season which would entitle them to a victory over the Oil Boys, while the latter have played good football against teams which have outclassed them greatly. Coach Stagg and the players are set upon winning the struggle and a victory will be a most welcome occurrence on the Midway.

Iowa and Ames will clash at Ames in a game which means the elimination of the loser from the state championship race. Since defeats early in the season by Northwestern and Minnesota, Iowa and Ames respectively have shown improvement, and this contest should result in a stubbornly fought battle.

The Michigan Aggies-Marquette contest at Milwaukee is attracting no end of attention, and this struggle will have an important bearing on championship among the minor colleges of the west. In the games which both elevens have played this fall each has showed to good advantage and an interesting conflict should result in the Cream City. Coach Brewer, in charge of the Aggies, passed through the city last night, confident of victory, and said all his players were in good condition.

Battle in M. V. C. Circuit.

Kansas and Nebraska will battle at Lawrence in the most important struggle of the Missouri valley conference colleges. The Cornhuskers are favored for the title of the river organization, but they will meet a worthy opponent.

Case and Ohio State, the teams which held Michigan to tie scores, will meet at Cleveland. Other important contests scheduled in the west are Drake and Grinnell at Des Moines, Missouri and St. Louis at St. Louis, and Arkansas and Washington at St. Louis.

The ineligibility of Philbrook and Dimmick, the Notre Dame tackles, which led to the cancellation of the Michigan-Notre Dame contest, is a bitter disappointment to followers of the Wolverine eleven, who were sure Coach Yost would make amends for the defeat of last season. The calling off of the game is to be regretted and the agitation which is sure to follow is liable to hurt athletics in this section.

In the east Harvard and Cornell will meet in the banner attraction, while the Yale-Brown struggle will attract a lot of attention. Princeton should win from Fordham and Pennsylvania should take Lafayette into camp. Dartmouth looks like a winner over Amherst and Williams should win from Wesleyan.

"SOPHS" OUTRUN FRESHMEN.

Second Year Athletes Take Annual Cross Country Event from Yearlings at Oak Park.

The annual freshman-sophomore cross-country run of the Oak Park High school was won by the sophomores yesterday afternoon. The course was from the Y. M. C. A. building, 3.3 miles through the town streets and back to the starting place. Holland of the sophomore team was the first man in. His time was 20:21. The next four to finish were: Craft, freshman, in 20:35; Tuttle, sophomore, in 20:40; Albright, sophomore, in 21:07; and Morse, freshman, 21:30. A field of twelve started and all finished.

'PREP' LEADERS TO FIGHT FOR TITLES

Games Likely to Settle Argument in Two Divisions of High School League.

WENDELL PHILLIPS FIT.

Victory Over Hyde Park Will Give It First Honors in the Southern Section.

"Prep" Football Games Today.

Wendell Phillips vs. Hyde Park, Marshall field (a. m.).
Englewood vs. Crane, West End park.
Austin vs. Bowen, Bessemer park.
Evanston Acad. vs. Evanston H. S., Northwestern field (a. m.).
Oak Park vs. Maywood Y. M. C., Phipps field.
Lane vs. St. John's Mil. Acad., Delafield, Wis.
University High vs. Alumni, Jackson park.

Two of the three division titles in the Cook County High School Football league probably will be decided today. If Wendell Phillips is successful in its contest with Hyde Park at Marshall field this morning the former school practically will clinch the honors in the southern division of the major league. If Bowen takes the measure of Austin High at Bessemer park this afternoon, then that school will land the minor league championship with a clean record.

The contest between Wendell Phillips and Hyde Park is by far the most important of the day. The two teams are evenly matched and the contest should be one of the hardest and most fiercely contested of the entire season. Up to 1906 Hyde Park won every victory in twenty years, but the string was broken that year. Wendell Phillips won again in 1908, but lost the decision last year.

Wendell Phillips Confident.

With a team acknowledged to be the strongest that has represented Wendell Phillips in the last twenty-five years, followers of the school are confident of annexing their third victory. Hyde Park, while not showing up to the form expected of the school owing to injuries, is equally hopeful of winning. Both elevens have been drilled to the minute, the work of the last week having been of the most strenuous kind.

Scrimmage practice was the order during the first few days, but yesterday both were put through a long, hard signal drill. Both will rely largely on open field plays. The forward pass will be used extensively, as each has found this play one of the best ground gainers of the year. As both have strong ends and speedy defensive half backs, it is doubtful if much ground can be gained by these formations. If these fail, both then will depend on off tackle plays to make progress.

Englewood-Crane Game Unimportant.

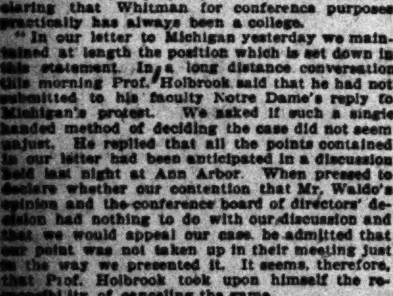

Englewood and Crane will meet at West End park, but the result will have no direct bearing on the title. Each has been beaten two or more times. On comparative scores they are evenly matched, and the contest should be a hard fought affair. The other scheduled league game is between Austin and Bowen at Bessemer park. Bowen has not lost a contest this year, having won three. This is the last game for the South Chicagoans and they are hopeful of landing the victory and title with this contest.

Several other contests in which high school teams will play are on the card. With the playing of the Evanston academy-Evanston High school contest on Northwestern field this morning the championship of that suburb will be decided. Lane High will journey to Delafield, Wis., where St. John's Military academy will be met. Oak Park High will play the Maywood Young Men's club on Phipps field this afternoon, and University High will tackle the alumni of that school at Jackson park.

Athletes Given Free Rein.

It was announced last night at the Illinois Athletic club that the Lincoln park board will permit athletes participating in the I. A. C.'s cross country run, Saturday, Nov. 12, to utilize all the roads under its control, thus allowing each athlete to pick his route through the park to the finish line at North avenue and the Lake Shore drive. The cream of local running talent will participate in the race, such men as Pillivant, C. A. A.; Donati, Chicago Irish-American A. C.; Frank Stein, Kenosha, Wis.; Kessler, Irving Park A. A.; Amour and Gibson, I. A. C., having signified their intention of competing.

His Great Efficiency Lies in Knowing When to Look the Other Way.

STAHL WILL QUIT BOSTON RED HOSE

Star to Count Money Instead of Breaking Fences and Running Bases.

CUBS SIGN NEW CATCHER.

Leo Angemeir Corralled for Three Years; Baseball Gossip Along the Rialto.

BY R. W. LARDNER.

Jake Stahl is through with baseball. The heavy hitting Boston first sacker made this announcement himself last night. Jake isn't sore on the Boston club or on the game itself, but he figures he can't play and bank, too, and a banker is what he is going to be from now on.

Jake and his father-in-law, H. W. Mahan, and City Treasurer I. N. Powell have purchased a controlling interest in the Washington Park National bank, at Evans avenue and Fifty-third street. This bank has been in existence since last May and evidently looks like a good proposition to Jake and his new partners.

There will be an election of officers today. Mr. Powell is booked for the presidency, Jake and his father-in-law also will have offices, and it is expected that Jake will get one of the active ones, inasmuch as Mr. Mahan is still president of the South Side State bank and has enough to keep him busy in that capacity. So Mr. Stahl won't have time to travel around the country or the base lines.

Stahl Hates to Quit Game.

Jake hates to give up the pastime. He is far from all in as a ball player; in fact, appears to be getting better every season. He is quitting because he believes it would be foolishness not to when he can go into something with a future. He has been thinking it over for five months and his decision to change occupations was made only recently.

The loss of Stahl will be a blow to the Boston club. As a Red Sock he earned the reputation of being one of the American league's best first basemen, as well as a good hitter of the clean up kind. The Boston team will be weakened to a great extent with him out of it, and John I. Taylor will have to do some tall hustling to find a man able to care for the position nearly as well.

It would be a nice thing for Mr. Comiskey if Jake decided that he could play as a White Sock, for Commy might be able to arrange a deal for him. But Stahl says he won't have time to play here or anywhere else, so there isn't much use of talking about it.

American league outfielders, except Lewis, Speaker, and Hooper, probably will breathe a long sigh of relief when they hear these tidings. It's mighty tiresome to chase back to the fences, and Stahl's withdrawal from the pastime will cut down their traveling expenses materially.

Cubs Sign Recruit Catcher.

The Cubs are surely going to have a swell team next year. Mr. Murphy yesterday signed up a catcher direct from Paris. His name is Leo Angemeir, and he is to receive the largest salary ever paid a recruit, imported or otherwise.

Paris, Ky., is where Leo was the lion. Paris is in the Blue Grass league, and it was there that George Huff, old scout, first gazed on Monsieur Angemeir. This gentleman isn't only a catcher. He also plays the infield and outfield at once, hits at an awesome clip, and is as fast as what Bender pitches. Leo signed up for three years, and his contract was the first thing President Murphy saw when he got back to work.

The Cub magnate didn't see much of anything else. He had a lot of mail to look over, but little of it was of any real interest except to him. He said he had nothing to do with John Evers' desire to coach, adding that it was a matter for Manager Chance to settle.

Mr. Sheckard has so many jobs in prospect now that he doesn't know which to take. The Cahill cigar stand is still open, and yesterday there were two more offers. One of them was from the Evers-Williams shoe store. The partners told Sheck they would give him a dollar a day to roam the streets as a sandwich man advertising the store.

Sheckard as Interpreter.

Also he had a chance to go to work in the stockyards, acting as interpreter between the stock and the men. Sheck is well qualified for a job like that on account of his long experience as an English teacher for the wild animals in Africa.

Doc White, eminent songster, figures on getting a stage tryout some day next week. He will appear first in some neighboring town and probably will make his Chicago bow in a week or two.

President Comiskey and his party of sharpshooters will return this morning from Mercer, Wis., where they have been supplying themselves with food for the long winter.

GRANT AND MOREN TO SIGN UP.

Phillie Players Expected to Affix John Henrys to Cincinnati Contracts This Morning.

Cincinnati, O., Nov. 4.—[Special.]—Third Baseman Grant and Pitcher Moren of the Philadelphia team are expected in Cincinnati tonight, and will meet President Herrmann of the Reds tomorrow and affix their signatures to Cincinnati contracts. Pitcher Moren left Pittsburg yesterday by automobile and was headed this way. He has an engagement to go hunting with Hans Lobert this winter. They will proceed to the south, where they will be joined by Tom Downey, Bill Barnes, George Suggs, and "Rabbit" McMillan, with whom they will go for a few weeks to the mountain fastnesses of Mexico.

SOCCER ON THE MIDWAY TODAY.

Illinois Meets Maroons in First Game for Conference Title—Downstaters Expect to Win.

Soccer football will receive its baptism as an interuniversity sport in the west when the University of Illinois eleven meets the University of Chicago team at Marshall field this afternoon. The game will be played as a curtain raiser to the Chicago-Purdue game and will start at 12:45 o'clock.

The Maroon team has been practicing daily for several weeks under Coach J. P. Brady, while the Illinois eleven has been under the tutelage of Coach Strode. The visitors have several men in their lineup who played soccer in other countries, and in this respect will have a slight advantage over the Midway players, most of whom are new to the kicking code. C. G. Osborne, a former tackle on the Harvard team, and also captain of the Crimson soccer team, will referee the match. Lineup:

Maroons.		Illinois.
Sponsal	Goal	Dahringer
Lindsay	Right back	McKim
Duck	Right half back	Lagora
Callentine	Center half back	McLeon
Watts	Outside right	Carson
Wood	Inside right	Briggs
Fulker'n [capt.]	Center	W. Karkow [capt.]

Referee—C. G. Osborne of Harvard.

INDIANA TEAM SEES VICTORY

Sheldon, in That Case, Would Like to Meet Minnesota.

ILLINOIS ELEVEN SANGUINE.

General Belief of Rooters Is That the Downstaters Will Win.

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 4.—[Special.]—"In case Indiana beats Illinois tomorrow, I wish it were allowed under the conference rules to play Minnesota a post-season game," said Coach Jimmy Sheldon after practice this afternoon.

It is the private opinion of the Crimson coach that he has the championship team of the west, although holding to his custom of refusing to make a prediction as to the outcome of tomorrow's contest. Actions sometimes speak louder than words, and Sheldon's actions say tonight that he expects to win from Illinois.

He would like to play a post-season game with Minnesota to settle beyond a doubt the questions of the conference championship. The Crimson team is in the best of shape and went through an easy workout this afternoon. There is not a man that is not in the pink of condition, with the exception of Hatfield, who has been sick with malarial fever. The betting here tonight is slightly in favor of Indiana.

Rooters Chant Illinois Slogan.

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 4.—[Special.]—"Hang it on Indiana" was chanted by Illini rooters in a massmeeting tonight. Tomorrow morning 1,200 supporters of Capt. Butzer's eleven will speed to Bloomington in two special trains. The university military band will head the enthusiasts, and the scrub and freshman squad will be taken as a reward for their work.

That Illinois will win is the general belief here, but Sheldon's Hoosiers are greatly feared. In view of the agitation for a post-season game with Minnesota, the contest has grown in importance. The Daily Illini came out strong for a championship game in the happy contingency that the Orange and Blue waves in triumph tomorrow.

Capt. Butzer led his men to Bloomington this forenoon. The lineup will be identical with that against Chicago on Oct. 15. These subs went along: Merriman, Davis, Kubul, Gossett, Lanum, Ainsworth, Hardinger, Postop, and Woolstone.

Charley Wham Will Start.

Charley Wham surely will start. Merriman will get his chance in the second half. Seiler will be retained throughout the game on account of his punting and drop kicking. Great things are expected from this crack brace of quarter backs. Should the Illini triumph, their reception tomorrow night when they return at midnight will surpass all previous exhibitions of Illinois loyalty.

The lineup: Lyons, right end, 170; Wham, right tackle, 166; Butzer, right guard, 193; Twist, center, 230; Belting, left guard, 186; Springe, left tackle, 185; Oliver, left end, 167; Seiler, quarter back, 160; Bernstein, right half back, 155; Dillon, left half back, 150; Roberts, full back, 173.

RAIN PREVENTS OUTDOOR WORK

Neither Cornell Nor Harvard Is Able to Do Much Practicing Because of Heavy Showers.

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 4.—[Special.]—The weather was so wet and raw here today that the Harvard players did most of what little work they did do in the "gym" cage. They ran through formations for a while and then went out on the wet grass and went through signals for a few minutes at top speed. That wound up the day's work. The Cornell players arrived early this morning and went through signals in the Harvard cage. They are hopeful, but nobody here expects them to do more than give the Crimson a good battle.

HARVARD TEAM WINS LONG RUN.

Yale Beaten in Cross Country Event by Eleven Points—Crimson Captain Covers Course in Fast Time.

Brookline, Mass., Nov. 4.—Harvard cross-country runners defeated Yale today, 34 to 23. The race, over the Chestnut hill course of six miles, was run during a heavy rain storm. This interfered with the runners, but in spite of it Capt. Jaques of the Crimson came within five seconds of the course record. His time was 35:58 1-5.

WELLS WINS PRESS GOLF CUP.

"Tribune" "Opie Dilldock" Annexes Second Victory, Defeating B. G. Wyrick by 7 and 6.

William L. Wells [Opie Dilldock] of "The Tribune" won the eighth annual competition for the Hobart Chatfield-Taylor trophy, emblematic of the newspaper championship, defeating Basil G. Wyrick of the Associated Press, 7 up and 6 to play, in the final at the Windsor Golf club yesterday. Wyrick, who was a little bit off his game, lost the first three holes and was five down at the turn. A new cup is donated each year by Mr. Chatfield-Taylor, and yesterday's victory was the second for Mr. Wells, who won at Onwentsia in 1904.

Americans Win 20 Mile Race.

New York, Nov. 4.—The American team of Hans Holmer and William Queal won the twenty mile international foot race tonight at Madison Square garden in the world's record time of 1:29:47, 4:23 4-5 better than the previous mark. The Canadian team of Fred Meadows and Abbie Woods was second and the Swedish team of Gusta L. Jungstrom and John Svanberg third.

DAWSON IS VICTOR IN 200 MILE GRIND

Beats Mulford by Three and One-Half Seconds in Feature at Atlanta.

RACE WON IN LAST LAP.

Ability of Marmon Driver to Take Turn at High Speed Defeats Lozier Pilot.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 4.—Joe Dawson's yellow Marmon car was just 3½ seconds ahead of Ralph Mulford's big white Lozier at the finish of the 200 mile race here today.

The duel between these two began immediately after the hundredth mile. Dawson was then far behind on account of a stop to change tires. "Changing tires" is merely the technical expression for what happened to Dawson. There was no exchange about it, for he stopped at the pits with his right rear wheel entirely devoid of the semblance of a tire, and the iron rim showering sparks as it ground the track.

The Lozier stopped soon afterward to make a real exchange of tires, putting the cars on even terms. Bad luck flattened another of Dawson's tires at the 140th mile, and in the same lap it reduced one of the Lozier tires to ribbons. Thereafter luck kept out of the game and a new element, Mulford's daring, replaced it.

Mulford Holds Full Speed.

The Marmon was running the faster, but on the bad turn of the track, where two drivers have been killed, Mulford with full speed on would shoot ahead of Dawson, who always played the bad corner safe. Dawson waited until there was less than twenty miles to go, and then shoved his car alongside the Lozier. Mulford played the turns desperately for the next few rounds of the course and they went into the last two mile lap with only a few inches separating the noses of their cars.

As they struck the dangerous turn for the last time it was Dawson who took it at highest speed, shooting into a lead which he held to the finish. The time was 2:51:12.73.

At fifty miles scarcely a quarter mile separated the three leading cars. The order was Ralph Mulford's Lozier, Joe Horan's Lozier, and Joe Dawson's Marmon. The time was 42:05.67.

At 100 miles Mulford led by two miles over Dawson, who was in the turn two miles in front of Horan. Both Dawson and Horan had stopped to change tires. The time was 1:28:56.28.

Both Have Tire Trouble.

Both Mulford and Dawson had tire trouble, which put them on nearly even terms at 136 miles. Mulford's lead was only 100 feet over Dawson, with both running seventy-eight miles an hour. Horan was four miles back.

At 150 miles Mulford and Dawson still were running as if hitched together. Both had been stopped again by tire changes, but the break in this bad luck had been absolutely even. Horan was third. The time was 2:11:46.77.

At 175 miles Mulford and Dawson still were together. Dawson took the pace at 182 miles and tried to shake off Mulford, but the Lozier car stuck within fifty feet of Dawson. At 190 miles they flashed past the grandstand tied. Three miles from the finish Dawson shot ahead and went into the last lap 150 yards to the good.

The winner took the Atlanta trophy and $1,000 in cash; Mulford received $500; Joe Horan, who finished third in a Lozier, received $200; Gelnaw, whose F. A. L. car yesterday won the 100 mile race, was fourth, taking a $100 cash prize; and Hughes, in another F. A. L. car, was fifth with $50. There were eleven starters.

Set Two Track Records.

The seven events in addition to the long race were all at ten to twenty miles. Two new track records were set by the E. M. F. at ten miles and the Marquette-Buick at twenty miles.

The meeting will end tomorrow with a 250 mile race as the feature for a $5,000 purse, $3,000 and a trophy going to the winner. Summaries:

IN THE WAKE OF THE NEWS.

BY HEK.

When Greek meets Greek on the wrestling mat Mr. Ed Smith evidently does not purpose being caught in the recoil. Also, being cold and cautious and eminently just, as befits a well schooled sporting gentleman, far be it from Mr. Smith to decide away a fruit stand, a shine parlor or a coat snatching privilege unless he is quite satisfied that the owner of the aforesaid fruit stand, shine parlor or coat snatching privilege stands a fair sporting chance of protecting the same. If it was made part of the duty of every wrestling referee to declare off bets before the bout, as Mr. Smith did in this instance on his own prerogative, we would make a conscientious try at thinking more kindly of this ancient, but not honorable, game.

B. L. T.—And would you mind setting us down closely to wot's abaht "a bale of hay" that all those (mark you, we said "those") American jokewrights from Artemus Ward down, or up, should, and shall, so ravenously swarm on it? We are curious to know, in two heats.

THE WAGES OF SPEED.

They stood by their bated engines
And bowed their heads in prayer,
And the banners were dipped in honor
For one who was not there—
For one who had died as they might
A minute or two from then.
He had wagered his life 'gainst a bauble
Not heeding the how nor when.
There in that chastened moment,
That moment of solemn thought,
Did something arise and ask them,
"And men do those things for what?"

Jack Johnson suffers no more than a slight misery in de hade from the effects of the shower of Casey's odds that saluted him while he inadvertently was riding in a nonunion taxicab. We would like to set the big spade right with the toiling masses by declaring that he is an uncompromising union man and dat brick sholy was misdirected.

Now watch our hero Battling Nelson get as much for fighting Ad Wolgast, the champion, as Wolgast will get for fighting him. But may be of the senile past when it comes to fighting, but he still is in the teeming and virile present when it comes to figures.

KANSAS CITY MAN WINS LONG GAME

J. P. Keyes Defeats Sayles of Chicago in Second Three Cushion Contest Here.

FINAL SCORE IS 50 TO 44.

Players Start Off Slowly, Visitor Finally Overcoming Rival's Early Lead.

Standing of the Teams.

	W.	L.	Pct.		W.	L.	Pct.
New York	4	1	.800	Kansas City	2	3	.400
Pittsburg	2	1	.667	Boston	0	3	.000
Chicago	1	1	.500	St. Louis	0	0	.000
Brooklyn	1	1	.500	Philadelphia	0	0	.000

In a long drawn out contest, which lasted over two hours, J. P. Keyes of Kansas City defeated Fred Sayles of Chicago, 50 to 44, in the second game of the three cushion tournament of the National Billiard league at Mussey's last night. The winner took 122 innings.

Both men were slow at starting, each getting one point in the first ten innings. Sayles was the first to come to life, corralling three caroms in the eleventh inning and following with a brace of three in the twenty-eighth and twenty-ninth innings respectively. He had a lead of three points at the end of the thirtieth inning.

For some time after this he found it hard sledding, while Keyes, gathering an occasional point, caught him and at the fiftieth inning had a lead of three points. Sayles was one point to the good at the end of the eightieth inning.

Keyes Strikes His Stride.

Keyes then caught his stroke and, during the next ten innings, gathered twelve points, getting a nice cluster of five in the eighty-ninth, which proved the high run of the night. The Kansas City player slowed up after this, but Sayles was unable to produce his long looked for spurt and was beaten six points. Scores:

Blumenthal Beats Louderback.

New York, Nov. 4.—[Special.]—William Blumenthal, who represents New York in the intercity billiard tournament, defeated Dave Louderback of Brooklyn tonight. The match was played at the Knickerbocker Billiard academy, in Brooklyn. It attracted a big crowd of enthusiasts, in spite of the weather.

Louderback had won the first game, and it was expected he would manage to win another and the series, but Blumenthal put up a perfect game. He played carefully and continually left the balls safe. The score was 50 to 35.

Blumenthal ran out in eighty-seven innings, and his high run was four. Louderback played eighty-six innings, and his high run was five. The same players will meet in the final game of the series tomorrow night.

In the three cushion tournament at Bruck's rooms last night Hunerbein [50] defeated Fitch [46], 50 to 42.

Play in the Intercity Three Cushion league will start Nov. 10 at Kansas City, when Veteran Bill Riley and Al Wessling will represent Chicago there in the opening series for Jordan Lambert trophy. In addition to Chicago and Kansas City, Minneapolis and St. Louis will be included in the circuit. The Chicago games will be played at Weeghman's rooms, those in St. Louis at Schaefer's, while Ryles will handle the Kansas City end. Ed Semple, formerly of Chicago, will have charge of the Minneapolis team.

KELLY AND CAPONI IN DRAW

Chicago Boys Put Up Fast Twelve Round Bout at Winnipeg, Man.

DECISION IS NOT APPROVED.

Spectators Believe Hugo Has Better of Fight with Opponent.

Winnipeg, Man., Nov. 4.—Hugo Kelly and Tony Caponi, both of Chicago, fought in the windup before the local sporting club tonight, the decision being a draw after twelve rounds of vicious milling. Kelly had the better of the fighting, and the verdict did not meet with general approval, the majority of the spectators believing he should have been awarded the decision.

Kelly did nearly all the leading during the contest, Caponi contenting himself with putting up a defensive battle. In the eighth, tenth, and twelfth rounds Hugo forced the fighting at a dizzy pace, and at the final gong Caponi went to his corner as weary as a fighter ever was.

Caponi put up a game fight. He bore up well under a shower of blows that would have stopped many other fighters, while Kelly was not bothered to any extent by the punches landed by his opponent.

WOLGAST WILL WED ON FEB. 22.

Champion Will Celebrate Winning of Title from Nelson by Taking Unto Himself a Wife.

Cadillac, Mich., Nov. 4.—[Special.]—Ad Wolgast will celebrate the first anniversary of his winning the championship from Battling Nelson, on Washington's birthday, by getting married. His fiancée, Miss Mildred Ensign, has fixed the date. She also is manager of various business enterprises Ad is engaged in here. Their romance began when Ad invited Miss Ensign to go for an auto ride. Shortly afterwards she became manager of Wolgast's vaudeville theater. She is such a thrifty manager that Ad concluded he wanted her for life.

BOWLERS SLUMP AND MISS RECORD

Colonna Team Starts Like a Whirlwind and Dies Down to a Whisper.

GETS AN AVERAGE OF 986.

Art Nicolet of Drexels Does Best Individual Work of Night, Notching 223 2-3.

With the season's record for high team average in sight the Colonna team took the airship route last night up in the Colonna league and stopped short with a 986 series. The team opened up with 1,029 and 1,056, and needed only 926 in their last game to push the Seng's Springs off the top line with their 1,003 2-3 mark, but the side wound up with 873, losing the last game. Strassheim and G. Burkhardt led in the attack on the timber while Buckholz anchored the Beldens, who lost two games.

The Nationals in the Colonna league rolled the second best series of the night with 966 2-3, winning all three games from the Bryn Mawrs. Art Nicolet led in the individual work, with 223 2-3, in the Phoenix league. The Drexels average 965, both of the high marks being records for the league.

Other features of the night were the Centurys' 1,067 game, in the Chicago league, where Gus Steele averaged 210 2-3; Joe Koukel's 215 2-3 series in the Troy league, where he leads by a comfortable margin, and Ned Nelson's 209 1-3 on the Andersons, in the Phoenix. Scores:

Tommy Barrett Knocked Out

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

PARIS, Nov. 4.—Tommy Barrett, the Chicago featherweight, was knocked out in the second round of his first contest in Europe by Marcel Denis, one of the best French featherweights. The match was scheduled for six rounds at the National Boxing club. Denis opened nervous because it was his first meeting with any American. Barrett seemed to be doing all right and was working his useful left, supplemented with right uppercuts. He scored fast in the first round. Then Denis woke up. He rushed in and placed a lucky left hook, catching Barrett on the jaw, and delivered a smashing right hander as his opponent was going down, which completed the sleeping potion.

OUR HUMORIST, MR. BROWNE.

It would be unfair to deprive the state at large of the amusement which may be obtained by reading the following:

I expect—in fact it is reasonably certain—that the vicious, wicked, and merciless warfare waged against me up to date by the "trust press" of Chicago, by the so-called "political machines" of both parties, by the "Legislative Voters' league," to say nothing of some small country papers, will be continued and carried on till the last ballot is cast on election day. I am "in the way" because I have dared to think and act in the interests of the people and against legalized modern piracy at all times, and could not be "used" or "handled" by those forces that are warring against me. Consequently, I am slated for political death, no matter what the cost. LEE O'NEIL BROWNE.

This letter is intended for circulation merely in La Salle county, where it cannot be appreciated, but the rest of the state is entitled to one laugh before it puts on mourning.

THE CHICAGO RIVER BY NIGHT.

Mr. Joseph Pennell could not see the artistic beauties of Chicago. Mr. Henry W. Ranger, the veteran American landscape painter, can. He says "the night effects along the Chicago river are splendid and worthy to inspire any artist." So indeed they are, and the pity is that hurrying Chicagoans do not observe them more closely and appreciate them more highly. Then they could say to visiting artists who complained that they could find nothing worth looking at, "Wait until after dinner and I will show you."

It would not be a long journey, only down—

Where the lamps quiver,
So far in the river.

All that is commonplace, mean, or repulsive about the Chicago river vanishes after nightfall. The dingy smoke, so offensive by day, becomes a veil behind which lie realms of mystery and romance, penetrated for a moment by the throbbing beams of light. The vessels, whether at anchor or moving up and down the stream, are transfigured. By day ordinary dirty vehicles of commerce—coal laden, perhaps—they are given by the spell of night and the flickering lamps the charm of wavering outline and unknown use. For all the eye can tell they may be buccaneering craft or argosies with strange and costly cargoes.

The Chicago river by night has not the sad solemnity of the days immediately after the great fire, when it was bordered by ruins, but it appeals to the imagination in other ways. It is our great scenic triumph. It is as good a nocturne as anything Venice can boast of. We must confess that Chicago is prosaic by day, but night and the river redeem it. If the visiting artist, when introduced to the river, does not fall into raptures, push him "over the brink of it" and let it swallow him up.

SAFETY ISLANDS FOR RUSH STREET.

Rush street from the river to Chicago avenue is a great automobile thoroughfare and will become a greater one. It is the only street connecting the north and south sides which is not incumbered with car tracks.

We have no present ground for hope that the speed mania of the chauffeurs will abate. The faster they go the better pleased are most of their passengers until there is an arrest or a smashup. This determination to "eat up the road" is so furious that we see a taxicab chauffeur firing a shot at and disabling the motorcycle of the policeman who was attempting to arrest him.

Fines do little or no good. There is a strange unwillingness to try the virtues of confinement. There are two things which can be done and ought to be done. One is the better lighting of that part of Rush street which has been mentioned. The obscurity which falls upon the street when the sun has gone down makes an attempt to cross it doubly perilous. The city has made a bargain with the sanitary district by which it gets cheap electricity. Flood Rush street with it to protect life and limb.

The other and more important recommendation is to dot that rapid current of Rush street auto traffic with safety islands. They have made it possible to go from one side of Michigan avenue to the other at certain points without long waiting and without hazard.

Rush street should have safety islands, and they should be installed without delay. They will be more needed in the slippery winter season than they are now. How greatly they are needed now is evidenced by the recent lamentable death of a young woman and by the arrest as the result of special police activity of sixteen lawbreakers in a few hours. They may be fined more or less, but they will be at their old tricks tonight.

THE PROPER COURSE.

State's Attorney Wayman promptly adopted the proper course in answer to the charges filed with the Chicago Bar association by the indicted Browne attorney, Charles E. Erbstein.

Judge Kavanagh, before whom Mr. Wayman immediately laid the matter, was equally prompt in the proper treatment of the case. His appointment of former Judge John Barton Payne as special state's attorney to take charge of the grand jury assures a searching investigation and thorough, fearless prosecution.

Mr. Erbstein and his new associate, McBride, may or may not be prepared for action of this nature, but citizens whose eyes are being opened to the grave conditions threatening the administration of justice in our courts will demand to know at once to what extent corruption, perjury, jury bribing, subornation of witnesses, and conspiracy govern in this county.

NOW YOU SEE IT AND NOW YOU DON'T.

The high hope entertained by the Examiner that Gov. Deneen would yet speak out on the chief issue in Illinois politics, THE INITIATIVE AND REFERENDUM, is fading like the autumnal foliage.—Chicago Examiner editorial.

The real beauty of this bit of campaign "bunk" will not be appreciated unless the reader happens to recall that in the peculiar but instructive document, the Democratic platform, there is no pledge for the initiative. The Democrats who manage the party affairs at present carefully framed the platform with the object of making it sound as loud and mean as little as possible.

The plan of putting in an indorsement for the referendum only and then roaring about the initiative and referendum is as perfect an illustration as any voter needs of the cheap chicanery and insincerity of the Democratic leadership in this campaign.

The Democratic platform did not declare for the initiative because the men who wrote it, manage the party, and hope to fill or control the offices are not for the people. They are against them. They may be Democratic, but they are not democrats.

Can they bunko the thinking Democrat or the independent as easily as they expect?

THE FOREST PRESERVE ACT.

The adoption of the forest preserve act, which was passed by the last legislature and is to be submitted to the voters on Tuesday, will insure the preservation of wooded regions of great natural beauty which should be kept intact for this and succeeding generations. It is called and is a conservation proposition. Communities grow to regret their neglect of natural advantages and then at great cost repair their loss.

Five years ago the effort to secure the regions needed for a metropolitan park district came to a vote, but the act submitted, although given a majority of the votes cast on the proposition, failed because it did not receive a majority of all the votes cast in the election. A better act is submitted this year.

Objections usually are raised to any proposal looking to the establishment of a new taxing body, but restrictions placed in the act guarantee that no appreciable burden will be placed on the district to be created, and the benefits to be derived more than justify the expenditure of money in this way. The proposal should appeal to the sagacity of the voters, and the adoption of the act will commend their foresight.

POOR HANK.

Reliable information comes from Banner township, Fulton county, Forty-third senatorial district, that the Hon. J. H. DeWolf, Democratic member of the house of representatives, friend of Lee O'Neil Browne, and candidate for reëlection, has been scared out of his socks. Hank presents his constituents with pictures of himself and a shack which he modestly calls "my home"—designed to prove that business was very poor at Springfield and that an honest man cannot afford to buy clapboards for his house or stockings for his feet.

To complete the rout of suspicion and the undoing of distrust, Hank hires a poet and they break into song:

From the wilds of Banner township,
With hayseed in his locks,
With a heart devoid of fear
And feet devoid of socks,
Comes the dauntless Cornstalk Statesman.

And in spite of all this the Lewistown Democrat is unkind enough to say that Hank is not even entitled to an honest man's pleasant smile.

WILLIAM BUSSE.

The record which William Busse has made during the nearly eight years of his service as member of the board of commissioners of Cook county should be sufficient to insure his reëlection as its president. Those were years of notable constructive activity. We have a new courthouse and shall soon have the best county infirmary in America. We have a new Juvenile court building, and buildings on the hospital site for children, consumptives, and infectious disease patients. Nor have any of the ordinary functions of the board been neglected. The institutions have been on the whole well managed, and those for the insane at Dunning, soon to be transferred to the state, have been made remarkably efficient.

In all this creditable work William Busse, first as chairman of the finance committee and during the last two years as president, took a conspicuous part. The completion of the courthouse and the Oak Forest infirmary are among the achievements of his administration.

Something yet remains to be done. There must be a new county hospital. The need of it has been felt for years. The county board, wishing to round out its work, has asked the voters to authorize the issue of bonds for $3,000,000. The vote for them should be unanimous. The community has been too long neglectful of its duty to its sick poor.

But when the money is voted we shall need capable and trustworthy men to expend it. We need men who have had the experience of William Busse and his colleagues. They have given what ought to be satisfactory evidence of their ability. As a business proposition the taxpayers of the county cannot afford to dismiss them and put the building of the new county hospital and the management of other county institutions in the hands of untried men of doubtful capacity.

Vote for William Busse and the other men on the Republican county board ticket.

THE PUBLIC POLICY QUESTIONS.

Besides the city hall bond issue of $3,500,000 and the Cook county bond issue of $3,000,000 for the new hospital in connection with the county poorhouse—both of which ought to carry without fail—the "little ballot" will submit to the people of the whole state three questions of public policy.

These questions were raised at the Peoria conference for the restoration of representative government in Illinois, and were there selected from among several reform proposals as the three questions most deserving of present discussion and adoption.

THE TRIBUNE favors all of these proposals, and believes that especially after the revelations of corruption and misrepresentation in Illinois which THE TRIBUNE has taken the lead in making public our readers will probably in the main agree with us that these new checks and safeguards should be adopted in the interest of a more effective and reliable representative machinery.

The initiative, or power of the people to propose and pass laws directly, is the most radical and the most challengeable of these reforms. It should be, and undoubtedly will be, properly limited so as to prevent the misuse by cliques and small bodies of theorists whose enthusiasm, as sometimes under the present system, brings about the passage of laws not really supported by public conviction.

The referendum is a conservative device already in service in restricted form.

As to the extension of the merit system there ought to be no question. It is necessary to efficiency, economy, and independence of public administration. Illinois should be free herself from what Mr. Edgar Bancroft has described vividly as the "political padrone system."

There is no question of the need of a corrupt practices act, limiting the amount to be spent in elections and providing for publicity. This is strictly required in England, but America is wakening tardily to the evils it cures. It is a reform which strikes at electoral corruption and also equalizes the poor candidate and the rich in campaigning.

Wise legislation providing for the initiative and referendum, sweeping civil service laws, and a drastic corrupt practices act will place Illinois politics and government on a considerably higher level.

The elevation is sadly needed.

LISTEN, Mr. Wayman. Lawyer Erbstein seems to be uttering those terrible words: "You're another!"

THANKS to the activity of the candidates in sending out impassioned appeals to the voters, Uncle Sam is doing an enormous business in postage stamps.

WHILE fully appreciating the pleasure and instruction Miss Proctor has given them, many of our best citizens have made arrangements to devote not less than six half hours to the operatic and other stars during every one of these more or less glorious evenings.

IN these dark days it is some comfort to be assured on high bonesetting authority that Mr. Overall's arm is all right for next year.

IF politics is a skin game, it is perfectly legitimate for a campaign spellbinder to "flay" the opposition candidates.

WHEN there is nothing else to occupy the attention of the public, there is always somebody to reopen the vaccination controversy.

OVERZEALOUS policemen should take warning from the fate of that officer who drew a revolver on a woman tenant and was fined two days' pay.

JUST as we were learning how to pronounce "aviation" the word passes temporarily out of use.—St. Louis Times.

Well, how have you learned to pronounce it? With the "t" silent, as in "Budweiser"?

CAPTIOUS persons, of course, find fault with the assertion that Chicago is living "from hand to mouth" in the matter of its coal supply, but is not that figure of speech perfectly correct and appropriate when you talk of a coal "famine"?

ALTON B. PARKER—remember him?—speaks of the "cancer of Rooseveltism." Is Mr. Parker trying to crab the colonel's game, as it were?

A NEW sleeping car has been named "Chicksey," probably in honor of one of Dickens' characters. "Veneering" and "Stobbles" will follow in due time.

IN A MINOR KEY.

Seems Reasonable.

"To settle a dispute," said the caller, "I wish you would tell me what madder is."

"Madder," answered the information editor, "is a pigment the artists use when they wish to produce what is called a riot of color."

Dodging the Question.

Sarah Brum—How do I look in this hat?

Sarah Bellum—Turn around and let me see the back of it, dear. Why, it's perfectly splendid!

Softening It.

Admiral Farragut had just been warned that Mobile bay was planted thickly with torpedoes.

"Geraldine Farrar the torpedoes!" he exclaimed. "Go ahead!"

To save telegraph tolls, however, the expletive was transmitted by the correspondents in its shorter and uglier form.

MARQUISE DE FONTENOY.

[Copyright: 1910: By the Brentwood company.]

GEN. SIR HUGH MACCALMONT, who reached the United States yesterday on the Mauretania, is an Irishman who has often been described, and with justice, as the keenest soldier and the most brilliant sportsman of the British army. There is practically no branch of sport in which he has not had a fling and held his own among the best, and in his younger days was the crack steeplechase rider not only in England but also in Ireland, which is saying more.

As far as soldiering is concerned, he was with Lord Wolseley in the Red river expedition in 1870, and the first man into Fort Garry, where he hoisted the Union Jack. He was with Wolseley again in the Ashanti war, and afterwards was enabled, as military attaché at Constantinople, to go through the entire Turko-Russian war on the staff of Gen. Sir Arthur Kembal, being present at the siege of Kars.

As soon as the fighting there was over he was off to the Zulu war, where he is on record as having captured single handed King Cetewayo's wardrobe, whatever that may have consisted of. A year later he was fighting on the Indian frontier; then back in Africa against the Boers.

In 1882 he took part in the Egyptian war and in the battle of Tel-el-Kebir; also in the unsuccessful expedition of Lord Wolseley for the relief of Gordon at Khartum in 1885. Throughout the Boer war of ten years ago he commanded the Cork district in Ireland, and in 1900 won the grand military steeplechase at Punchestown, just to keep his hand in.

The general is well off, having a couple of picturesque country seats, Mount Juliet at Thomastown, Kilkenny; and Abbeylands in Antrim; while his only son, Dermot MacCalmont, inherited $15,000,000 at the age of 17 from his cousin, Harry MacCalmont, this fortune possessing a particular American interest, having been acquired in this country.

The MacCalmonts, who are of old north of Ireland stock, were originally exporters of linens at Belfast. Making a large consignment to Guyon & Co. of Philadelphia, the latter were unable to settle at maturity, and they accepted in payment a number of shares in the Philadelphia and Reading railroad, then an altogether new enterprise.

Subsequently, Robert MacCalmont and his brother, Hugh, acquired a controlling interest in the road, and they were represented for a number of years by Charles E. Smith, who was president of the line from 1858 to 1869, and whose nephew, T. Guildford Smith of Buffalo, is one of the regents of the University of the State of New York.

It was through their holdings in the Philadelphia and Reading railroad, and afterward through their dealings with the Erie road, that the MacCalmonts acquired their great fortune, which at their death would have gone to their sister's son, the late Lord Cairns, had he not offended them by the legal tangle in which he became involved with an actress, resulting in a sensational cause célèbre.

Their money went, instead, to another of their nephews, Harry MacCalmont, and when he died childless he bequeathed it to Gen. Sir Hugh MacCalmont's young son, Dermot. The widowed Mrs. Harry MacCalmont has a life interest in a part of her husband's estate, which on her death will go to still further swell young Dermot's large fortune.

Mrs. Harry MacCalmont was a Miss de Bathe, a sister, therefore, of Sir Hugo de Bathe, the husband of the former Mrs. Langtry, and sister also of beautiful Lady Crossley, the wife of Sir Savile Crossley.

Sir Saville Crossley, by the bye, reached New York from England two days ago and is staying at the Hotel Belmont. He is the owner of Somerleyton hall, which, lying midway between Lowestoft and Yarmouth, comprises within the limits of the estate the little village of "Blunstone" where David Copperfield was born, and in the churchyard of which his father and mother were buried. The church is exactly as Charles Dickens describes it. But the house with "the little white gate and rows of poplars," which was the supposed scene of David Copperfield's early years, has within the last decade been modernized and done up, much to the disgust of Dickens enthusiasts.

Sir Savile, who is a good looking man, who enjoys the friendship of the present king, and stood high in the favor of Edward VII., owes his large fortune to his membership of the big carpet manufacturing concern of John Crossley & Sons of Halifax, in Yorkshire. It was founded by Sir Savile's grandfather. When he took up carpet weaving the steam loom had just superseded the hand loom in cloth weaving, but nobody had any idea of applying steam machinery to such heavy work as carpet weaving.

Thomas Crossley, who was an entirely self-made man, devoted himself night and day to the question of how to apply steam to carpet weaving. One day a stranger walked into his office and showed him a steam carpet loom which he had just patented. Thomas Crossley saw that it was a good idea, bought the patent rights, and in twelve months had trebled his business.

Within twenty years his family were millionaires. His son, Sir Francis Crossley, was made a baronet, and stood as Liberal member of parliament for Halifax. He was a pillar of the Nonconformist church, which his only son and successor, Sir Savile Crossley, abandoned for the Church of England.

Sir Savile went to Eton and Oxford, distinguishing himself as an all round athlete. He has done a good deal of big game shooting in the Rockies, served as a captain of the imperial yeomanry throughout the Boer war, and is Unionist member of parliament for Suffolk.

Lady Crossley is a tall blonde, who was Miss Phyllis de Bathe, and is a sister of Sir Hugo de Bathe, and a sister-in-law, therefore, of the former Mrs. Langtry. Her sisters are Mrs. Harry Lawson and the widowed Mrs. Harry MacCalmont.

I notice that the soi disant Count Jacques Alexandre von Mourik de Beaufort, who married Miss Irma Kilgallan of Chicago, endeavors to explain away the recently published letter from the editor of the Almanach de Gotha declaring his pretensions to the title of count to be a "hoax," and pointing out that he does not belong either to the Austrian ducal house of Beaufort, whose patronymic is Beaufort-Spontin, or to the English ducal house of Beaufort, whose family name is Somerset, by stating that his title is Dutch. But his name does not appear in any of the standard works in which the nobles of the Netherlands are enumerated, and I would venture to recall to the pseudo "Count Jacques de Beaufort" his encounter some years ago at Bar Harbor with a representative of the then Dutch envoy to the United States on this very subject of his altogether unwarranted assumption of a dignity to which he has no right whatsoever.

It would be well if the present Dutch envoy at Washington, Jonkheer J. Loudoun, were to make some authoritative statement giving official confirmation of the assertion made on several occasions in these letters to the effect that the man's name has no place among the counts of the Netherlands or of Luxemburg. It would be all the more useful, in view of the fact that the secretary of the Dutch legation at Washington is Jonkheer William de Beaufort, who must naturally be annoyed by the constant appeals to popular attention on the part of the notoriety seeking young Dutchman who is making use of his historic name.

"Count Jacques de Beaufort," although claiming to be a subject of the queen of the Netherlands, nevertheless insists that he served for a number of years in the English army, not in South Africa but in England, Egypt, and India. He is probably unaware that aliens are not permitted to enlist in the English army, and that if he has ever served England as a soldier, it can only have been by slipping into one of those corps of irregulars which were hurriedly got together in South Africa during the Boer war and disbanded as quickly as possible. It is certain that he does not belong to the Austrian, French, or Belgian de Beauforts; that there is no count of his name among the Dutch de Beauforts; while he certainly does not belong to the English aristocracy. Why, then, will he persist in using a title to which he has no shadow of a right, and the continued assumption of which is calculated to bring ridicule upon himself and annoyance to the American family into which he has had the good fortune to marry?

Dr. Dubbe's Program Study Class.

After their joyous journey last week through the enchanted primeval forest the ladies of the Program Study Class were prepared to take hold of Dr. Criticus Flub-Dubbe's coat tails for another plunge into the misty mid-region of Debussy. But the Doctor was not in a moonlight mood.

"When we come to analyze this strange language of Debussy's," said he, "we find nothing that is not in the dictionary. For example, here, on page 34 of the piano score, is a chord in C major."

"Great Gunns and Happy Hacketts!" cried Miss Gay Votte. "Debussy uses a chord in C major?"

"For the first entrance of Pélléas. But note how tremendously significant it is. It denotes simplicity, sincerity, nobility. Note, too, that on page 26, where Genevieve sings, 'I know neither her age nor who she is,' the composer very subtly employs parallel fifths and octaves to denote ignorance. On the other hand, what could be more obvious than the pageful of harsh, augmented triads when Golaud drags Mélisande around by the hair?"

"Then there is nothing new even under the French sun?" queried Mrs. Fuller-Prunes.

"Nothing," said Dr. Dubbe. "How simple again is the use of progressing ninths on a whole tone scale to accompany a boatful of departing sailors. I need not multiply instances of this absence of the cryptic."

"Dr. Dubbe clarifies everything so beautifully!" said Mrs. Givu A. Payne.

"Does Debussy use the augmented five-six chord?" asked Poeta. "I am so fond of it."

"Observe it here—on page 27," replied Dr. Dubbe. "A beautiful effect, produced merely by substituting the major for the minor ninth of the upper generator."

"Absurdly simple!" exclaimed Mrs. Evingston.

"Not only is M. Debussy's score simple," said the Doctor, "but, being monochromic, it sounds best, not on an orchestra, but on a one-tone medium—the piano. Our modern dreadnought piano, being built to stand up under Liszt rhapsodies and Mark Hambourgs, is too heavy for it. Ultra modern music demands a subdued instrument. This I regard as the thing of greatest value in the ultra school of music. Anything that makes for the disarmament of the concert dreadnought cannot fail to prove a blessing to humanity."

TRIP OVER ANDES INSPIRING.

BY HERMAN G. JAMES.

[Attaché of the United States delegation to the centenary of Chile.]

With the recent opening of the tunnel piercing the crest of the Andes mountains there was completed a new transcontinental railway uniting anew the Atlantic and Pacific oceans by bands of steel, and traversing in turn the most fertile, the most barren, and the most picturesque portions of South America.

The journey from Buenos Aires, the metropolis of the southern continent on the east, to the Pacific ocean and Santiago, the capital of Chile, on the west, has now become possible for all, where formerly the crossing of the cumbre, or continental divide, was an undertaking always difficult and for the greater part of the year practically impossible.

Leaving Buenos Aires by early train and passing through its suburbs, we immediately reach the great pampas, whose endless stretches of level, fertile prairie land make Argentina so important a factor in the world's grain and cattle markets.

From morning till night the panorama of prairies rushes by. On all sides the same flat stretches, treeless save where some ranger has planted groves of fir or eucalyptus about his farm house. Herds upon herds of cattle speed by and vanish like specks on the horizon. Now and then as a country town is reached the short delay permits a glimpse of one story plaster houses, sometimes in brilliant colors, little plazas with varied flowers, an old cathedral with its tower clock, and swarthy inhabitants in picturesque gaucho costumes.

Then the train again proceeds through the succession of ranches, with cattle, sheep, and horses, and here and there an ostrich farm. In place of wire or rail fences hedges of century plant or cactus marks the boundaries of the farms, while in the towns and villages mud walls serve as division lines.

As the sun sets in splendor over the prairie the foothills of the Andes are yet many miles away. But with early dawn, as the train is nearing the prosperous vine growing region of Mendoza, a faint line of white marks the outlines of the snowcovered Andes. Long before the sun itself appears in the lowlands of the prairies its early rays have lighted up the white crests of the southern giants with a wonderful ruddy glow.

The summits become more distinct as the train continues, and as we reach Mendoza with its thatched houses and mud walls the foothills—no mean mountains themselves—begin to loom up and hide the more distant ranges from view. It is early morning when we come to Mendoza, a prosperous city standing on the spot where, in 1861, 300 years after its first settlement, it was demolished by an earthquake. Here a change is made form the broad gauge road to the narrow gauge mountain road which makes the steep ascent to the height of 10,000 feet and down again on the western side to Los Andes, 2,500 feet above sea level.

Leaving Mendoza and starting in a southerly direction, the train begins the ascent of the foothills, following the course of the Mendoza river, from whose valley are seen splendid views of the foothills and the great Cordillera rising thousands of feet above. Stopping at many little stations and passing through numerous tunnels, the train reaches Cacheuta, the first stopping place in the mountains themselves. Turning now in a northwesterly direction, the road gives a magnificent view of the first range of the Andes, rising to a height of over 14,000 feet. At Uspallata, sixty miles from Mendoza, the road takes a turn to the southwest and, still following the valley of the Mendoza, commences, with the aid of the cog-rail attachment, the ascent to Punta de Vacas at an altitude of 7,000 feet.

The mountain sides are bare and the soft rocks and earth are beautifully toned in somber, reddish browns. Not a trace of green is visible and the white of the snows stands out in striking contrast to the colored soil of the lower mountain slopes.

For the next twenty miles the panorama presents increasingly splendid vistas. The famous natural bridge, Puente del Truca, is seen not far from the railroad. Then suddenly we are met, though only for a minute, with the most imposing spectacle of all. To the north there rises the giant of the Andes, Mount Aconcagua, whose summit towers to a heighth of over 22,000 feet, monarch of all the mountains of this hemisphere. Vanishing as suddenly as it appeared, the inspiring view remains in one's mental vision as the trian completes the ascent to Las Cuevas.

This was formerly the terminal station of the Argentine railroad, where passengers and baggage were loaded on mule back for the trip over the pass 2,000 feet above. But now the railroad proceeds through the new tunnel, crossing the boundary between Argentina and Peru under nearly half a mile of earth and rock, and emerging on the Chilean side of the watershed to commence the rapid descent to the Pacific ocean.

When the western slope is reached the appearance of the mountains changes. Although no less rugged and precipitous, the slopes below the snow line show signs of animal and vegetable life, and the color of the soil is dark in place of reddish brown. Winding about in dizzy curves, along the edge of steep ravines, the train rushes down the sharp incline, first through fields of snow, and then through beds of flowers, to the little mountain town of Los Andes, the western terminus of the narrow gauge road.

The rest of the journey from Los Andes to the Pacific, in familiar American parlor cars, furnishes new delights in the ever changing vistas of the Andes, the scenery of the valley of the Aconcagua and the views of the great central valley of Chile, which, flanked on the east by the Cordillera and on the west by the coast range, stretches hundreds of miles to the south in abundant fertility. At Llaillai the road branches off to Santiago on the south, while the direct line continues its gradual descent to the west and reaches in a few hours the port of Valparaiso.

MEXICAN MUSICAL INSTRUMENT.

The "marimba," an antique instrument, is said to have been found in use among the Indians when the conquerors arrived. It is at the present time in common use in Chiapas and through the southern regions of Mexico; also in Guatemala. It might be compared to an enormous xylophone, but with the metallic sound absent, being made entirely of wood, the body, which rests on four legs, constructed of cedar and the keys of hormiguilla wood, graduated strips of this latter reproducing the different notes, the tones softened and resonated by sounding boxes underneath, sized according to the low or high notes. Gum is used for joining the wood, woolen strings for holding the loose wooden keys on top, and the small vibration holes at the bottom of the sounding boxes are covered with pigskin, waxed to hold it in place. The marimba is played by four men, who strike the keys with what might be likened to diminutive drumsticks, made of hardwood and tipped with rubber.—United States Consular Reports.

BREAKING ZEBRAS TO HARNESS.

There is a big scheme on foot in the Umbobo district, Zululand, for the capture of zebras for domestic purposes. The animals, which are to be broken to harness and saddle, are said to be immune from the ravages of the tsetse fly, and in districts infected with that scourge they should prove much more valuable than either horses or mules. Although the zebra is one of the most difficult of the equine race to break, these beautiful animals are not infrequently seen on the South African veldt running with a span of mules in a transport wagon, while a few years ago one used to see a team of zebras being "tooled" through Hyde Park by a member of the Rothschild family.—Dundee Advertizer.

INHABITANTS OF THE BAHAMAS.

The Bahamas have no descendants now of the Indians whom Columbus found there. They were carried away by the Spaniards to work in mines and pearl fisheries elsewhere, when they were not ruthlessly exterminated. Of the white population many are the descendants of the Loyalists of Georgia and South Carolina who fled hither when the United States became independent. The blacks' speech presents one specially curious feature, they exchange their vs and ws, exactly as the Londoner did when Mr. Weller insisted upon spelling his name with a "We."—London Chronicle.

IN THE RELIGIOUS WORLD.

Plan Mission Jubilee.

Especial effort to secure support for foreign missions will be made in Chicago at the coming jubilee celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the organization of foreign missionary endeavor in the United States. Six hundred dollars will provide for the support of a missionary in foreign fields. Mrs. Andrew MacLeish of Glencoe, who is general chairman of the Chicago missionary celebration, said yesterday the appeal for missionary support would be met generously after Chicago men and women had heard reports from prominent missionary workers who are to be here.

"But little of your money will enable these missionaries to bring the blessings you enjoy to the women of the orient," said Mrs. MacLeish. "Is not this a proposition to be seriously considered? It is made to you by the women in charge of the jubilee meetings, now coming to Chicago, and means $600 will actually support a man or woman in a non-Christian land and give you the satisfaction of feeling that you are operating a force which is bringing in returns for all time.

"Fifty years ago New York women under the leadership of Mrs. Doremus, formed a Women's Union Missionary society, and it is for this reason that women are coming together this fall to celebrate a half century of work just completed. The meetings here will be next Wednesday and Thursday, and it is thought that they will be even more enthusiastically attended than those held at Portland, Seattle, and other western cities.

"Helen Barrett Montgomery, representing the central committee, will speak at the meetings, and those who hear her will find her charming, as she is a woman of striking personality and rare charm; a brilliant lecturer and author, accustomed to addressing large companies and most delightful to listen to.

"Sumner R. Vinton will give at the opening session his specially prepared lecture, 'Western Women in Eastern Lands,' based on the book of the same title, showing the degraded condition of women wherever the gospel is unknown, the social evils of women's lot in Japan, as well as much regarding the child widows of India, polygamy in Africa and elsewhere."

Urge a "World Peace Sunday."

Boston, Mass., Nov. 4.—The American Peace society issued tonight an appeal to the clergy of all Christian churches and to the leaders of all other religious organizations to observe the third Sunday in December as Peace Sunday, and on that date to urge by prayer, song, and sermon "the abolition of war and the substitution of imperative, universal arbitration."

The appeal is signed by James L. Barton, secretary of the American foreign mission board, Boston; Arthur J. Barton, secretary of the Presbyterian foreign mission board, New York; Earl Cranston, Cardinal Gibbons, Bishop Mallalieu of the Methodist Episcopal church, Benjamin Trueblood, secretary of the American Peace society, and many others of as many denominations.

SCHOOLS AND COLLEGES.

Discuss Concrete in Education.

Two thousand teachers belonging to the Northern Illinois Teachers' association, eastern section, assembled at Mandel hall on the University of Chicago campus yesterday to discuss "The Place of the Concrete in Education." The meeting continues this morning but closes at noon today.

Prof. C. A. Bennett of the Bradley institute at Peoria talked on "The Place in Education of the Concrete Study of Materials and Processes—Manual, Industrial, and Fine Arts," in the morning. He explained the supreme importance of the arts in the educative process.

Supt. T. A. Mott of Richmond, Ind., talked on "The Purpose, Plans, and Results in Field Work in a Public School System—Geographical Excursions." Mr. Mott contended to study geography indoors was an extravagant waste of time and energy. "Real laboratory work either in or out of the schoolroom must form the basis of true geography teaching," he said.

Prof. C. A. McMurray of the De Kalb Normal school spoke on "The Place in Education of the Concrete Study of Materials and Processes in Geography, Nature Study, and History."

The afternoon was devoted to excursions to the Field museum, the Art institute, and the Pullman car shops. In the evening a reception was held in Hutchinson commons.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

PROVINCIALISM AND THE OPERA.

Chicago, Nov. 4.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I wonder if it occurred to the well meaning gentlemen of the press who planned and wrote up the reports of the opening of the grand opera season that the net result of their efforts was to make Chicago seem more like Kokomo or Oshkosh than a "great world musical center"?

I am sympathetic with all intelligent attempts to advance the cultural and esthetic interests of the city, but can't we do that without calling upon the world to witness?

Chicago ought to develop its sense of proportion and its sense of humor, so that the provincialism of the small town should be replaced by the dignity of a metropolis. You often publish amusing accounts of social or musical events from small town newspapers. But, believe me, the Podunk Palladium has nothing on us.

How long is Chicago to remain the Bird Center of "world metropolises"? It is largely up to her press to answer that question.

"GRANDFATHER" CLAUSE IN OKLAHOMA.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Nov. 1.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—In your fair comments in your editorial on Oct. 31 on "The Grandfather Clause," you do not get the whole case. That law is not to "disfranchise the negro," but such negroes as cannot read a section or portion of the constitution of Oklahoma "to the satisfaction of the election board." It is the "ignorant negro," you see. Quite a large element here from Arkansas, southern Missouri, and other southern states would find it bad medicine for them, for many of them—Democrats all—can neither read nor write. It is bad enough as it is; don't make it worse.

STREET SIGNS AND POLITICS.

Chicago, Nov. 3.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I went out on Milwaukee avenue today and the names of the streets were entirely covered by placards asking us to vote for several different men for some juicy office in the city or the county. What's the use of putting up the street names if any one is allowed to cover them up? Something ought to be done about it.

THWARTED CITIZEN.

CHURCH AND STATE IN PORTUGAL.

Brooklyn, Ia., Nov. 2.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—In your editorial of Monday, Oct. 31, you made the statements, "The provisional government of the republic of Portugal has not made any mistakes thus far. The men who control it have not acted wildly after the fashion of idealists intrusted with power, but have shown themselves eminently practical."

In the provisional government's announced program one of the leading points is the expulsion of the religious orders, and the confiscation of their properties. The members of these orders are no doubt citizens of Portugal; hence it is not only a mistake but an injustice to expatriate them and confiscate their homes and properties. The self-constituted heads of the provisional government of Portugal have ordered thousands of its citizens to leave their homes and country within twenty-four hours. This order was issued without any authority from either a constitutional assembly or a parliament. If such acts render their authors "eminently practical," they certainly merit that title.

DENEEN OUTLINES THE LIVE ISSUES

Says Party Cannot Be Diverted from State and County Principles at Stake.

INDORSES FULL TICKET.

Points to Records of Men in Office and Those Candidates for the First Time.

"The Republican party will define its issues and name its candidates for municipal offices in Chicago at the mayoralty campaign next spring, but for the present the party will not be diverted from the national, state, and county issues which are to be settled next Tuesday."

Gov. Deneen in this declaration replied to the attacks of the Democratic campaign speaking squadron, which has made its county ticket fight on the basis of the flying charges which have been made from time to time against the city hall and the present Republican municipal administration.

The governor made this statement in three speeches delivered in the Lake View wards last night, and he further shot back at the allegations of the Sullivan-Hearst speaking batteries that he would make no indorsement of the county ticket by giving his reasons for the support by good citizens of the entire Republican county ticket.

Points to City Improvements.

He also said that there is no reason for answer to the unsupported charges of the villifiers of the city administration. He points to the improved conditions of the street car service, the discipline of the police, and the improved condition of the streets and public buildings.

Gov. Deneen referred particularly to the Supreme court decision in the Illinois Central case as one of the results of Republican administration. He said in part:

"Some Democratic orators and newspapers have been urging me to speak about the county ticket, and I am pleased to do so. Two years ago Democratic speech makers and newspapers and those who already had entered into a coalition with them conducted a campaign of unparalleled misrepresentation and abuse against me, wherein the good faith of everything I had attempted was questioned and everything I had done was belittled. Even until last week many such papers and persons throughout the state have stated that the prosecution of the Illinois Central case was not made in good faith and that the appropriation I had received for its conduct had been doled out to build up and strengthen a political machine.

"The truth is that not one cent of the appropriation made to me was expended in any other way than to the firm of certified accountants who made the investigation upon which the suit was based.

"The decision of the Supreme court last week not only answered these charges, but it is a characterization of the slanderous statements which have been circulated throughout the state regarding the matter.

Calls Municipal Court Model.

"First, an attack is made upon the Municipal court. In this court criminal and civil trials are more speedily and successfully handled than anywhere else in the world, a fact due to the simplification of pleadings in all classes of case which has been accomplished under the rules of the court. Its business also is conducted with the strictest economy. The Municipal court system first adopted here, has been adopted by the city of Cleveland, O.

"Every one of the recent sitting judges of the Municipal court was renominated, and the vote of the Bar association of Chicago upon the merits of the candidates for Municipal judges in all parties favored their re-election.

"The sitting judges of the Superior court with one exception were renominated at the Republican primaries and the judgment of the lawyers and the Bar association, which carefully investigated all judicial candidates for the Superior court, likewise approved the work of each one of these nominees and favored his reelection.

Lauds Work of Sanitary Board.

"The trustees of the sanitary district of Chicago have not escaped in this general onslaught of abuse. The board of the sanitary district of Chicago has made a notable administration. It has been clean, economical, and efficient. It has managed the details of the business with scrupulous care. It has developed the water power and has made contracts with Lincoln park, the west parks, the city of Chicago, the city of Blue Island, and other municipalities under which a revenue has been created from one of the byproducts of the Chicago sanitary canal, whose increasing amount will flow steadily and perpetually back to the taxpayers from whom large sums were levied to build the canal.

"The board of county commissioners has not escaped the maledictions of these gentlemen. The large concerns in the county have been managed with economy, and it has been only through the greatest skill and economy in administration that the amount of funds which can be collected under the law have been made to cover the necessary expenditures of this great county.

"Haas' Record Is Enough."

"Joseph F. Haas, present county clerk, is a candidate for reelection. The record of his office is his best recommendation. The work of this office is among the most difficult and intricate to be found in any of the county offices. It has been conducted by Mr. Haas with efficiency.

"Thomas J. Healy is candidate for county treasurer. He is trustee of the sanitary district of Chicago. He is in charge of one of its most responsible committees and deserves high commendation for the work he has done there. His ability and character cannot be successfully questioned. The pledges which he has made will be kept.

"Frank A. Vogler, candidate for sheriff, has been in the public service for a number of years and has acquitted himself in each department with which he has been connected with high credit. He is thoroughly equipped by character and experience for the very important duties of the shrievalty office in this county.

"John Kjellander, candidate for clerk of the Criminal court, as city sealer of Chicago, has attracted the attention of the country to his work. He has been indefatigable in attention to the duties of his office.

Other Candidates Are Praised.

"Guy Guernsey, clerk of the Probate court, is a candidate for reelection. His work in that office is his best commendation. His administration of the office has been above reproach.

"Oscar Hebel, candidate for assessor, and Florus D. Meacham, candidate for member of the board of review, are candidates for reelection. They have performed the important duties connected with the taxing offices in this county with intelligence and fairness.

"The Republican candidates for the offices of judge of the County court and judge of the Probate court have conducted the vast affairs of this county with such care and skill, intelligence and uprightness, that the Chicago Bar association at its primary supported the candidacy of both by a practically unanimous vote."

WARNS SALOONS OF VOTE LID.

Steward Notifies Owners He Will Attack Licenses if They Open Election Day.

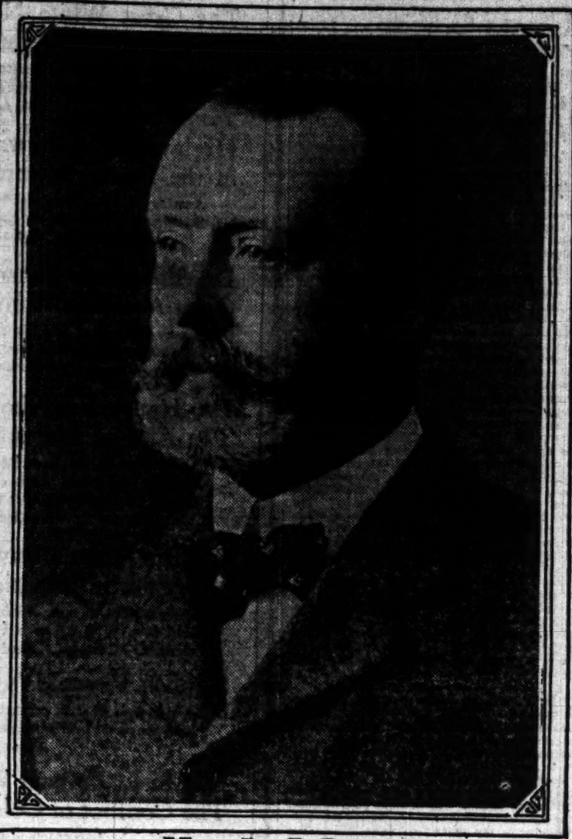

Chief of Police Steward yesterday ordered all commanding officers to notify saloonkeepers that he will urge the revocation of the licenses of saloons that do not remain closed on election day.

"The understanding with the mayor when he issues a saloon license," said the chief, "is that the saloon shall be kept closed on all election days. If they are not the proprietors commit a breach of faith that cannot be too severely disciplined."

It was said that Mayor Busse is entirely in accord with the chief on this point.

Hugh J. Grant.

Born in 1855. Died Nov. 3, 1910.

Hugh J. Grant.

Hugh J. Grant, who died in New York on Thursday, was twice mayor of New York, from 1888 to 1892. He first became noted politically in 1883 when he as an alderman stood out against a street railroad steal and refused a bribe of $200,000. Previous to being elected mayor he was sheriff of New York county. He declined the leadership of Tammany, but in 1897 conducted Robert A. Van Wyck's successful mayoralty canvass. After his retirement from active politics he became connected with large corporate affairs and was appointed by the United States Circuit court as receiver for the Third Avenue railroad company. Mr. Grant was a graduate of the Columbia Law college and also attended a university in Germany. He married a daughter of United States Senator Edward Murphy Jr.

PUT 'EM UP? TAKES 'EM DOWN

Citizen Asks Candidates to Remove Own Posters.

SAYS THEY LOSE VOTES.

One Improvement District Is Free of Campaign Signs.

Will the zealous candidates who have plastered their flattering likenesses and advertisements in disfiguring blotches on the face of the city remove them when the campaign is over?

This question was raised yesterday by E. C. Wentworth, president of the South Central improvement association, who believes that it is the least they can do by way of reparation.

Tear the Signs Down.

Mr. Wentworth has solved the problem of political posters in his own neighborhood. The improvement association, of which he is the head, employs ten men as street cleaners, and these have been instructed to tear down every placard, political or of any other variety, that appears in the district. The same thing has been done by several other improvement associations.

The loop district, however, has no such volunteer protector, so Mr. Wentworth suggests that next Wednesday each candidate who has broken the laws and defaced the city by his self-advertisements, should get out with a staff of workmen and tear down his own posters.

"The candidates would benefit if they would tear them down now," he said. "They are simply a waste of money and a misdirection of energy. I am positive that no one will vote for a man because he has seen his picture on a lamp post, and I am equally certain a large number of men will vote against candidates who demonstrate daily before election that they are lawbreakers.

Lose Votes by Methods.

"Many persons have spoken to me about it and stated that they were going to vote against this man or that because he was resorting to a lamp post campaign. There are about 200 improvement associations in the city with about 30,000 members. These men are being put to expense to tear down the posters. Will that make votes?

"I cannot understand the action of the police department. The only excuse offered is that enforcement of the ordinance would offend certain politicians. Such an excuse might be given for nonenforcement of any ordinance. It is neither a logical nor a legitimate excuse. The public should demand that ordinances be enforced regardless of who is hit."

Mrs. Ella S. Stewart to Speak.

Mrs. Ella S. Stewart will speak on "Method of Work and Organization" at the regular meeting of the Chicago Political Equality league this afternoon at the Fine Arts building. Miss Jennie Johnson will discuss "Suffrage News" and Dorothy Dix will give "Something of Her Own."

PREDICT VICTORY FOR REPUBLICANS

State Leaders Say Reports Indicate a Plurality of Fifty Thousand for Ticket.

30,000 COUNTY ESTIMATE.

Business Men of City Urged to Vote for the Re-election of R. R. McCormick.

Republican state, congressional, and county leaders closed the campaign last night with the general prognostication that it is to be a Republican victory next Tuesday all along the line.

Chairman Roy O. West of the Republican state committee figures nothing short of a 50,000 plurality for the state ticket. At congressional headquarters Chairman William B. McKinley can see no chance of a loss of a congressional seat from Illinois, with the prospect that a Republican may defeat Congressman Foster, the Democrat in the Vandalia district.

From Republican county headquarters Chairman Charles W. Andrews issued a statement in which he and the executive committee claim the election of the entire Republican county ticket by pluralities averaging 30,000.

Chairmen Give Good Reports.

These are all Republican claims and are based on what the respective chairmen said were the final statistics based upon accurate information.

At congressional headquarters the assurance had been received during the day that difficulty in the Rodenberg district had been smoothed over, and that Chapman had made no appeal for help. All other downstate districts were claimed as safe, and no fear was expressed regarding the Chicago districts, the reports which came from county headquarters having been sufficiently reassuring to indicate a large enough general lead for the Republican ticket in the county to carry along districts which naturally have been considered danger spots.

The speaking campaign will close tonight. Tomorrow there will be meetings in some of the foreign wards and Monday will be handed over to the organization workers in getting ready for election day.

Expect a Large Plurality.

Chairman Andrews had this to say of the situation, after reports had come into the executive committee from over the county:

"From information we have from the canvass and general attendance at the meetings the committee expects to see the Republican ticket elected with pluralities ranging from 30,000 to 45,000.

"The Democratic hope depended on the false issue charging the higher cost of living to the tariff bill. The Republican party has shown that the present tariff is in no way responsible. Inasmuch as the voters now understand the issues, we feel justified in believing that the majority of the voters are going to support the Republican party, this being the party that has brought prosperity, high wages, and an unexampled opportunity to procure employment."

Indorse Candidacy of McCormick.

The candidacy of Robert R. McCormick for reelection as president of the sanitary district of Chicago was supported by representative interests connected with the board of trade. Mr. McCormick received the following indorsement from members of the board of trade and the stock exchange:

"We believe the reelection of Robert R. McCormick as president of the sanitary district is of sufficient importance to arouse the interest of every business man.

"He has set a standard in the conduct of public office which all good citizens should indorse. We earnestly ask you to vote for Mr. McCormick at the coming election and see that your friends do likewise.

Democrats and "Bogy Man."

William A. Northcott, former lieutenant governor of Illinois and now United States district attorney at Springfield, addressed a Republican meeting at night at Blue Island, in which he discussed the case of the Democratic fight on the tariff. He said:

"It always has been the practice of the Democratic party to put up some 'bogy man' with which to arouse the prejudices of the people and behind which to make a covert attack on the great principle of protection to American labor. While it is true that the Democratic party stands for free trade, yet so well do they know that the American people will never turn their backs on the great principle of a protective tariff that they always make their attack by indirect methods.

"In 1896 they attempted to force free silver by making Mark Hanna the 'bogy man.' Now Uuncle Joe Cannon is made the 'bogy man.' They call him the czar.

"It is possible that some of the tariff schedules may be wrong, but the last congress wisely provided for a tariff commission with power to make full investigation and report the changes needed from time to time."

DEMOCRATIC PARTY'S RECORD SHY ON CONSTRUCTIVE LAWS.

Former Attorney General of Wisconsin Attacks History of Organization at Big Rally of Marquette Club.

The Democratic party, state and national, through the sum total of the years of its existence and through each individual year, from stem to stern and from garret to cellar, was attacked by Emmet R. Hicks, former attorney general of Wisconsin, at the Marquette club's big Republican rally at North Side Turner hall last night. Mr. Hicks wasn't alone in assailing the Democrats but was ably aided by E. H. Batten, president of the Marquette club; Guy Guernsey, Frank Vogler, Frederick H. Gansbergen, Oscar Hebel, and Frank Hamlin.

"The Democratic party in all the years of its existence and when it was in power hasn't put through a real piece of constructive legislation," declared Mr. Hicks. "If there's a Democrat here let him stand and answer.

"Silence!

"Now, what we need is a strong Republican congress. The Republican administration has brought suit to dissolve the Standard Oil company and the great tobacco trust. The case rests with the Supreme court. If that court holds with the lower courts these two great monopolies will be dissolved. If the court holds that the statutes are not sufficient we must have a party in power, a congress that will frame new and broader laws.

"Send down to Washington Republicans to carry out the progressive policies of the Republican party—not Democrats to harass and obstruct. You have a Republican president, now send Republican congressmen to uphold him and to redeem the pledges given by the party."

Mr. Ganstergen announced himself as in favor of a tariff commission to undertake a revision of the tariff. The other speakers took up the local campaign issues.

ISSUES CHALLENGE TO DENEEN IN WATERWAY CONTROVERSY.

Congressman Rainey Asks Governor to Debate on Subject—Sullivan Replies to Jones.

Congressman Henry T. Rainey challenged Gov. Deneen to a debate on the waterway question as the climax of a bitter speech before a Democratic massmeeting at Hodcarriers' hall, Green and Harrison streets, last night.

The exposures by the governor of the imported spellbinder's real subrosa alliances in the waterway matter evidently had its effect and stimulated the violent effort at justification. He condemned seriatim almost every action ever taken by the governor or R. R. McCormick with regard to the canal, or where condemnation was impossible insisted the credit ought to go to some one else. He insisted that the usefulness of the drainage board is ended and that it ought to be abolished.

The Democratic county central committee held a final preelection meeting in the afternoon at the headquarters in the La Salle hotel. Chairman McCarthy predicted that the Democrats would carry the county by 30,000. Fifty-three meetings will be held by the Democrats tomorrow, eighteen massmeetings and thirty-five ward club meetings.

L.V.L. GIVES VOTERS THEIR FINAL TIPS

Urges "Plumping" System as Way to Defeat Unfit Legislative Candidates.

REPORTS ON DISTRICTS.

"Boss" McLaughlin and "Bathroom Bob" Shown as Dangerous Men.

In an official statement issued yesterday by the Legislative Voters' league, particular attention is directed to legislative candidates in districts where it is held that there is a chance to defeat notoriously unfit candidates.

The "plumping" system in such districts for desirable candidates is earnestly advocated over the signature of Clifford W. Barnes, president, and Harry L. Bird, general secretary of the league.

Districts Are Pointed Out.

The particular districts to which reference is made in the final bulletin of the L. V. L. relates to the following districts:

Nineteenth—Voters urged to plump for Frank G. Smith, independent, in effort to defeat "Boss" McLaughlin, Democrat, or C. A. Schumacher, Lorimer Republican.

Twenty-first—All the force of the plumping will have to be used to elect Christopher McGurn over Fred Erickson, Republican, or B. M. Mitchell, Democrat.

Sixth—Voters advised to vote for Dudley G. Hays as a possibility of defeating "Bathroom Bob" Wilson, Democrat.

Fourth—Joseph Ambros, Socialist, commended to defeat George C. Hilton, Democrat.

Fifteenth—Henry Wilmen, Socialist, commended in effort to defeat John O. Hruby, Democrat.

Twenty-fifth—Carl Strover, Socialist, suggested as proper candidate to retire Charles L. Fieldstack, Republican.

In the Thirty-first district, where there is a situation which differs from others, in the viewpoint of the L. V. L., voters are urged to vote for Leland P. Smith on the Democratic ticket rather than to give any assistance to John C. Werdell. Two Democrats are nominated in this strongly Republican district.

Report Made by League.

The report of the league, as expressed in its final bulletin, in part follows, after demonstrating the "plumping" possibilities which are given to the voters next Tuesday:

"The voters of the Nineteenth senatorial district who prefer the Rev. Frank G. Smith, independent, to "Boss" McLaughlin or Representative Schumacher, can greatly increase Mr. Smith's total vote and his chance of election by casting all their three votes for him; that is, by making a cross in the square opposite his name. But in the Thirteenth senatorial district, where there is an independent candidate for state senator, Mr. Paulson, a voter can give him only one vote.

"In the Sixth senatorial district 'Bathroom Bob' Wilson has a good chance, as the sole Democratic house nominee, to get back with straight party votes, each of which will count three for him. This makes it necessary for the aroused voters of the Sixth, who are supporting Dudley G. Hays to beat Wilson and working for cleaner politics, to use the cumulative system also and give all their three votes to Hays, whose name will appear in the Prohibition column.

"Friends of good government in all districts are urged to get a clear idea of the cumulative plan and 'plump' for men they know are worthy instead of scattering their votes while the politicians concentrate."

BOGUS VOTERS SUMMONED IN THE REDFIELD CONTEST.

Women Witnesses Tell of Men Who Falsified in Giving Addresses for Registration Purposes.

Men who have admitted voting under names other than their own at the primaries in the First congressional district have been subpoenaed as witnesses in the contest brought against Robert Redfield, Democratic state committeeman, by Edward G. Stenson, a defeated candidate.

The hearing was resumed yesterday before Judge Rinaker. Witnesses were called to show that men whose names appeared on the registry books did not live in the precinct in which their names appeared on the books.

A number of lodging house keepers, including Miss Anna Odell, 2128 Indiana avenue, were questioned. Miss Odell was asked regarding Louis Hatcher. She said that in the four months she had lived at that address no one by the name of Hatcher had lived there.

Mrs. Alice Gaffney, 14 East Thirteenth street, testified that Frank Sullivan left her house in June, and had not been there since. The hearing was continued until 10 o'clock Monday.

Among the New Books

Elihu Vedder's Autobiography.

BY JEANNETTE L. GILDER.

A VOLUME of reminiscences of more than usual interest is "THE DIGRESSIONS OF V." (Houghton, Mifflin company), in other words Elihu Vedder reminiscences, which he says on the title page was "written for his own fun and that of his friends." Also on the title page is a synopsis of the contents of the volume, which he sums up as "being a portrait of himself from youth to age."

Mr. Vedder decided to be his own Boswell because of the importunities of his friends, and for once friends were right in urging a man to write a book. Very often when a book is introduced with the remark that the author was induced to write it because friends asked him to, we may prepare for something that the world would willingly let die. It is not so in the case of Mr. Vedder. His friends knew what they were about when they urged him to write this book. It is quite unconventional, as Vedder's art work is certainly unconventional. It is full of illustrations, all, of course, from his own pen, or pencil, as the case may be.

When I first knew Mr. Vedder he was living in New York, or if he was not living there, he exhibited there, and was frequently seen on the streets and at the houses of friends. His first great success was made with the illustrations of the Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam. Some time after the appearance of this book he went abroad to live and lived in Rome or Sicily for many years.

After studying hard in this country, Vedder went to Paris in 1856. He had a new gold watch, a new trunk and a pocket well supplied with money. His father saw him off and told him to be careful and particularly to avoid duels. As it happened he came near fighting a duel almost the first day he was in Paris. He does not seem to have been as much impressed by Paris, its manners and its morals, as are most art students.

I don't know that I look back on that eight months' stay in Paris with unmingled satisfaction, nor do I remember its moral effects—at least I did not get an impression of much morality, but well remember that I cut a wisdom tooth there which I have to this day. Strange how we change both in body and mind, and yet how a wisdom tooth will linger in the system unchanged.

In Paris, of course, he lived in the Latin quarter. He writes:

The grisette was still alive in my day, and I believe (much as things have changed) is now as lively as ever. You will find all about her in Trilby. This little drawing may have been Trilby, only her name was Clara, and perhaps Ben may have been Little Billee. You must ask Ben—or perhaps you had better not. It is too long ago; a dream which I will leave "undeveloped." Rhodes was a kind of Svengali. He was also the rich one of the party. I have forgotten to say that Ben, having a few words more of French than the rest of us, did the translating and became at once a proficient in French—Latin quarter French.

Italy seems to have made a greater impression upon Vedder than France. He liked its art, he liked its atmosphere, he liked its ways altogether. That is probably why he returned to his old love in later life.

He spent four years abroad and then he came back to New York. When he came back we were engaged in the civil war. Of the friends he found in New York there was Kate Field: "Through her and her good Aunt Corda the doors of society were thrown open. Milton Sanford, Aunt Corda's husband, was a fine, generous fellow and disposed to help me, and he did so when I was discovered; but being a fierce Copperhead, as they were called in those days, my out-and-out union sentiments offended him past remedy."

Kate Field "was the first woman of charm and intellect I had seen, and her bright smile and hearty laugh, combined with her innate refinement, quite bowled me over—and then I felt a strong inclination to live up to her level, but never could."

Mr. Vedder's book is full of anecdotes of the famous men and women whom he knew. He tells of the celebration of the 100th night of the "Taming of the Shrew" at Daly's:

It was broad daylight when we were through with it, and I was tired. I sat next John Drew, and through him was spared making a speech, as all the rest did. The whole table was one vast round bed of flowers, and the guests included all the talent of New York, and even some from surrounding towns. I am always dull, and so I wondered why Gen. Sherman interrupted so frequently, until it dawned on me that he was toastmaster and had to. I don't remember his own speech. There was that noble, ruined tower, tottering to its fall—Lester Wallack; he rose and said that there had been some talk of a falling mantle; if he had a mantle and it must fall, he could think of no worthier shoulders upon which it could fall than those of his friend, Augustin Daly. This was said with such manly sincerity that, by Jove! I was inclined to believe it. Of course Mark Twain was there. He told of the difficulty of approaching such a great man as Daly on account of his faithful Irish henchman who kept out intruders. This Irish porter and his big dog proved an insurmountable barrier until he praised the dog and said he was presiding as judge at a bench show; then the porter and the dog were all smiles, and he was shown at once into the presence. I think Mark Twain, having a sense of humor, would be the first to admit that he made a long story of this. Then the beloved of all—Willy Winter, and the dear Mrs. Gilbert, and almost all the others. But the best—and also the shortest—speech of all was that of Ada Rehan. She rose—she has presence—and laying her hand on her breast said with great emotion, and that clear enunciation which is so delightful: "My friends, I know you will forgive me; I cannot speak; my heart is too full." If this was acting, it was such good acting that I believed every word of it. And so home and to bed by daylight, mighty tired.

Mr. Vedder has made a beautiful book and certainly original. He apparently attended to the typographical arrangement himself, for it is artistic and characteristic—just the sort of a book one would expect Mr. Vedder to write and to publish.

Lady Dorothy Nevill has written another book, her first one, published four years ago, having been such a success. "UNDER FIVE REIGNS" this one is called (Lane), and if it is not quite as interesting as her first book it is interesting enough and is full of good stories and reminiscences of well known people. Lady Dorothy has lived to a ripe old age. I have just turned to the pages of "Who's Who" to find out when she was born, but the secret is well kept by the editors of that informing volume, but from what she tells us it is easy to guess that she came into the world shortly after the beginning of the last century. Quite as interesting as the anecdotes of famous men and women are the pictures she paints of the contrasts between her early days and the present:

The increase of extravagance as regards ladies' dress and personal expenses may be realized from a comparison of the allowances made to girls sixty or seventy years ago and the sums they are permitted to spend today. When my sister and I first came out our father gave her £50 a year, and to me, the younger, £6. My mother spent on dress, etc., about £800, which was then considered ample dress expenditure for the wife of a peer such as my father, who was a rich man according to the standard of those days, and even today would not have been considered a poor one.

At that time, when a man married a rich heiress, it was the usual thing for him to take command of all her money, out of which he could make her an allowance, which arrangement more or less continued to prevail till the passing of the married woman's property act some twenty-eight years. The majority of husbands however, who made such matches were generous enough to their wives (out of their own money), but in certain cases they gave the poor woman hardly anything at all. In modern days this situation is only too often exactly reversed, for numbers of wives now spend their husband's money, whilst an impecunious man married to a rich heiress is not infrequently reduced to something the status of a first footman.

Queen Victoria, as a young woman, was always simply dressed: "At a great ball given in her honor at Stafford house, the duchess of Sutherland, glittering with diamonds, wore a most magnificent dress, whilst the queen went in a simple muslin embroidered in colors, and on shaking hands with the duchess she said, 'I come from my house to your palace.'"

Of men of letters, Lady Dorothy knew Tennyson, Thackeray, Lytton, and Matthew Arnold, and among women of letters, Ouida. Of Lord Byron she tells this anecdote:

Lord Byron, when he first dined with Mr. Rogers, the banker-poet, to whose breakfasts I have been when a girl, was asked if he would take soup. "No; he never took soup." Would he take some fish? "No; he never took fish." Presently he was asked if he would eat some mutton. "No; he never ate mutton."

Mr. Rogers then asked him if he would take a glass of wine. "No; he never tasted wine." It was then necessary to inquire what he did eat and drink, and the answer was: "Nothing but hard biscuits and soda water." Unfortunately neither hard biscuits nor soda water were at hand; and he dined upon potatoes bruised down on his plate and drenched with vinegar. Some days after, meeting Hobhouse, Rogers said to him: "How long will Lord Byron persevere in his present diet?" He replied, "Just as long as you continue to notice it." Rogers subsequently ascertained that Byron, after leaving his house, had gone to a club in St. James' street, and eaten a hearty meat supper.

At one time Lady Dorothy used to see a great deal of Ouida, who, she says, was at heart a pessimist, especially concerning the Victorian era. "On the occasion of the jubilee in 1887 she sent me a card on which were the following lines, entitled 'Jubilee Epitaph':

Full half a century of measures small,
Weak wits, weak words, weak wars, and that is all.
Ouida.

"Her severe judgment of a period remarkable for many great and many splendid achievements can have merely been prompted by feelings of depression which, in this instance, certainly obscured her judgment."

A unique book is published by Houghton, Mifflin & Co. called "OUR HOUSE AND THE PEOPLE IN IT," by Elisabeth Robins Pennell. The house of which she writes I happen to know. It was in Buckingham street, Strand, down by the embankment. There were some apartments and some offices in the house. The apartment that the Pennells had had been occupied at one time by a well known English artist, whose name escapes me at the moment. The house looks like hundreds of other old houses in London devoted to business or other purposes. There is no door attendance; you enter and climb. At the top was the door with the Pennells name on it; you rang the bell and were admitted into one of the most attractive apartments that it has ever been my good fortune to see, and the view of the Thames from the windows, especially at night, was enough to inspire any artist, as it has often inspired Mr. Pennell, for some of his best known pen sketches have been made from the sights and scenes that he beheld from his windows. I did not see the Pennells the last time I was in London, I regret to say, but I heard that they had moved from the Buckingham street house. I am sorry, for it will be hard to find anything more picturesque than No. 14 and its surroundings. Right opposite it Anthony Hope had rooms that he visited every day at a certain hour to do his writing. At about 10 o'clock in the morning he was often seen going in with a little black bag in his hand, and early in the afternoon you could see him come out with the same bag. No one was supposed to know about this retreat, but sometimes he would ask a friend to meet him there if business was to be discussed, but, like the late Marion Crawford, he wrote so many hours a day whether or no, for he urges, I believe, that writing, like any other business, is a matter of habit.

If you want to read about a daring and slangy young Texan who went to a South American state on the most romantic of errands—the rescue of a deposed president from prison where his enemies had placed him—with a beautiful señorita and some fiery Latin-Americans thrown in, get "Blaze Derringer," by Eugene P. Lyle (Doubleday, Page & Co.). A romance it is, after the style of O. Henry, with a touch of Richard Harding Davis. Plenty of cheek, plenty of nonchalance, and all kinds of slang is what Mr. Lyle gives you in his hero. If you like that sort of thing, this is the sort of thing you like.

ELIHU VEDDER BY THE SEXTES

Elihu Vedder, the veteran artist, has written a quaint book of his long acquaintance with famous men and women in America and Europe. Incidentally he tells a great deal of his own life and achievements in the field of art. Mr. Vedder has lived in Rome and elsewhere in Italy for many years.

Primitive Modes of Healing.

BY PEARL F. GODFREY.

CERTAIN historic modes of healing, including the use of medical amulets and charms, which have been regarded from early times as magical remedies, belong properly to the domain of psychical medicine, pronounces Robert Means Lawrence, M. D., in his new book "PRIMITIVE PSYCHO-THERAPY AND QUACKERY." (Houghton, Mifflin & Co.)

His preface thus crystallizes the many interesting pages that are to follow: "The therapeutic virtues of medical amulets are not inherent in these objects, but are due to the influence exerted by them upon the imaginative faculties of the individuals who employ them. They afford powerful suggestions of healing. In this volume the writer has sought to emphasize the fact that the efficiency of many primitive therapeutic methods and the success of charlatanry are to be attributed to mental influence.

"The use of spells and incantations, the practice of laying on of hands, the cult of relics, mesmerism, and metallic-therapy have been important factors in the evolution of modern mental healing. The method of their operation, a mystery for ages, is revealed by the word suggestion. Thus may be traced some of the steps in the development of psycho-therapy. One ruling force, namely, the power of the imagination, has always been the potent therapeutic agent, whether in the word of command, in medical scripts, or in the methods of quackery."

First Dr. Lawrence thoroughly reviews, then analyzes the use of amulets or charm magic. Such, he says, have been and often are efficient psychic remedies for functional affections, in direct proportion to the user's faith in them. "A certain sense of mystery seems essential. Given that and plenty of confidence, and it matters not whether the inscriptions are biblical verses, unintelligible jargon, or even invocations of the devil."

The Roman writer, Quintus Seremus Sammonicus, author of "Carmen de Medicina," is said to have recommended as a cure for quartan ague the placing of the fourth book of the Iliad under the patient's head.

A paragraph taken by the writer from John Atkins' "The Navy Surgeon; or, A Practical System of Surgery," is worth requoting. In 1737 Mr. Atkins wrote advising that medical amulets, when used, be adapted to the patients' imaginations: "Let the newness and surprise exceed the invention, and keep up the humor by a long roll of cures and vouchers. By these and such means many distempers, especially of women, who are ill all over, or know not what they all, have been cured more by a fancy to the physician than by his prescription. Quacks, again, according to their boldness and way of addressing, command success by striking the fancies of an audience."

And Charles M. Barrows, in "Facts and Fictions of Mental Healing," likewise gave it as his opinion that "whatever acts upon a patient in such a way as to persuade him to yield himself to the therapeutic force constantly operative in nature is a means of healing. It may be an amulet, a cabalistic symbol, an incantation, a bread pill, or even sudden fright. It may be a drug prescribed by a physician, imposition of hands, mesmeric passes, the touch of a relic, or visiting a sacred shrine."

There is much worth quoting and much more that can be said in cordial praise, but it is as well, perhaps, to restrain a spouting enthusiasm and do the generous thing—pass the good word along, with warning to the diffident not to be frightened away from the feast by the lugubrious name of the dish.

"Great Medicine of the Soul."

BY CAROLINE S. MADDOCKS.

MR. GARRETT P. SERVISS in "ROUND THE YEAR WITH THE STARS" (Harpers), takes for his text "Star gazing is a great medicine of the soul." Mr. Serviss is a man with a devout and poet soul, a profound enthusiasm, and a lifelong love for the stars—he has known them since childhood. It is because of all these things that he is able to present a book so wonderfully full of interest and charm, so lightly and beautifully decorated with flowers from literature and mythology, and with highly wrought yet natural phrase and figure of speech, and with a total content, withal, that is instructive and inspiring to a high degree. The reader will feel impelled to rush off without delay and read his other books on the same subject.

As he states in his preface, it is the purpose of the author to cultivate a love of the stars and to offer a guiding hand to those who "without special knowledge or optical aids, or mathematical attainments or any of the paraphernalia or advantages of the professional astronomer," may attain the exquisite joys of life and "supernal inspiration" from the sky. In writing his other books he had to cast aside a multitude of things quite as important and interesting as the things he used, so "e yields himself once more to the lure of this inexhaustible subject." No field of contemplation, he says, is so wonderfully rich as astronomy, "so easy to reach, so responsive to every mood, so stimulating, uplifting, abstracting, and infinitely consoling."

But one must learn the sky paths and be more or less definitely introduced to the scintillating personages of the heavens before this contemplation will yield the most; and no more attractive guide book to these and no more sympathetic introduction to them could be imagined than is this little book.

The elementary and superficial literature to supplement geography and science which has been put forth since the introduction of commercial geography into the schools is now being ably displaced by such books as those in D. Appleton & Co.'s "The Library of Useful Stories." These books are prepared by people who know their subjects or have been trained in such a way as to be able to make the special investigations along the line represented by the books they write. One of the latest of these volumes is "THE STORY OF SUGAR," by George Thomas Surface. Mr. Surface spent the larger part of a year studying at first hand the sugar industry, its history, its present production—both cane and beet—in different countries, its manufacture, and its by-products. The book is readable and the information given impresses one as being thoroughly reliable. The lore of sugar is interestingly presented, and there are not a few pleasant touches here and there that are as nearly humorous as anything in a book of this nature should be.

Of all the many good depictors of New England character none exceeded the late Sarah Orne Jewett in fidelity to her art, in the simplicity and truth of her portraits, in distinctness of style, and completeness of finish. The Houghton-Mifflin company has done well to issue a new and uniform reprint of her "Stories and Tales" in seven volumes. They deserve and they will receive a warm welcome from those who still demand honest workmanship from their writers.

"Desperate Remedies," the first of Thomas Hardy's novels, is now included in the pocket Hardy being issued by Harper's.

Mr. McCutcheon is a writer of romance to his finger tips, and his new novel is steeped in the very spirit of Romance with a capital R. David Jennison, the young Virginian who comes fleeing over the mountains, is just the handsome, likable, chivalrous youngster whom McCutcheon loves to draw. And the Rose—well, she is just as sweet and brave and fascinating, just as absolutely satisfying a heroine, as the Princess Yetive, Beverly, or any of her predecessors. There are intrigues and rascals: hard blows given and taken: dangers escaped: misunderstandings lived through; and it is all so permeated with the humor, the sentiment, and the breathless rush of story telling which have made the author famous that the reader can say, as he settles down to read it with a sigh of content, "After all, this is an old-time McCutcheon story."

FORGAN INSTILLS MORE OPTIMISM

Chicago Man Causes New Yorkers to Have Confidence in Future.

CROPS PLAY BIG PART.

Lack of Speculation and Good Business Also Aid Faith of Bankers.

BY HOLLAND.

New York, Nov. 4.—[Special.]—None who met James B Forgan of Chicago while he was on his visit to this city doubts the accuracy of the statement made by him a day or two ago. He is quoted as having said that "the bankers of New York are overcoming their pessimistic feeling and are beginning to share the high optimism which has been for some time characteristic of the bankers of Chicago."

It may be due to the visit of Mr. Forgan that New York bankers were persuaded that the times are not out of joint, that conditions are not bad, but on the other hand, that there is a good prospect that we shall within a reasonable time find ourselves in renewed prosperity.

Mr. Forgan bases his opinion in part upon the magnitude and money value of the crops, in part upon the lack of any disposition unduly to speculate, and in part also upon the healthful condition of business throughout that portion of the country which he as a banker represents.

Gains in Bank Deposits.

It so happens that almost coincident with the visit of and the encouraging statements made by President Forgan there comes a brief report telling of the momentous growth of Chicago in a direction that is a better barometer of prosperity than is to be found in the mere numerical statement of population.

According to this report, the banks of Chicago now carry $825 000 000 of deposits, based upon $76,000,000 of capital and $60,000,000 of surplus and profit. But it is not in the figures themselves, which are approximately equal to those reported by New York banks only a few years ago, that the real significance of the statement is to be discovered.

It is in the ratio of increase, relatively a greater ration of increase than that of the old city of New York, for the last ten years. Chicago has gained in financial power, so far as that is made evident by banking conditions, considerably over 100 per cent in ten years. This our ablest economists regard as a much better index of prosperity and strength than an increase of population gives.

West Growing in Finance.

It may be that one reason for the optimism into which the recent pessimism, as alleged of New York bankers, is changing, is due to the recent appreciation of the magnificent growth of the west with respect to financial resources and power. And it is due to this growth that the recent large coöperation established between the banks of Chicago and those of New York has been made possible.

We find in recent reports telling of the returns made to clearing houses of the United States figures which, if thoroughly analyzed, serve to show why President Forgan felt justified in bringing the message he did from Chicago to New York. Others have brought like messages, as, for instance, the vice president of the Shawmut National bank of Boston, who was one of the bankers who represented Boston at the annual meeting of the American Bankers' association.

New York cleared in one week recently through the Clearing House association a little under $1,200,000,000. But it should be remembered that no small portion of the clearing reflected the great movement in international commerce, a movement which has been gratifyingly good this fall. Relatively speaking, and taking into consideration the fact that New York City is the great port of entry and departure of international commerce, the clearings of Chicago, Boston, Philadelphia, and Minneapolis reflect as great business activity as do the larger clearings reported from the New York Clearing House association.

Western Cities Now Loaners.

The cities of the mid-west have changed from borrowing cities to lending cities, using the term broadly. Pittsburg has become a city of great capital. Boston, which a generation ago, was financing many of the railroads, and much of the farming development of the west, is, many believe, to regain in the course of a few years, relatively speaking, its financial authority.

A city with a population in excess of 300,000 like Minneapolis, which is able to report aggregate clearings of nearly $27,000,000 in a single week, does in those figures reveal financial strength and commercial activity even more than by the story of its increase in population.

Mr. Forgan and some of our own bankers have recently been closely watching the weekly record which tells of Boston's commercial and financial growth. Boston may be sixth in population in the United States, but it is third in bank clearings, being exceeded only by Chicago and New York. The manner in which the west of the Missouri valley is accumulating its own capital is made evident by the report which tells of the clearings of Kansas City, in one week nearly $55,000,000.

West Gaining in Surplus.

Some of those who talked with President Forgan report him as having said that the west is making surplus capital, relatively speaking, more rapidly than the east. And this impulse is now gaining such strength that in the course of a few years much of the fluid or loanable capital of the United States will be found to have accumulated in that part of the country which is west of the Alleghenies.

The wise men, that is to say the experienced men, of this city think that in the securities market practically all the appreciation of the fall is now temporarily checked. And it is with no regret that it is recognized that money conditions are of such character as to make it impossible to develop a boom or bull market in securities.

Probably we must wait until there begin to be money returns from our crops before money conditions are such as to stimulate money activity in the securities market. The fact that the Michigan Central Railroad company, whose credit is of the highest, was compelled to make terms in what is the best money market of this kind, France, for the discounting of ten millions of one year notes, terms, too, which suggest the exactions imposed upon the late H. H. Rogers when he was anxious to borrow some seven millions, is sufficient proof of what money conditions are.

HIGHEST COAL BIDDER WINS.

School Board's Tests Give Anthracite Contracts to City Fuel Company.

Contracts for hard coal to be used in the public schools in districts from No. 1 to 7 were awarded by the board of education to the City Fuel company, the highest bidder. The contracts were turned over yesterday.

Tests by experts employed by the school trustees demonstrated that the coal contracted for will be cheaper in the long run than the lower priced fuel offered in competition.

According to the contracts grate coal will be furnished at $6.75 a [illegible] or and egg range, and [illegible] at $7. The City Fuel company reduced its bid on hard coal from $7.75 to $7 when its president, Francis S. Peabody, was reminded of a promise by him to quote it at the latter price.

LATE WALL STREET NEWS AND GOSSIP.

New York, Nov. 4.—[Special.]—Representative spokesmen for the leading interests of Wall street—banking, brokerage, and investment lines—are practically in accord in these conclusions:

The election outcome on Tuesday may be regarded as favorable unless all Wall street forecasts go wrong. The street expects to extract optimism from a Democratic house of representatives, and it doesn't conceal its joy over Col. Roosevelt's prospective defeat in New York. Bankers say if he can be signally defeated in his own state on the clearcut issue of "new nationalism," he can't be a menace nationally.

The money situation will clear within sixty days. Meantime the financial world cannot stand too much strain, and undue speculation will be frowned upon. Bankers are relying upon business improvement following the election, and frankly say that with the small surplus stocks in mills, factories, and on the merchants' shelves, a renewal of consumption must mean nation wide activity.

The railroads are expected to enter the steel market soon after the election, placing their orders for 1911 delivery. Among Wall street bankers there is a general belief that the roads will get rate advances, although not all they ask for, and that with the largest crop tonnage on record to move, railroad presidents should talk business instead of politics.

The outlook for new capital issues—railroad and industrial flotations—apparently has received serious consideration. The conclusion seems to be that meritorious issues can be placed and that investors everywhere are nearly ready to consider investments of merit.

The stock market gives bankers small concern. They point out the known factors in the money market as arguments for the present condition. For the future they are optimistic.

The shares of the Standard Oil company are selling in outside securities market around 620, the highest level reached in several months. This represents a gain of about twenty points since the Standard Oil company announced that it would lower prices in order to maintain its share of business abroad. The strength of the stock is probably due to the fact that the directors will meet this month for the purpose of declaring the quarterly dividend of $10 a share, and three months later a dividend of $15 a share, making disbursements of $25,000,000 within a period of about four months. The business of the Standard has shown a satisfactory increase since it lowered prices about a month ago.

In addition to Spencer Trask & Co., Kisel, Kinnecut & Co. and William Salomon & Co., the National City bank and Kuhn, Loeb & Co. will be interested in the underwriting of the Consolidation Coal company's new $9,000,000 bonds, which are to be part of an authorized amount of $40,000,000. About $11,000,000 of these bonds is to be reserved to retire some of the company's 4½ per cent bonds beside some underlying liens. The $9,000,000 to be offered, probably some time next month, at a price not yet definitely set, although said to be somewhere in the neighborhood of 96, is to retire divisional issues totaling $7,000,000, while the rest of the funds remaining is to go toward improvements on the additional 100,000 acres of coal lands just purchased. The new bonds will be a first lien on about 186,000 acres, and a further lien on about 115,000 acres, subject to prior liens.

Rumors were current today that the New York Central and Hudson River railroad company was about to bring out a large bond issue. Investigation reveals the fact that while no definite arrangement has been made, the company has under consideration some financial plans which have not yet reached maturity. Indications are that this financing probably will take the form of short term notes. It is estimated that the company will need $30,000,000 to $40,000,000, but whether this much will be provided for by a short term note issue cannot be learned. Up to this time, however, the whole thing has advanced no further than the tentative stage.

Including the Erie railroad order of 30,000 tons of steel rails, it is estimated that sales of steel rails over last week aggregate about 75,000 tons. Most of the orders are small. The large railroad systems have not yet booked their business for next year, but large orders within the next several weeks are assured. The Norfolk and Western has closed a contract with the United States Steel corporation for 15,000 tons of steel rails.

At a meeting of the directors of the Republic Iron and Steel company on Thursday the officers were reëlected. John Lambert and Harry Bronner were elected members of the executive committee, succeeding L. C. Hanna and E. W. Oglebay, resigned. The executive committee now consists of John A. Topping, chairman; John W. Gates, Grant Schley, Harry Bronner, and John Lambert.

Reports are current in international banking circles that during the last month loans of approximately $50,000,000 have been made in London and Paris by New York interests. It is impossible to verify stories of this character, but inquiry among international houses discloses that American borrowings in Europe have been large, particularly during the last week or two.

An order has been placed with the American Locomotive company for twelve consolidation locomotives of 215,000 pounds.

KAISER AGAINST BERLIN FAIR

Revival of Plan for World Exposition Unlikely.

CLAIMS PEOPLE ARE TIRED.

German Capital's Location Not Favorable, Says Official.

BERLIN, Nov. 4.—It is unlikely that the plan for a world's exposition in Berlin will be revived.

The kaiser, whose recent inquiries into the question led to a fresh agitation of the project, has set his face against the scheme finally and definitely. His objections are set forth in a series of evidently authorized articles, which show that as a result of his deliberations the emperor has come to the conclusion that the time when world's fairs can be made to pay has passed.

Says World Is Tired of Fairs.

"The frequency of such expositions of late," said a prominent official today, "has bred general indifference regarding them. The world is exposition tired. On the other hand, the ambition to make each succeeding display more brilliant than the preceding one has raised the cost of such undertakings to an enormous sum.

"The means necessary for the regular development of industry thus are diverted to purposes outside the real field of industrial activity.

Geographical Position Against It.

"Berlin, moreover, is not the place for such an enterprise. All efforts to bring here the tide of visitors who would stream to Paris would be frustrated by this city's geographical position."

"The kaiser's decision has elicited sharp criticism from the advocates of the exposition, who declare, contrary to the kaiser's views, that the best part of the business world would welcome a fair in Berlin with enthusiasm and strive loyally to make it a success.

POSTAL RECEIPTS CLIMB; BIG INCREASE IN ILLINOIS.

Gain of 10 Per Cent Is Shown in the Report for the Fiscal Year Ending on June 30.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 4.—Postal receipts for the fiscal year ended June 30 were $224 128,657, an increase of 10 per cent over last year.

More than one-half that sum was collected in six states—New York, Illinois, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Massachusetts, and Missouri, the total collections of each state ranging in the order named. The New York postoffice collected 10 per cent of all the receipts, and Chicago came next with 8 per cent.

The expenses for the year showed an increase of 4 per cent. It cost $229,977,234 to deliver the mail. Railroad transportation cost $44,715,000; assistant postmasters and clerks in postoffices, $38,045,000; rural free delivery $37,041,000; city service, $31,737,000; postmasters, $27,521,000; railway mail service and clerks, $19,369,000.

More than $647,000,000 in money orders were issued during the year. More than 15 per cent of them were paid in Chicago and 9 per cent were paid in New York.

More than $89,000,000 went abroad in the form of money orders last year, while less than $10,000,000 came in the same way. Italy got the bulk of the money sent abroad, or more than $22,000,000.

RENSHAW, I. C. GRAFT WITNESS, BACK AFTER YEAR IN EUROPE.

Attorney for Former Railroad Official Says He Has Nothing to Fear—Habeas Corpus Hearing Today.

William Renshaw, former superintendent of machinery of the Illinois Central railroad, and one of the men accused by the railroad of complicity in the car repair frauds, has returned to his residence at 4421 Ellis avenue after an absence of over a year in Europe.

As Mr. Renshaw has been mentioned in the testimony before the Municipal court as a stockholder in the Memphis Car company, and as his name appeared in the "little red book" pay roll of the Ostermann Manufacturing company as the recipient of monthly commissions and dividends, it was reported that he might be called as a witness before the grand jury in the case against Harriman, Ewing, and Taylor.

Attorneys for the prosecution stated during the day that there was no intention of proceeding directly against Mr. Renshaw. Now that the defendants have been bound over to the grand jury, Marquis Eaton, his attorney, says he has nothing to fear.

PIG IRON MARKET IS FIRMER

October Totals Better than Furnaces Had Anticipated.

FINISHED STEEL IN DEMAND.

Business in Bars Expected to Show Gain for Last Month.

There has been a noticeable improvement during the week in the pig iron market, while the demand for finished steel products continues good.

While pig iron orders for the month of October were small, the total made a good, fair average, better than the furnaces believed until they went over their books for the month.

One feature of the market is that the interests represent more general lines of the trade than for the last few months. Apparently they are in need of iron and believe that the bottom of the market has been reached. Another encouraging note is the fact that inquiries are improved.

Inland Order Draws Notice.

An order that attracted considerable attention during the last few days was the booking of 6,000 tons of basic for the Inland Steel company, delivery to be made at the docks in Indiana Harbor during the remainder of navigation this season. The iron will be shipped by water from a Buffalo furnace. The price is given as $14.55, delivered at the docks. Six hundred tons of southern iron has been sold to an Illinois foundry on the basis of $11.50, Birmingham, for first half delivery. A Wisconsin thrashing machine manufacturer is still out with an inquiry for 7,000 tons of iron, half northern and half southern.

Steel Bars May Show Gain.

Figures indicate the business in steel bars will show an increase for the last month, largely due to the fact that agricultural implement manufacturers have been specifying largely against their contracts for merchant steel of different kinds. Some manufacturers have taken out the full tonnage represented in their contracts and are asking for new contracts.

Business in sheet and plates is fairly active. There is said to be some shading on plates, it being reported that $1.35, Pittsburg, can be done on plates up to 30 inches in width. The scrap material market is without feature.

DECIDES 13 INSURANCE CASES.

Court Rules in Favor of Distilling Company, Which Sued to Collect $85,500.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 4.—[Special.]—Thirteen suits against thirteen insurance companies involving $85 500, with interest from May 15, 1908, were decided today by Circuit Judges Sanborn and Van Devanter and District Judge Reed, sitting as the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, in favor of the C. A. Hoover Distilling company of Oskaloosa, Ia., which instituted them.

The insurance companies against which the judgments were obtained are the St Paul Fire and Marine, the Mechanics of Philadelphia, the Phœnix of Brooklyn, the Royal of Liverpool, the German-American of New York, the North America, the North British and Mercantile of London and Edinburgh, the Rochester German, the Phœnix of Hartford, the Fire Association of Philadelphia, the City of New York Insurance company, the Security of New Haven, and the Ætna of Hartford.

These companies had insured 127,000 gallons of whisky which the Hoover company had stored at Oskaloosa. The whisky was destroyed by fire on May 15, 1908. The companies were willing to pay what it would cost to manufacture the same amount of whisky but would not pay the full amount for which the whisky had been insured. The Hoover company sued and obtained judgments for the full amount claimed. The insurance companies appealed, asking that the judgments be reversed on the ground that the insurance contracts were void, being against the prohibition policy of the state of Iowa.

OUTLOOK FAVORS ENLARGED TRADE

Dun's Review Says Seasonable Weather Has Strengthened Business Activity.

SOME SETBACKS NOTED.

Recent Small Failures and Unsettled Garment Workers' Strike Referred To.

Dun's review, published today by R. G. Dun & Co., will say:

"Heavy monthly settlements and larger outflow of currency to move crops in part account for a better comparative showing of bank clearings and a firmer discount rate for money.

"Commercial failures show further extension among small traders and unsettled strikes of clothing workers interferes with current activity, but a healthier sentiment as to the general outlook proves more encouraging throughout business circles and conditions favor widening enterprise.

"Seasonable weather has strengthened the demands for winter supplies and increasing operations in manufactures and distribution. Leading retail lines here and at interior points report stronger buying of necessaries and gratifying absorption of fashionable apparel, furs, jewelry, and other more costly wares.

Wholesalers Do Good Business.

"Wholesale dealings furnish a satisfactory aggregate for both current and distant needs, sales making good comparison with this time last year in dry goods, footwear, millinery, men's furnishings, household utensils, and food products.

"Stocks at retail undergo rapid reduction with the lower temperatures and frequent reorders for urgent forwarding come from many outside centers. Mail orders aggregate well for dress goods, linens, cottons, and blankets.

"Bookings rise to expectation in advance selections of spring merchandise, while there is sustained demand for holiday lines, notions, fancy goods, and leather novelties.

"Production in the principal industries continues steady and heavy outputs are sustained in iron and steel and most factory work. The new demands reflect improvement in basic iron, rails, and equipment. Miscellaneous steel shows fair absorption and heavy deliveries appear in wire, plates, and structural forms.

Railroad Needs of Big Volume.

"Railroad negotiations for next year's needs virtually assure early commitments involving large expenditures for track, rolling stock, and bridge requirements. The forges, foundries, and car shops have considerable work on hand and in view.

"Metal working branches now place substantial orders for supplies, giving a better tone to markets for minor metals, stocks of which have shown accumulation. Normal orders appear for implements, heavy hardware, machinery, and electrical equipment.

"Quotations for raw materials reflect steadier values, except as to hides, which are weaker on heavy arrivals.

"Lumber receipts decline and high grades for factory use are scarce and dearer. Building activity is without diminution and the outlook improves for next year with the plans for new improvements.

"Permits for business structures during October were 66 in number, and $3,812,600 in value, comparing with 50 permits and $2,355,100 value for October, 1909.

"Investment in realty compares favorably with a year ago, but the markets for bonds and local securities are devoid of special interest.

Gain in Movement of Grain.

"Total movement of grain at this port, 9,694,900 bu, compares with 9,022,150 bu last week and 9,088,537 bu a year ago. Compared with 1909 receipts decreased 10.8 per cent and shipments increased 31.1 per cent.

"Flour receipts were 174,956 brls, against 181,941 brls last week and 230,696 brls a year ago. Shipments were only 174,256 brls, against 205,706 brls last week and 262,879 brls in 1909.

"Aggregate receipts of cattle, hogs, and sheep, 362,066 head, compare with 357,381 head last week and 300,193 head last year. Receipts of hides were 2,716,900 lbs, against 3,273,000 lbs last week and 2,170,763 lbs in 1909.

"Wool receipts, 595,700 lbs, compare with 695 800 lbs last week and 534,800 lbs last year.

"Lumber receipts were 42,844,000 feet, against 44,337,000 feet last week and 57,806,000 feet in 1909.

Range of Cash Prices.

"Compared with the closings a week ago, cash prices are unchanged in choice cattle, but higher in oats ¼c a bu, and lower in corn ¼c; flour, 2½c a brl; wheat, 3⅝c a bu; sheep, 25c a hundredweight; ribs, 37½c; hogs, 40c; and pork, 50c a brl.

"Bank clearings, $285,563,199, exceed those of the corresponding week in 1909 by 3.9 per cent and compare with $226,343,314 in 1908.

"Failures reported in the Chicago district numbered 28, against 16 last week, 37 in 1909, and 24 in 1908. Those with liabilities over $5,000 number 9, against 11 last week, 10 in 1909, and 7 in 1908."

Weather a Help, Says Bradstreet's.

New York, Nov. 4.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say:

"Colder and more seasonable weather this week has been stimulating to retail and jobbing reorder trade. There have been fairly good showings by the usual monthly exhibits of failures and clearings for October, and a continuance of the declining tendency hitherto was noted in farm products, especially cereals and food producting animals, at wholesale.

"Firmer money rates, with reports of an increased tendency on the part of western farmers to hold crops were other features of the week.

"Collections are about fair. There is an increased mention made of inquiries for and preparation of holiday goods for shipment."

Dun's Review Hopeful.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review tomorrow will say:

"Recent developments in iron and steel encourage the more hopeful feeling already noted, even if progress is slow. The expectation is that transporting companies soon will enter the market for needed equipment while prospective structural work will call for a considerable tonnage of finished material.

"Foundry iron is in more active request, and last month's business was the largest of the year. On the other hand, pig iron stocks continue to accumulate and further curtailment of production is planned.

"Upper leathers, suitable for women's shoes, are dull and weak owing to the substitution of velvets in uppers."

Bank Clearings of the Week.

Bradstreet's bank clearings report for the week ending Nov. 3 shows an aggregate of $3,329,492,000, as against $3,152,288,000 last week and $3,565,003,000 in the corresponding week last year. The following is a list of the cities:

NEWS NOTES OF FINANCIAL WORLD.

Business of the American Steel Foundries company is reported to have shown an improvement recently. An interest in the corporation says: "There has been a perceptible improvement of late and I believe that before the first of the year there will be a return of confidence and railroads will start buying rails, equipment, and other supplies. As a matter of fact, they are now in the market with inquiries and actual orders are daily resulting. The annual report of earnings for the fiscal year ended July 31 last will be ready to send to stockholders about the middle of the present month."

J. B. Sears, treasurer of the Farwell Trust company, has been elected a director of the company, succeeding W. B. Jansen, retired. Frank M. Murphy, formerly associated with E. W. Shirk, has been elected a vice president.

Officers are: J. M. League, president and general manager; R. M. Wilbur, vice president; A. J. Spengel, treasurer; William Irwin, secretary. Mr. Wilbur will have offices in Chicago. The company will be a subsidiary of the Northwestern Land and Iron company.

SOLICITORS' UNION IS PLANNED

Industrial Insurance Writers to Meet in Chicago Tonight.

STRIKE MAY BE CALLED.

250 of Organizers Said to Have Been Ousted by Companies.

Industrial insurance writers of Chicago will meet tonight to perfect the organization of a solicitors' union. Over 1,500 solicitors of pay-by-the-week insurance will be affected. If the organization succeeds in developing strength, grievances said to be pressing on the agents will be made the subject of action. A strike of installment insurance agents now is on in Philadelphia.

The first meeting took place three weeks ago. This was followed within three days, according to a member of the temporary organization, by the discharge of all of the 250 men who took part in it. Reinstatement of these men will be one of the demands promised to be made of the insurance companies.

The companies most affected are the John Hancock Mutual Insurance company of Boston, the industrial department of the Prudential Life Insurance company, and the Metropolitan Life Insurance company.

The Prudential employs 400 industrial solicitors, the Metropolitan 400, and the John Hancock company 200. The men get contracts for insurance and also collect the weekly premium installments of from 10 to 25 cents.

The solicitors allege as their chief grievance that they are charged with the collection of the weekly installments as if they owed the money to the company. If a client lapses in his payments, the solicitors assert that they are charged with the money and must find another customer to pay it. The solicitors' fee is fifteen times the amount of the first premium. It is paid him after the third week the client is on the books.

According to the promoters of the union the men were discharged upon orders telegraphed to Chicago from the home offices.

At the offices of the companies knowledge of the union was denied. Managers were unanimous in declaring that perfect harmony reigned between the executive and the selling force.

REPORT REVEALS INSURANCE FRAUD

Gross Irregularities Found in L'Union St. Jean Baptiste d'Amerique.

EXAMINED IN THE EAST.

Beneficiary Society Now Operates in Illinois Among Other States.

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 4.—[Special.]—Gross irregularities in the management of L'Union St. Jean Baptiste d'Amerique of Woonsocket, R. I., which were found to exist in a joint examination by the New York and Massachusetts insurance departments of this fraternal beneficiary society, have led to the facts being laid before the attorney general of Rhode Island.

The reason for the examination by the departments of New York and Massachusetts is that the Rhode Island laws give its insurance commissioner no power to examine societies of this character.

This organization was incorporated in Rhode Island as a literary society in 1900 and was admitted to do business in New York in 1906 and in Massachusetts in 1901. It is now operating in Illinois, Maine, Vermont, New Hampshire, Connecticut, and Michigan. It has at present 305 councils, approximately 25 000 members and $9,121,000 of insurance in force. Its membership is, to a considerable extent, composed of French Canadian residents of those states. Its assets, at the time of the examination, aggregated $362,485, and the excess of assets for the protection of members in lieu of a policy reserve was found by the examiners to be $268,919.

Find Negligence and Misconduct.

The examiners conclude that, while the society is perfectly solvent, there has been negligence and misconduct on the part of some of its executive officers and that a portion of its estate and effects has been wasted or lost.

They call particular attention to the shortage chargeable to Secretary J. Ad. Caron, amounting on June 30 last to $3,284, which, however, has been in part made up; to a shortage in the mortuary fund amounting to at least $12,574, due to a falsification of the returns from the councils, and recommend that the persons responsible for these shortages should be compelled to make restitution.

The report also notes large investments in realty and in demand notes, contrary to the insurance laws of Massachusetts and New York, the making of false annual statements to such states, and neglect of duty on the part of the officers of the society.

Falsification of Records.

Mention is also made of a systematic falsification of records during the last two years; of the issue of policy contracts not permitted by the laws of New York and Massachusetts; of disproportionately large investments in realty and of unauthorized loans on promissory notes without collateral—these investments alone representing nearly two-thirds of the total assets of the society.

The departments are informed that the secretary of the society has resigned and that his resignation will be acted upon at the meeting of the executive board to be held on Nov. 8.

Bank of Bengal Discount Rate Up.

CALCUTTA, Nov. 3.—The rate of discount of the Bank of Bengal was raised from 5 to 6 per cent today.

FLOUR SOLD FOR EXPORT.

Trade in Coarse Grains Featureless; Country Offerings Continue Light.

Wheat traders were again fooled by the action of the market yesterday. Selling was indulged in generally up to the last hour, when it was found that the professionals who have been playing the bear side had sold more than they could cover. The result was another sharp rise in prices. Closing quotations were ⅝@¾c higher, December showing the greatest gain.

Liverpool came comparatively steady and the firmness in the continental markets compared to domestic exchanges, as well as the relatively strong tone at Winnipeg, induced considerable short covering. The early buying, however, was not enough to prevent a further decline to new low marks.

On the extreme decline, instead of running into stop loss orders to sell commission houses were found to be taking the wheat, and shorts found difficulty in covering their wheat. Armour was a big buyer again, especially of the May, while shorts in the December covered big lines.

Offerings Light at Start.

At the start offerings were not as liberal as expected and there was a little covering right at the opening. Later on the bulge there was renewed selling, but the wheat evidently went into good hands. In the last half hour prices rallied sharply and the market showed a healthier tone than it has in several days.

Armour was credited with buying at least 2,000,000 bu wheat, and there was covering of short lines by Rankin, Barrett, Cutten, and James A. Patten. The quiet buying of wheat was not especially noticeable until the local scalpers tried to buy back the grain sold early. Early selling was led by Barrell, Knight-McDougal, Hulburd-Warren-Chandler, Logan-Bryan, and Clement-Curtis. The last two named concerns were buyers on the dip, with Bartlett-Frazier also taking quite a little wheat. Peavey and Kidston were sellers.

Smaller World's Export Expected.

The general news was mixed. Smaller world's shipments are expected. Argentina shipped only 480,000 bu, and the offerings from Russia were said to have been lighter this week. A more bullish showing is expected in the visible Monday. On the other hand, reports in regard to winter wheat indicate a tremendous increase in acreage. The Modern Miller said there were numerous reports of dry weather causing a poor outlook in the southwest, but nothing serious was indicated. Ohio and Michigan state reports indicated a big increase in acreage.

Slow sales for export at Minneapolis helped the bulls in the last hour. Argentine shipments were smaller at 480,000 bu. Liverpool closed ¼d off; Paris was ⅛c up to ½c off; Berlin, ¼c lower; Antwerp, 1¼c down; and Budapest, ¾c higher. Minneapolis stocks increased 460,000 bu for the week and Duluth decreased 450,000 bu for five days. Primary receipts were 869,000 bu, against 1,349,000 bu a year ago. Receipts here were 44 cars, with 28 cars expected today. Clearances of wheat and flour were 294,000 bu wheat and flour.

Corn Shows Firm Tone.

Corn was influenced a good deal by the action of wheat but on the whole showed a firm tone and closed ⅜@½c better. Country offerings are still light, but the demand is not especially heavy. Predictions for unsettled weather had a moderate bullish influence. Generally conditions have been ideal all through the maturing period and the outlook is for corn of excellent quality. The Ohio report indicated some damage to quality by corn molding in the shock.

Snow's report indicates a yield on the government acreage of about 3,100,000,000, or 125,000,000 bu more than the October promise. Argentine shipments were 2,270,000 bu, against 1,243,000 bu a year ago. Receipts here were 123 cars, with 177 cars the estimate for today.

Primary arrivals were 294,000 bu, against 329,000 bu a year ago. Liverpool closed ⅛@¼d higher. Cash sales here were 115,000 bu, with sample unchanged to ½c higher.

Narrow Market in Oats.

The price range in oats was narrow and there was no special feature to the trade. The market rallied a little in the last hour in sympathy with wheat and corn and closed ⅛@¼c higher. The cash demand was moderate and there were sales reported of only 95,000 bu. The small country offerings are not making much difference in the general situation. Most of the buying was by shorts. Sample prices were steady to ½c higher. Primary points had 462,000 bu, against 587,000 bu a year ago. Receipts at Chicago were 143 cars, with 97 cars the estimate for today.

Provision List Steady.

With the exception of November lard the provision list showed a fairly steady tone. Selling of the current lard future was led by Hulburd-Warren-Chandler. Wagner was a heavy seller of May pork. Trade was not particularly active at any time. There was no heavy pressure to sell on the whole, while the demand was brisk enough to take care of the offerings. Packers were not conspicuous in the trade. Western points had 42,700 hogs, against 32,300 a year ago. Local arrivals were 15,000, with 7,000 the estimate for today. Liverpool was unchanged for meats, but lard was 3d lower. Receipts of product here were 29 cars, with shipments of 68 cars.

Barley Again Higher.

Rye was quiet and unchanged. No. 2 was quoted 77c, No. 3 70@75c, and No. 4 60@70c. Receipts were estimated at 2 cars.

Barley was unchanged to 1c higher. Malting was quoted 70@77c, mixing 60@67c, and screenings 30@45c. Receipts were estimated at 27 cars.

Flaxseed closed ½c higher. No. 1 northwestern, $2.68; No. 1 from the northwest, $2.60; No. 1 southwestern, $2.50, and rejected, $2.40@2.50. Receipts, 1 car. Duluth closed ½c higher to ½c lower. November, $2.61¼; December, $2.58½, and May, $2.58½. Receipts were 38 cars. Minneapolis, ½c higher; cash on track, $2.60½. Receipts were 34 cars.

Timothyseed was unchanged. March closed at $9.75 bid. Country lots, $8.00@9.25. Cloverseed was quiet. March closed at $14.40 nominal. Country lots, $10.00@13.50.

NEWS AND GOSSIP OF BOARD OF TRADE.

It is estimated that in the last three days the Armour Grain company has purchased at least 5,000,000 bu wheat, most of which is supposed to be short. Some estimates of the amount purchased are considerably higher than this. On Wednesday pit sharks figured they bought about 3,000,000 bu, 1,000,000 bu Thursday, and about 2,000,000 bu yesterday. At any rate the buying by this concern has taken up the slack in the market to a great extent and local scalpers were brought up sharply in the last hour because they had sold more than they could buy back.

Rankin covered short wheat early, and James A. Patten also covered quite a little wheat on the early break. John Barrett, who has been one of the biggest bears, was a most consistent buyer, taking profits on a big line. Cutten, another of the local shorts, was credited with buying in at least part of his line.

Northwestern advices were more favorable to the bulls. Minneapolis messages to Fred Paddleford and also to W. H. Lake said that considerable patent flour had been sold for export, with the general trade apparently on a healthier basis. Winnipeg wired that the cash demand for wheat was the best in three weeks, and future prices in the Canadian market were firm throughout the day.

Farm deliveries in the northwest have again fallen off. The first three days of the week there was quite a fair increase in the amount of wheat brought in by farmers, but the last few days line houses have bought very little wheat. Minneapolis stocks gained 460,000 bu for the week, while Duluth decreased 450,000 bu for five days.

At one time during the day there was about 11c difference between Chicago and Liverpool wheat prices, taking the December futures. With the present low freight rates this represented approximately a full shipping difference, but exporters said that there were no bids workable. To deliver our wheat on Liverpool contracts it would be necessary to add port charges of 3c. Another factor is that cash wheat at Liverpool is selling at a discount under the December.

As a rule continental markets have declined less recently than American markets, so if there is any export business possible anywhere it doubtless would be with the continent.

The Ohio November report, as wired by King of Toledo, makes wheat condition 102, against 83 last year, acreage sown 2,014,000 acres, against 1,984,000 acres a year ago. Corn prospect compared to average 84, against 90 last fall. Rye condition 98, versus 90 a year ago. Clover seed 61, against 48 last year. Fly is reported quite generally, but no damage. Corn damaged by molding in shock.

The Michigan report for November makes wheat condition 98, against 87 a year ago. Corn yield per acre 32 bu, same as a year ago. Clover seed yield placed at 1.44 bu; potatoes 99 bu per acre.

Schwarz & Co. estimate total stocks of cut meats at Chicago, Kansas City, Omaha, St. Joseph, and Milwaukee on Oct. 31 at 90,170,870 lbs, compared to 119,326,178 lbs a month ago and 89,483,276 lbs a year ago. The decrease during October was 29,155,000 lbs, against 23,815,000 lbs decrease a year ago, and 16,276,000 lbs decrease in October, 1908.

B. W. Snow estimates the corn crop at 27.8 bu per acre, which on the government figures indicates a total yield of 3,100,000,000 bu, or 125,000,000 bu more than the October promise. Snow's November report says that winter wheat acreage will be much larger than the area sown last year, and that the total acreage will probably exceed that harvested this year by about 6,000,000 acres. Parts of Oklahoma and Kansas have been dry, but there have been no signs of injury.

Indications are for a less bearish set of statistics on Monday. World's shipments are expected to be smaller and the increase in the visible in this country, if any at all, will be small probably. Primary receipts continue to run much below those of a year ago, and the accumulation of wheat is much less noticeable.

Cash wheat was quiet here with little doing, but the tone of the Minneapolis market was a shade firmer. No. 1 northern at Duluth was quoted 1⅝@2¼c over the December. Receipts at Minneapolis are running small compared to last year, and the supply of choice spring wheat is not burdensome.

Eight cars of new corn were received here yesterday, a few of which graded No. 4. Country acceptances were again small both of old and new corn. The demand was moderate, but sample prices were steady to a little lower. Oats were in light supply and unchanged to ½c up.

It is understood that elevator owners of wheat, corn, and oats are not anxious to sell any grain now unless they can replace the same with more of the same kind from the country. As a result the available lots of wheat, corn, and oats have been pretty well cleaned up.

Indian shipments of wheat for the week were 1,056,000 bu, compared with 536,000 bu last week and 368,000 bu the corresponding week last year. Australian shipments of wheat for the week were 952,000 bu, compared with 648,000 bu last week and 88,000 bu last year.

Argentine shipments of grain and flaxseed for the week with comparisons follow:

	Wheat.	Corn.	Flax.
This week	480,000	2,270,000	88,000
Last week	968,000	4,888,000	88,000

Last year	93,208,000	78,231,000	37,209,000

William Aloysius Draddy has applied for membership on the board of trade. Robert Bebb and Martin Stephenson have posted their memberships for transfer. Memberships were offered at $2,900 net to the buyer.

The visible supply of grain in the chief ports of Argentina with comparisons follow:

	This week.	Last week.	Last year.
Wheat	640,000	808,000	320,000
Corn	3,570,000	3,910,000	1,625,000

Bids on the call for wheat to arrive were ¾@1c higher; corn, ¼c to ½c higher; oats, unchanged to ½c higher; and rye unchanged.

Eastern advices show little interest in the corn market. Owing to the big crops raised in the east this year the demand is light.

Receipts of wheat at Winnipeg were 362 cars, compared with 601 cars last week and 621 cars the corresponding day last year.

Estimated receipts are: Wheat, 28 cars; corn, 177 cars; oats, 97 cars; rye, 2 cars; barley, 27 cars; hogs, 7,000.

CANNED GOODS AGAIN SOUGHT

Cooler Weather of Last Week Brings Out Heavy Demand.

FORCE SALES IN TOMATOES.

Some Packers Who Need Money Responsible for Activity in 3s.

Cooler weather of the last week has brought out a demand for canned goods even greater than that of three weeks ago, which was regarded as a record breaker for that season of the year.

With the exception of standard No. 3 tomatoes, not an article of the line shows a sign of weakness, and the weakness of No. 3 tomatoes is due to the financial exigencies of some of the packers rather than the statistical situation, which is exceptionally strong. Every indication points not only to No. 3 tomatoes regaining their firmness before many days have passed, but of taking an upward turn before the first of the year.

Forced Sales a Stimulus.

Many packers are completely sold out, while most of those who are not in that position have already disposed of two-thirds to three-quarters of their 1910 pack. The market it is said, is being made by a few packers who, having financial obligations to meet, are disposed to sacrifice a part of their holdings to get the cash. No. 3 Marylands are quoted at 72½c factory, but it is reported that 70c might be accepted in some quarters.

Prunes are about the only line of dried fruit in which there is any activity at present on the coast. One of the freakish turns of the season has placed the smaller sizes on a firm basis, while the larger sizes are the weakest and, according to report, can be purchased now for half a cent cheaper than a week or so ago.

Seeded Raisin Trade Easier.

California seeded raisins are rather neglected and the market is a trifle easier in tone.

The approximate pack of British Columbia salmon to Oct. 22 was 208,957 cases on the Fraser river, 226,429 cases on the Skeena, 129,847 cases on Rivers Inlet, 40,458 cases on Nass river, and 139,794 cases at outlying points, making a grand total of 738,485 cases, of which 675,481 cases consisted of sockeyes, 19,576 cases of red springs, 4,705 cases of white springs, 74,990 cases of chums and pinks, and 65,785 cases of cohoes.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—COFFEE—Futures opened steady at an advance of 5@10 points in response to higher European cables, talk of higher Brazilian offerings for forward shipment, covering and some fresh buying for long account. Business was only moderately active, however, and toward the end the market eased off with the close steady on near months, but weak on distant positions, net 5 points higher to 3 lower. Sales, 30,000 bags. Closing: November, 8.80c; December, 8.90c; January, 8.97c; February, 9.03c; March, 9.09c; April, 9.09c; May, June, July, and August, 9.10c; September and October, 9.09c.

COLD WEATHER BOOSTS DEMAND.

The McNeil & Higgins company's weekly review of the wholesale grocery trade says:

"The cold snappy weather of the last week has greatly increased the demand for groceries. Coming after an unusually good business throughout the summer months retail merchants continue to show an unceasing interest in all lines. Fall buying is not restricted apparently by the purchases made earlier in the season, which were larger by far than the purchases of the average season.

"Cold weather always adds to the requirements of the retail merchant in his business of furnishing articles of food to consumers. Owing to the unusually small amount of preserving and canning done by the consumer this year, the indications are that the retail merchant will have an unprecedented demand which will be checked only by his inability to replenish his stock with the quality of goods which his trade will demand."

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK MARKET.

Hog buyers at Chicago yesterday took a determined stand for cheaper bacon and forced a reduction of 10@20c in prices of lightweight hogs, while they paid firm to 5c higher for heavyweight, lard producing grades. They could not get the reduction on the former class of stock without a struggle and the market for such offerings was slow and uncertain throughout the session. Heavy hogs, on the other hand, moved freely and closed in a strong position at the advance. Cattle trade was slow and weak, while the demand for live muttons centered chiefly in prime fat lambs, which were held at firm prices.

POULTRY MARKET IS ACTIVE; FIRM VALUES FOR RECEIPTS.

Generous Chicago Arrivals Disposed of at Good Rate—Fresh Fruit Supply Limited, but Meets Requirements.

Aside from a fairly active trade in poultry, where generous arrivals were disposed of at firm prices, the produce trade at Chicago yesterday was disappointingly slow, with retailers and shippers taking much lighter supplies than usual for a Friday. Receipts of fresh fruits and green vegetables were limited, but there was so little inquiry that prices showed no betterment and the trade was amply supplied. Dairy products moved slowly and showed no change in values.

EX-PHONE HEAD FACES SUIT.

Legal Action Said to Be Threatened Against Henry H. Evans to Recover $40,000.

Henry H. Evans, former president of the Interstate Independent Telephone and Telegraph company, now in the hands of receivers, may be made defendant in a suit to recover $40,000, which he is alleged to have paid to himself out of the treasury of the company.

George Curzons of London, England, representative of an English syndicate which holds $200,000 of the company's bonds, arrived in Chicago yesterday and is insisting representatives of minority bondholders declare, that legal action be taken against Evans.

The arrival of the Englishman was followed by the appointment by Judge Kohlsaat of Seymour K. Ladd of Detroit, Mich., as the third receiver in charge of the affairs of the company.

OPPOSES A PARCELS POST LAW.

National Millinery Jobbers' Association Protests Against Adoption of Such a Measure.

The National Millinery Jobbers' association closed its tenth anniversary meeting with a banquet at the Blackstone hotel last night, at which addresses on trade topics were made. The association adopted reports protesting against a parcels post law demanding an increased tariff on imported plumage, and a lower tariff on flowers, ribbons, and feathers, and declaring the support of the association for the Audubon law. It was declared that the parcels post law would injure the trade of the jobber and the country merchant, and the legislative committee was instructed to oppose it.

Jacksonville, Ill., Nov. 4.—An audit and bond company reported to the city council today that there is due the city $54,000 from former city officials who were in the office during the last thirteen years. Of the amount due the report says a former city attorney and collector of special assessments owes $39,784 and interest amounting to $9,126. Former police court justices and city treasurers are also named in the report as owing the city money.

HOLDS BACK ON COAL CLAIMS.

Government Has No Idea of Making Arbitrary Cancellations on All Alaska Lands.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 4.—The government has no idea of arbitrarily canceling all the Alaska coal claims, as was reported from Spokane yesterday, it was stated at the interior department today. The government can cancel only such claims as have been investigated and after a hearing have been shown to be fraudulent.

Sisters Fight Father's Will.

A bill asking that the will of the late Carl Rudowsky, who died Nov 13, 1909, leaving an estate valued at about $4,000, be set aside was filed in the Circuit court yesterday by the three daughters of Rudowsky, Mrs. Nona B. Blunck, Mrs. Emma L. Schwars, and Mrs. Nellie A. Rothmund. They were left nothing in the will, and charge that their father was not of sound mind when he signed the instrument.

BARE "TUB" TRUST CONTROL

Monopoly Shown in U. S. Hearing by Combine Official's Letter.

GET 90 PER CENT OF TRADE.

Refuse to Sell Goods to Firms Who Decline to Enter Combine.

The operations of the so-called "bath tub trust," a body of sixteen manufacturers of enameled iron ware, which was formed less than a year ago, and which is charged with practically controlling the trade, were further shown at a hearing of the government's injunction suit before Special Examiner Lindsay C. Spencer yesterday. The hearing was held in the grand jury room of the federal building and was a continuance of the hearings recently held in Pittsburg.

The suit against the combination was brought by Attorney General Wickersham in the United States Circuit court of Maryland, after Special Agent Joseph Darling had made an exhaustive investigation of the operations of the trust. The hearing was adjourned to Chicago to allow several western independent manufacturers to testify.

Control 90 Per Cent of Trade.

The features of yesterday's hearing were the identification of letters written by Theodore Ahrens, president of the Standard Sanitary Manufacturing company, declaring that the combination controlled 90 per cent of the jobbing trade. This control was gained through several patent processes, said to have been originated by Edwin L. Wayman.

The firms that entered the combination were "licensed" to use these patents. Then, the government alleges, a "reselling" organization was formed. Jobbers were forced to sign contracts not to purchase other than "licensed" goods and to sell these on a fixed schedule. No jobber is sold any "licensed" goods until he signs the contract, and severe penalties for selling below the prices fixed in the contracts are provided.

The witnesses for the government were John W. Sullwold, president of the Western Supply company of St. Paul, and Walter J. Kohler, president of the J. M. Kohler Sons company, of Sheboygan, Chicago and San Francisco, two of the largest "independents." Mr. Sullwold read his letter in reply to an invitation by Ahrens to join the "association."

Refuses to Enter Combine.

"I do not purpose to enter the plan," he said. "Your patents are only a subterfuge. Be fair with the public. We are going to run our own business and not sign the resale plan at this time."

Two Chicago firms, the L. Wolff Manufacturing company and the J. L. Mott Iron works, are defendants in the suit.

The hearing probably will be adjourned today and subsequent hearings will be held in Pittsburg. The government's case is being conducted by Edwin P. Grosvenor, special assistant to the attorney general.

HOLIDAY ACTIVITY REPORTED IN WHOLESALE DRY GOODS.

Marshall Field & Co., in Weekly Review, Say There Is Tendency Among Merchants to Broaden Stocks.

Marshall Field & Co. in their weekly review of the dry goods trade say:

"The last week has brought a heavy business in all holiday lines. We note a tendency among general merchants, even in the larger cities, to broaden out in lines carried for the holiday trade. Where a few dolls and staple toys once substituted the Christmas showing, we now find the buying covers all kinds of novelties and fancy goods. This has necessitated laying in larger and more comprehensive open stocks, from which duplicate orders can be filled all through the season.

"Wholesale stocks are sensitive ultimately to the desires of the consumer. The high trade of holiday merchandise being called for this season emphasizes this fact forcibly. In jewelry lines merchants are showing more inclination toward the better qualities and are more than formerly buying fine gold filled and solid gold jewelry for stock. The same tendency toward higher grade merchandise is shown in the cut glass sales.

"A particularly strong item in all jewelry departments this season is the mesh bag line—here again medium and high priced goods lead. Fancy brass goods have more than doubled sales and there is every indication that they will be the most popular item of inexpensive fancy goods for the Christmas trade.

"We believe the next four weeks will be the heaviest Christmas buying season ever experienced. Holiday box neckwear demand is unusually heavy, running especially to the Persian patterns."

COTTON GOODS VALUES FIRM; AGENTS HOLDING TO PRICES.

Offers Below What Is Termed Actual Cost of Production Turned Down in New York.

New York, Nov. 4.—[Special.]—Fluctuations in the raw material market do not seem to have affected values on cotton goods. Selling agents and manufacturers are holding firmly to their selling prices, and are turning down offers below what is termed actual cost of production.

There has been no softening or weakening of prices on the finished goods, although in the dry goods market buyers have been able during the last week to secure wide and narrow goods at ⅛ cent and 1-16 cent respectively below top prices at the opening of the week.

The demand for staple prints is steady. On fine cotton wash dress fabrics some of the larger buyers have been quietly duplicating their initial spring orders, while in one or two cases large retail houses, especially in the west, have been placing orders on both domestic and imported cotton wash fabrics.

Cotton Yarns Holding Up Fairly Well.

Cotton yarns are holding up fairly well, although irregular prices are reported in several quarters of the market. Weavers and knitters are buying conservatively, and are using every effort to secure lower prices.

The sale of carpets and rugs by the Alexander Smith & Sons company has progressed steadily, and will be concluded tomorrow. Large buyers have been successful in picking up some unusual bargains in rugs, and at today's sale the goods were taken in large quantities, ranging from 20 to 25 bales. Buyers representing New York houses were heavy purchasers, while Chicago and other western houses secured large quantities of goods.

The print cloth market is quiet, with few transactions reported in any quarter. Prices show no change, with 28 inch 64 squares at 3⅝c, 38½ inch 64 squares at 5¼c, and 39 inch 68x72s on a basis of 5⅝c.

$10,000,000 MELON IN SEARS STOCK?

Reported That 33 1-3 Per Cent Dividend Will Bring Common Up to $40,000,000.

STEEL SHOWS ACTIVITY.

Trading Amounts to 3,000 Shares, an Unusual Development in Local Market.

From sources which appear to be fairly trustworthy, it is reported that the melon to be cut for benefit of the common stockholders of Sears, Roebuck & Co. will be a 33 1-3 per cent stock dividend or $10,000,000. The present outstanding common stock is $30,000,000. The new issue will therefore bring the total common up to $40,000,000.

In addition to the issue of free stock it is reported the dividend rate on the common, which is now 7 per cent, will be increased or a cash dividend declared.

According to the annual report for the fiscal year ended Dec. 31, 1909, the net earnings applicable to dividends or surplus were $6,192,361. Dividends on the preferred stock absorbed $669,375, leaving $5,522,986 for the common shares. This was equal to 18.40 per cent on $30,000,000. The surplus for the year after dividends was $4,172,986, and the total surplus shown in the balance sheet was $9,569,476.

Earnings Said to Show Gain.

The $5,522,986 applicable to the common stock would be equal to 13.80 per cent on $40,000,000 of common stock. But officials of the company assert that earnings are from 25 to 30 per cent in excess of last year. If there is no over enthusiasm in these announcements, the earnings for 1910 should be at least around 17 per cent on $40,000,000 of common stock.

As to total income, the official annual report for 1909 showed $51,135,505. This after deductions. The figures for the six months ended Dec. 31, 1908, were $21,860,000, or at the rate of $43,720,018. The percentage of increase on this basis for 1909 over 1908 was 17 per cent.

The directors of the company are expected to meet within the next fortnight to take action on the extra dividend or dividends.

Activity in Chicago Stocks.

Sears-Roebuck common led the local market in price movement during the day. Quotations advanced from 172⅝ to 175½, then back to a close at 174. The total number of shares traded in was 1,590.

There was unusual activity in United States Steel common. Trading amounted to 3,000 shares. Ordinarily there is nothing doing in this stock on the local exchange. But there is at the present time a large bull movement on, or at least high class buying, and this has helped to spread the trading to the Chicago exchange.

Illinois Brick shares sold fractionally lower. The position of the insiders in the market cannot be considered strong. McCrum-Howell preferred, opened at 95 and closed at 97⅝. The opening price was a drop from the last previous quotation. It is probable the decline was caused by allegations against the so-called bathtub trust, of which the company is accused of being a member. It has one department devoted to that business.

Chicago Railways certificates were but sparingly dealt in and prices were steady.

Aldrich-Vreeland Emergency Notes.

The November statement of the treasury department of national bank notes outstanding indicates what the Aldrich-Vreeland emergency circulation act can do for the country, if fully availed of. On Nov. 1, 1910, there was outstanding national bank notes, secured by government bonds, to the amount of $691,335,845.

There has already been printed by the government $500,000,000 emergency notes ready to be issued to the banks upon proper application. The bank note money in circulation could be, therefore, practically doubled. It is doubtful whether the clearing house certificates resorted to in the last money stringency exceeded 10 per cent of the total bank note circulation of the country.

On Aug. 22, 1907, Chicago national banks had outstanding a total of $10,070,000 notes. The clearing house certificates issued reached a total around $9,000,000. The national banks had on Sept. 1, 1910, $17,025,190, and could increase their circulation through emergency notes $46,500,000.

Some of the banks in the National Currency association of the city of Chicago might not be able to do much, with state and municipal bonds they might have on hand. But inasmuch as the welfare of one is the welfare of all, there is no doubt that all the banks in the clearing house association would coöperate with the banks in the currency association. By lending the bonds held by state banks to the national banks, the full amount of emergency circulation could be taken out and the state banks benefited as well as the nationals through the operation of the law.

It is believed that the more the Aldrich-Vreeland act is considered, the greater the possibility of the usefulness of its provisions will appear. The new notes may be taken out without any disturbance of public confidence.

Large Currency Shipments.

Shipments of currency by Chicago banks during the month of October exceeded receipts by $14,706,416. The outward movement was $22,084,300, by far the largest of any month in the year. It exceeded September by $4,444,986. The excess shipments for that month were $7,974,805. It is probable that the heaviest outgo was in the latter part of the month, when local banks began to find their deposits running down. The money market at once firmed up, for with such a large outgo several of the banks were near their legal reserve and one was under it.

For the first ten months of the calendar year the total shipments were $118,549,972, against $117,871,714 for the corresponding period last year. The excess of shipments over receipts for the first ten months of 1910 were $30,341,034, against $28,939,938 for 1909. The shipments for the month of October, 1910, were the largest for any one month since October, 1909, when they were $22,343,628. The figures:

Heavy Decrease in Copper.

October showed the heaviest increase in the foreign visible supply of copper that has taken place since the movement began last March. The month's decrease was over 13,000,000 pounds. The total decrease in the last eight months was 56,089,650 pounds, or 22 per cent from the high point of 254,150,450 pounds on March 1.

Stocks showed a loss of over 9,000,000 pounds during the month, bringing the decrease from 242,435,200 pounds of March 1 to 67,241,800 pounds, or 27 per cent. The monthly movements compare as follows:

Nevada Consolidated.

Nevada Consolidated's recent annual statement is the first for a full year period that shows the company's producing ability. In spite of unusual physical conditions and the reporting of a deficit for two quarters the company finally showed net profit of $3,580,786, or 35.86 per cent on the $10,000,000 stock. The payment of 30 per cent dividends and reservations for depreciation left nearly half a million to be added to surplus, this record putting the Nevada Consolidated among the six largest producing mines in the world whose shares are held publicly, and four years after work was started on the Steptoe smelter.

The company's ore reserves to date total 40,360,000 tons, of average copper content of 1.7 per cent, enough on the basis of present extraction to keep the mills busy for twenty years. Last year's operations show:

Average copper assay	2.06%

CENTRAL LEADS STOCK FALL

Slump Gives Excuse for Large Offerings in New York.

RESISTANCE MADE BY STEEL

Some Selling Influenced by Call Money Rates' Rise.

[NEW YORK TIMES FINANCIAL LEADER.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—[Special.]—A sharp fall in New York Central, carrying the stock from 117 to 114¾, late in today's stock market session seemed to supply an excuse for large offerings of shares in all departments, with the result that prices in general broke from 1 to 2 points from the high figures touched by them in the morning's vigorous forward movement.

The dealings, both morning and afternoon, were almost entirely professional in their origin, and the afternoon break was accompanied by the wide circulation of a report that the Central was arranging new financing, involving between $20,000,000 and $40,000,000, upon terms which would mean to the road not less than 7 per cent.

The market closed at practically the low figures of the day, and it was not until after business was over that President Brown of the Central issued an official statement to the effect that none of the various Central lines contemplated early financing. The Michigan Central's sale of notes in Paris already has been announced, although President Brown took occasion today to deny persistent reports that the money had cost the road more than 4¾ per cent, which had been mentioned as the rate.

Resistance by a Few Stocks.

There was some irregularity in the afternoon decline, resistance being offered to the general tendency by a few stocks, including United States Steel, which absorbed one-third of the day's business and closed at an advance of half a point. Some of the selling probably was influenced by a rise in call money rates to 4¾ per cent, the highest quotations made since the money market strengthened several weeks ago, as well as by the further fact that short time loans, including sixty and ninety day maturities, went to a full 5 per cent. In banking circles these higher quotations were regarded as entirely logical and as representing what should be nearly the maximum quotations of the rest of the year unless unforeseen factors complicate the situation.

Loss in Cash Indicated.

Preliminary estimates of the currency movements of the week indicated a loss of above $2,000,000 in cash by local institutions, but the problem of tomorrow's bank statement again turns upon the effect of the higher money rates of the week upon deposits and loans. It seems to be the prevailing opinion that changes in these items have been of a kind to offset the loss in cash reported and that the statement as a whole will reveal a position differing little from that disclosed a week ago.

Money was firmer in London and the foreign exchange market again was heavy.

Money on call strong, 4@4¾ per cent; ruling rate, 4½; closing bid, 4½; offered at 4¾. Time loans strong; 60 days and 90 days, 5@5¼; six months, 4¾@5. Close: Prime mercantile paper, 5½@6 per cent. Sterling exchange weak after advance, with actual business in bankers' bills at 4.8165@4.8195 for 60 day bills and at 4.8590 for demand. Commercial bills, 4.81¼@4.81¾. Bar silver, 55⅝. Mexican dollars, 47. Government bonds steady. Railroad bonds steady.

IN FOREIGN STOCK MARKETS.

LONDON, Nov. 4.—Money was in strong demand and dearer, and discount rates were firmer today. The stock market was quiet with the chief business confined to rubber shares and gilt edged securities at higher prices. Mining shares weakened early on continental liquidation, but closed firmer in sympathy with the strength in Paris. Consols, in which the settlement was concluded, were steady. American securities opened quiet and about unchanged. During the early trading prices were irregular, but covering in the afternoon as well as New York buying advanced values and made the closing firm.

DEADLOCK IN EXPRESS STRIKE

Workers Will Not Return Unless the Union Is Recognized.

GAYNOR RULE AIDS MEN.

Companies Retort City Cannot Enforce Mayor's Order.

New York, Nov. 4.—The quarrel between the six express companies and their employés of the metropolitan district slided blindly today into an impasse. Indirectly the men received assurances from the state board of mediators that their grievances would be favorably listened to if they would consent to forego their cardinal demand for recognition of their union—the International Brotherhood of Teamsters. In massmeeting later the men resolved they would stay out until the union is recognized.

Their action was the one positive development of the day. Elsewhere there were conferences among the labor leaders and between Mayor Gaynor and Francis S. Bangs, counsel for the Adams Express company, and Vice President Stockton of the Wells-Fargo company, but no final word issued from any of them.

Gaynor Rule Aids Strikers.

The only act taken by the mayor was to uphold the city ordinance requiring that all express drivers must be licensed by the city—a requirement that bars the employment of strikebreakers.

The companies in a statement issued tonight retorted that "The larger number of wagons, and in the case of some of the companies, all the wagons, are engaged in interstate commerce, and as such are not subject to local regulation in regard to licenses."

Admits Outlook Is Serious.

"The situation seems more serious than for the last two days," said William C. Rogers of the state board of mediation and arbitration. "But we are not without hope of a speedy settlement."

Daniel J. Tobin, president of the brotherhood, intimated that if matters did not clear he might recommend to the national executive board a general strike of all teamsters of the country. In the event of such a call, 170,000 men would walk out.

A. P. HEINZE QUITS TOMBS.

Brother of F. Augustus Released After Serving Ten Day Sentence for Contempt of Court.

New York, Nov. 4.—Arthur P. Heinze, the brother of F. Augustus Heinze, was released from the Tombs today after serving a ten day sentence for contempt of court.

The contempt consisted in advising a bookkeeper of his brother's firm to leave town when the bookkeeper was wanted by the federal grand jury as a material witness in the investigation of the Heinze firm.

Heinze, for his short stay in the prison, had fitted up his cell luxuriously. He had rugs, steamer chairs, and books placed in it and all his meals were brought from the outside. His only visitors were his wife and a woman friend.

BURLINGTON WIRE MEN RAISED.

2,265 Telegraphers Stated to Have Received Increases Aggregating $110,000 Annually.

An 8 per cent increase to the railway telegraphers has been granted by the Burlington system, it was stated yesterday. The raise amounts to $110,000 annually and affects 2,265 men. The railroad company has also granted several minor concessions to the telegraphers' union. It was agreed that the relay and office men shall not be forced to work longer than eight consecutive hours

RAIL HEADS PLAN TRIP TO URBANA

Visit to University of Illinois Will Be Made Next Wednesday.

WANT TO SEE WORK DONE

Officials Are Anxious to Observe Facilities in Engineering Department.

A party of forty or fifty prominent railroad officials of the city, including the presidents of the principal Illinois roads, are planning a trip to Urbana next Wednesday for the purpose of visiting the University of Illinois and especially to observe the work and facilities of the engineering and railway departments.

The trip, which is expected to result in a plan of closer coöperation between the railroads and the railway school of the university, is the direct outcome of a luncheon given on Oct. 7 by President F. A. Delano of the Wabash road for Prof. W. F. M. Goss, dean of the engineering department.

In addition to inspecting the laboratories and buildings of the university and meeting the heads of the various departments, the railroad men will be addressed by D. C. Buell, chief of the educational bureau of the Union Pacific-Southern Pacific system, on the work of the elaborate educational system which has been developed during the last year or two on the Harriman lines.

Water Lines Get More Time.

The time within which water transportation companies engaged in interstate commerce may file answers to inquiries of the interstate commerce commission in connection with their annual reports has been extended to Dec. 1. The postponement of the time limit for these returns was ordered by the commission upon representation of the carriers as to the difficulty involved in getting the facts together.

The information sought, which was to have been filed by Oct. 31, is such as may be readily obtainable from the companies' books and records, and will be of benefit to the commission in the preparation of a suitable form of annual reports for this class of carriers.

Thorne Refutes Miller's Claim.

Clifford Thorne, attorney for the western livestock shippers, who presented a statement to the interstate commerce commission on Tuesday to show that a physical valuation of the railroads in four states showed an overcapitalization of $400,000,000, replied yesterday by telegram from Pocahontas, Ia., to the statement issued by President Darius Miller of the Burlington in refutation of his figures.

"The statement I filed with the commission was backed up by detailed reports of the state commissions in the states named," said Mr. Thorne, "and is absolutely correct in every detail. Mr. Miller gives the cost of reproducing the properties new. I took the present value precisely as stated by me. I took the Minnesota valuation expressly approved by their commission."

VACANT PROPERTY RULES MARKET

East End Boulevard Site Sold for $62,000; Other Deals in That Vicinity.

PLAN SUBSTATION STORE.

Members of Rothschild & Co. to Start One at Wabash Avenue and Seventy-first Street.

Large transactions in vacant property were among the most important developments in a real estate way yesterday.

One of these comprised the sale by Mrs. Fanny F. Brega to Joseph H. Defrees of the block of 316x164 feet, with three street frontages, on East End boulevard, Fifty-sixth street, and Cornell avenue respectively, for $62,000. The purchase gives Mr. Defrees about 700 feet of frontage on Fifty-sixth street opposite Jackson park. He has invested in this neighborhood about $700,000 and is the largest individual owner in the East End avenue district.

The last transaction was negotiated by Hyde W. Perce & Co., who will have charge of such of the property as the buyer may place on the market in the near future.

Another transaction in vacant property just closed comprises a tract of sixty-four lots located on Fifty-first street between Center avenue and Loomis street, Center avenue between Fifty-first and Fifty-second streets, west of Center avenue, facing Sherman park. They were sold by W. D. Kerfoot & Co. for the estate of John D. Bres of New York City to Bruno F. Kowalewski for $81,100. It is understood that the purchaser plans to retail the lots.

Sirup Firm Buys Site.

The Oelerich and Berry company, manufacturers of sirups, have purchased from Rudolf Brand the property on Larrabee street, 75 feet north of Hawthorne avenue, 144 feet, east front, by 120 feet on the north and 50 feet on the south, and 138 feet on Hawthorne avenue. The improvements comprise a two story brick building formerly occupied by the Brand Brewing company.

The purchasing company formerly was located on property which was acquired by the Northwestern road in connection with its new station and leased the Brand property with option to purchase at $48,000, which option it has now exercised. In connection with the purchase the company gave back a trust deed to H. A. Haugan, trustee, to secure $30,000 of the purchase money, five years, at 6 per cent.

To Build Piano Building.

Walter C. Griswold, owner of the vacant property at 2624-2628 South Park avenue, 50x180 feet, has entered into a contract with the Cable Piano company whereby he will construct on the lot a three story building for the use of the company under a ten year lease. The company will use the building for storage, finishing, and a garage, and will pay a net rent based on the cost of land and building. The amount involved in the land and building is about $55,000. Farnham, Willoughby & Co. represented both parties.

The same firm has sold for Ralph C. Otis to Noble B. Judah the premises 119-121 Twenty-fourth street, between Michigan and Indiana avenues, for $32,000. The land was purchased a few months ago by Mr. Otis, who erected a two story building, which Farnham, Willoughby & Co. leased to the Bosch Magneto company for fifteen years.

Substation for Store.

Rothschild & Co. will establish a substation at the northwest corner of Wabash avenue and Seventy-first street in a building to be erected there for the use of the firm, and which it has leased from Thomas R. Shearer and Alonzo L. Howard for a term of fifteen years at a net annual rent of $2,500. The building, which will cover the lot, 100x160 feet, will be two stories high and will cost about $25,000.

Jacob Franks has purchased from Franklin C. Platt the six apartment building on Michigan avenue, fifty feet south of Forty-ninth street, with 50x160 feet of ground, west front, for $37,000, subject to an incumbrance of $14,000.

Isador Klawans and others have purchased from Moses Rubin the store and flat property at the northeast corner of Western avenue and Taylor street, with 25x100 feet of ground, for $13,000, subject to an incumbrance of $9,000.

Armstrong Bros. Tool company has purchased from the Bernard Statuary company the inside lot, 111x132 feet, between Grand and Chicago avenues, with improvements for $9,000, with incumbrance of $6,000.

Residence Property Is Sold.

John W. Kilmore has sold, through Jackson Bros., to Richard A. Cavenaugh his residence on Washington boulevard, half a square east of Garfield park, for $15,000. It is in one of the best residence districts on the west side.

Walter V. Aikman has taken title by master's deed from Martha E. Wood and others to 145x175 feet at the southeast corner of Fifty-first and Rockwell streets and other property for $25,041.

Jacob Goldberg has sold to Aleck Rest and Samuel Miller the property in West Madison street 250 feet east of Aberdeen street, 25x120 feet, north front, with store and flat improvements, for $18,500, subject to an incumbrance of $7,500.

Peter's House Reported Sold.

It was reported during the day that Edward H. Peters of the real estate firm of Fetzer, Peters & Co., had sold his residence at 5555 Jackson boulevard, which is east of Garfield park. It is said to have been bought for a sanitarium and the consideration is placed at $40,000 or $50,000. The property has a thirty foot frontage and a depth of 125 feet. The building is of stone construction and has fourteen rooms.

Chicago Horse Market.

Horses met with an indifferent demand through retail channels, auction sales being suspended for the day, and the market had a weak undertone at recently reduced prices. Demand this week has sought the extremes, with the result that cheap farm mares at $60.00 and $125.00 and stall finished drafters at $225.00@275.00 sold with fair alacrity and held on a steady basis, while the intermediate grades of all classification moved slowly and showed slight reductions in prices. Receipts for the week showed a decrease, aggregating 1,025 head, against 1,124 the preceding week and 1,267 a year ago, but this failed to stimulate the demand, and the trade lacked the snap which should characterize it at this season of the year.

Whisky.

FOR SALE—
WE CANNOT AFFORD TO GIVE AWAY
Trees and shrubberies, as our small profit will not permit us to do so, but we can sell you acre lots than others sell them, and not only that but our acres are located actually in town, close to all stores, churches, schools, and every day conveniences.
ONE-THIRD LESS

Have you ever considered what it is to put up your home miles away from any stores, churches, and schools, where you are practically isolated from the outside world?

By locating on our subdivision you locate practically in a small town where good neighbors are your daily companions, where your children need not walk miles to school, where you can phone your grocer, butcher, and supply man and have your goods delivered on notice.

Our acres are located on the highest ground between Lake Michigan and Fox River, overlooking practically the whole Du Page Valley. The land is gently rolling, with beautiful slopes. The soil is veritable garden soil. Water cannot be excelled, as Glen Ellyn is noted everywhere for its excellent mineral springs.

Transportation to Chicago is the best of any subdivision along the Aurora, Elgin and Chicago Electric road, since express trains on same stop only at Glen Ellyn, making last stop at Lombard before reaching Chicago. Besides the electric road we have the Northwestern R. R., both depots being side by side in Glen Ellyn and located on Main-st., the street that runs through the center of our subdivision.

The fare from Glen Ellyn to Chicago is only 11c a ride on monthly tickets and trains land you at Fifth-av. station within 45 minutes and express trains in less than 40 minutes.

To convince yourself that what we claim is all true, call at our Chicago office and our agent will be pleased to show you our subdivision without any expense to you.

REAL ESTATE—SUMMER RESORTS.

FOX LAKE,
ILLINOIS.

Where did you spend your vacation this summer? We know it cost you a lot of money. Did you have as good time as you expected?

Do you know you can purchase a lot in our subdivision on this beautiful lake for

$5.00 CASH and $2.00 PER MONTH
NO INTEREST OR TAXES.

Think of it! Each lot, 50x225 feet, and only 50 minutes' ride from Chicago. You can live at Fox Lake and do business in Chicago.

Why not own a bungalow on this lake when you can do it on these terms?

SAVE EXPENSIVE VACATION TRIPS.

You can have a chicken farm.

You could not find a better place to camp out. Fine fishing, bathing, and all outdoor sports. Good hunting; ducks are coming in now.

Don't be foolish and let this opportunity pass. Property is increasing in value very fast and it is only a short time until all lake properties will be gone and then you will wish you had taken advantage of this proposition.

Remember, $5.00 cash and $2.00 per month buys a lot. Can you afford to miss it? One seven room cottage ready to occupy.

Come out with us tomorrow. Train leaves the Union Depot at 7:25 in the morning [ask for our man at gate No. 6], returning about 6:50 p. m. Only $2.50, all expenses, railroad fare, boat fare, and dinner at the lake. Come out and spend a fine day in the country.

Call at once and get your ticket to secure the above rate.

FOR SALE—
AN APPEAL TO REASON
TO INVESTOR AND TO HOMESEEKERS.
Do you know that the mild, balmy winter and the ideal summers of Western Oregon will soon advance the prices of lands beyond the reach of men of moderate means? Do you know that the completion of the Panama canal will be the means of taking this practically small area of land off the market? Land is the foundation of wealth. Never in the history of this country has there been such a rush for lands in Western Oregon. Those having previously invested in stocks and bonds are now putting their money in Mother Earth, where they CANNOT LOSE, where there is NO GAMBLE. Write today for booklets and literature; it costs you nothing; don't put it off.
T. A. RIGGS & CO., 233 Palmer House.

This is one of the few remaining opportunities of this kind for individual or syndicate purchases, to be held, developed, or exploited for colonization. Can probably lease these lands to return 3 per cent until ready to resell or develop. Address for one week B 213, Tribune.

BANKRUPT PIANO STOCK of the Thompson Piano Mfg. Co. We bought the entire stock for 25 cents on the dollar on order of the United States District Court from the American Trust and Savings Bank.

This will enable you to get just the piano or player-piano you want at a reduction in price from 1-3 to ½.

Make no mistake. Do not be misled.

Visit every piano store in town and you will come back and purchase from us, because the saving is from $100 to $250 on pianos of the highest standard during this Bankrupt Piano Sale.

Shrewd purchasers are taking advantage of it. To be sure, you may have to wait a few minutes when you call. Most of our salesmen are busy, but it will pay you to wait, because every minute you wait you earn dollars.

Every one of these pianos and player-pianos should be sold for cash, on account of the enormous price reduction.

The entire bankrupt stock must be disposed of. None will be reserved. For this reason we will make the terms to those who have not all the cash from $4 to $10 per month.

Included in this stock are new and used Steger, Chickerings, Steinways, Shoningers, Knabe, Hardmans, Sohmers, Mason & Hamlin, Emersons—in fact, nearly every standard make represented.

Every instrument is marked in plain figures, showing former price and receiver's sale price.

Our own guarantee goes with every piano we sell.

I APPRECIATE ACCOUNTS OF HONORABLE people [men employed or in business, ladies with allowances from their husbands or incomes from other sources] who want large or small sums confidentially, with or without security. My location [30 minutes from loop district], and my being the president of a large wholesale vehicle establishment [Bradstreet's and other agencies show its standing] and not a professional money lender, assures a privacy not possible to those who deal with brokers in downtown office buildings where money lenders congregate. My customer's name and address are known only to me; my employes know accounts only by serial number. Professional lenders demand high rates, usually asking so much that the average straightforward citizen realizes that exorbitant charges for any time are burdensome. My average price, all charges positively included, is never more than 1, 2, or 3 per cent monthly, often less, depending on risk and amount loaned. Individual waiting rooms. START TO REPAIR CAR LINE TODAY

Old Consolidated Tracks on West Madison Street to Be Rehabilitated.

SOME WORK UNDER WAY.

Company Hopes to Have at Least Ten Miles Finished Before Winter.

Complaints from residents of Austin that no steps have been taken by the Chicago Railways company to rehabilitate the old Consolidated tracks in West Madison street were met yesterday by statements that the work will be begun this morning.

At the offices of the board of supervising engineers Ald. Charles J. Forsberg was told that the first load of new steels rails will be sent to Madison street and Fortieth avenue and that ties and other materials will follow as rapidly as they can be obtained. This promise was given by John Z. Murphy, chief engineer of the company.

Rehabilitation Is Under Way.

Rehabilitation of the old lines in Milwaukee and Belmont avenues already is under way and the company is hoping that construction weather will continue into December, so that at least ten or twelve miles of new track may be completed this year.

The present work is proceeding on Belmont avenue, between Ashland and Sheffield avenues and between Robey street and Western avenue, distances of one and one-half miles and one mile, respectively. On Milwaukee avenue construction gangs are laying out the extension of the old terminal of the line.

More Work Is Planned.

The next work projected includes the following:

Milwaukee avenue—Logan Square to Lawrence avenue, 7.65 miles.

Madison street—Fortieth avenue to Sixtieth avenue, 5 miles.

Lincoln avenue—Lawrence avenue to Foster avenue, .9 mile.

Clybourn place—Elston avenue to Southport avenue, 2 miles.

Western avenue—Elston avenue to Belmont avenue, .9 mile.

Twelfth street—Fortieth avenue to Forty-sixth avenue, 1.5 miles.

Lake street—Forty-eighth avenue to Pine avenue, 1.9 miles.

Lake street—Sixtieth avenue to Central avenue, 1 mile.

The different pieces of work will not be taken up in the order named, but according to the way in which construction gangs are formed and materials obtained.

SAYS LOBBYISTS DECEIVED CONGRESS ON TARIFF BILL.

Samuel M. Evans of Washington in Address to City Club Scores Method of Framing the Law.

Samuel M. Evans of Washington spoke on "How the Tariff Laws Are Written, as Illustrated by the Cotton Schedule," before the City club at its regular weekly luncheon yesterday. He attributed Senator Dolliver's recent death and Senator La Follette's illness to their untiring work in connection with the passage of the Aldrich tariff. He declared that few of the members of the house and the senate understood the bill, because they did not have time to investigate it, and that the manufacturers had "pulled the wool" over the eyes of many of the legislators. He advocated a permanent tariff commission.

"Every industry had its representatives in Washington to see that its interests were not injured in the process of tariff revision," said Mr. Evans. "Every one wanted the tariff revised downward, but wanted the revision to come on the other fellow's products. The sight reminded one of a grabbag social, only the grabbers were not blindfolded. Perhaps it was more like a lot of pigs trying to get into the trough at feeding time."

At the regular luncheon next week Dr. Albert Sudekum of Berlin will speak on municipal progress in Germany.

FINGER MARKS SHOWN JURY

State Offers Photographs to Prove Negro Murderer.

FOUR EXPERTS TO TESTIFY.

New Evidence Connects Jennings with Murder of Hiller.

Charging finger prints found on the hand rail of the back steps of the Hiller residence were identical with the finger print records of Thomas Jennings, a negro who is on trial for the murder of Clarence Hiller, Assistant State's Attorney Northup yesterday introduced in evidence photographs of the hand rail and ink drawings of the police records.

Hiller was shot dead in his house in Washington Heights on Sept. 19 last by a burglar, and Jennings was later arrested as a suspicious person and charged with the crime by the police.

Evidence of policemen, detectives, neighbors, and pawnbrokers, who swore that Jennings had bought and resold a revolver of the same caliber as that of the bullet which ended Hiller's life, had been offered by the prosecutor, Assistant State's Attorney Northup. Every shred of evidence was of a circumstantial nature, however, until the prosecutor brought forward his battery of photographers and finger print experts. Step by step he brought out the methods by which they had preserved the detail of finger prints found on the hand rail. Every admission was contested by W. G. Anderson, Jennings' attorney.

After admitting the photographs in evidence Judge Kavanagh adjourned court until this morning, when the real battle for the prisoner's life will be begun. The prosecutor announced he would submit the evidence of at least four experts.

CITY PHTHISIS SANITARIUM EMPLOYES UNDER MERIT LAW.

Corporation Counsel Rules Civil Service Governs—Holds Terminal Transfer Track Rights Forfeited.

Corporation Counsel Brundage ruled yesterday that all the employés of the projected municipal tuberculosis sanitarium must be under civil service.

In an opinion given to Harlow N. Higinbotham, president of the trustees of the institution, he held that while there is some doubt as to the sanitarium's coming within the provisions of the civil service act, the benefits arising from bringing it within the scope of the merit law will be such that the question should be answered in the affirmative.

Mr. Brundage compared the sanitarium with the public library in the extent to which the general powers of the municipal government control its trustees.

The corporation counsel also sent to Mayor Busse an opinion that the Terminal Transfer company has lost the right to possession of its tracks near Jefferson park. The mayor had received protests from residents of that neighborhood complaining that the railroad was attempting to revive these trackage rights. Mr. Brundage ruled that the transfer company forfeited its rights by its failure to elevate the tracks before July 31, 1901, as required by its franchise.

SERVANTS TO GET YERKES CASH

Judge Cutting Rules Out Codicil Repudiating Bequests to Six Employes.

Six servants formerly in the employ of the late Charles T. Yerkes will receive bequests ranging in amount from $2,000 to $5,000 as a result of the refusal of Judge Cutting in the Probate court to admit to probate a codicil in which Yerkes repudiated his gifts to the servants. The codicil was found after the will had been admitted to probate.

Among the servants was Aronld Held, former valet, who was bequeathed $5,000.

The codicil was rejected because, according to Attorney William Mannhardt, who represented the servants, no evidence was adduced showing that Yerkes was of sound mind when he signed it.

MICHIGAN FARM LAND SHOW GIFT

Wolverine State Boomers Plan Unique Method of Advertising Resources.

THRONGS WILL COME.

Business Organizations Will Send Excursions to "The Tribune" Exhibit.

Some visitor to THE TRIBUNE'S Land Show, which opens in the Coliseum two weeks from today, will go home the happy possessor of a farm in Michigan that will come to him free of cost. The farm is to be given by representatives of the state, who are coming to Chicago for the purpose of doing what they can to prove their claim that Michigan is as attractive for the prospective immigrant as the far west.

Great Fruit Growing Land.

The land to be given away is capable of raising the best quality of peaches and apples, in addition to being suitable for poultry or for various branches of general farming. The offer of a farm is in line with the general policy of progressiveness that is being followed by the representatives of Michigan.

Various commercial clubs, representing all of the choicest parts of the state, have jointed forces for the purpose of making exhibits showing the possibilities of the localities they represent. The exhibits will be from the apple districts, the peach belt, and the new localities where cheap land, rich in possibilities, is to be had at a nominal price. The Michigan exhibits will occupy an imposing amount of space, every inch of which is to be utilized for displaying high class products.

Special Excursions Planned.

Special excursions will carry large numbers of residents of the Michigan farming and orchard districts to the land show.

GET FILMS FOR LAND SHOW.

New Orleans, La., Nov. 4.—[Special.]—A moving picture man will visit the reclaimed lands at Raceland, Lockport, and at Beulah, La., to secure the pictures of the work of reclamation and of the crops that have been raised there for the purpose of using these films in connection with the Louisiana exhibit at the land show at Chicago to be given under the auspices of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. It is the intention of the Southern Louisiana Land Show association to give in connection with its exhibit and the moving picture illustrations thirty-two fifteen minute lectures about Louisiana and its resources.

ORDERS POLICE TO BE POLITE.

Capt. Gibbons Instructs His Men to Be Courteous to Pedestrians.

Capt. Gibbons of the central detail station at roll call yesterday instructed policemen in the downtown district to be polite and courteous to pedestrians.

"In protecting and guiding pedestrians through the busy thoroughfares," said the captain, "I want all the men to be courteous. I don't want the men to forget that, no matter what arises."

This instruction was intended especially for the benefit of the new men of the central detail.
